GOP in Open Revolt Against Taxes, Spending

Freeze Is Demand of 4-Man Bloc

Governor to Make Appeals Over TV

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Republican lawmakers revolted openly against Gov. Rockefeller's record-high tax and spending plan today, as Rockefeller prepared a big sales pitch on television.

The rebellion erupted Monday night in the Assembly, when the four-man delegation from the Rochester area demanded a freeze on budget spending and state income taxes.

Other Rumblings

There were ominous rumblings also from the Brooklyn and Syracuse-area contingents in both the Assembly and the Senate.

Acting Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, when informed of the Rochester uprising, said he had no comment.

There were these other developments in the swirling controversy over the Republican governor's fiscal program:

1. Rockefeller told a group of GOP county chairmen that he would make a series of television appeals for taxpayer support of his $2,041,000,000 budget and his request for 277 million in new taxes.

Deny Any Deal

2. Carlino and Democratic Minority Leader Anthony J. Travia denied on the Assembly floor that Rockefeller had made a deal for Democratic support of his tax plan in return for extra financial aid for New York City.

The rebellious Rochester bloc was led by Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard, a persistent critic of government spending.

The lawmakers issued a statement reporting their constituents were "particularly alarmed" over the year by year increase in state-aid spending.

Ask 'Courageous' Action

Calling for "courageous action," they urged the Legislature to freeze the budget at its current level—$1,800,000,000—and to collect income taxes on 1958 earnings at the same rate as last year.

Rockefeller has called for a 150 million increase, to be achieved by cutting personal exemptions, adding three brackets at the top of the tax scale and putting the tax on a withholding basis.

Besides Goddard, those who signed the statement were Assemblymen John J. Conway Jr., Paul B. Hanks Jr. and Thomas F. Riley.

Promise Plans for Cuts

On another economy front, four legislators from Brooklyn proposed to create a special commission to seek ways of cutting state spending without impairing vital state services. This faction is led by Sen. William T. Conklin.

The five-member Syracuse bloc, headed by Sen. John H. Hughes, promised to come up with a plan for specific budget cuts. It will be ready late in the week, Hughes reported.

Rockefeller, describing himself as "bloody but unbowed" by attacks on his fiscal plan, pressed ahead with his campaign to sell the program to the people.

The governor's office confirmed that a TV series was being prepared. However, details were not available yet.

Rockefeller disclosed his TV plan at a private dinner in the Executive Mansion for GOP chairmen and vice chairmen from 19 counties. He has arranged more such dinners in an attempt to win political leaders' support for his program.

Complaints Ease Off

One chairman told reporters: "If I had the face and his smile, I'd go on television, too."

It was learned that several chairmen told Rockefeller they had been deluged by protests against his tax plan. However, some said the volume of complaints had dropped sharply in the last few days.

Travia took the Assembly floor to denounce a report that New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner had made a tax deal with Rockefeller during the mayor's visit here last week to speak at the budget hearing.

"I can deny this categorically," Travia declared.

He said that the Democratic minority would hew to its plan to vote unanimously against any income-tax bill that proposed to cut personal exemptions.

Carlino, in seconding Travia's denial, said Rockefeller "would never engage in making a deal or compromising his position."

Rockefeller's budget, unveiled 10 days before Wagner's visit, proposes to give the Democratic-controlled city an additional 15 million dollars in state aid.

TO HAVE 94TH BIRTHDAY—Mrs. Alice Cutler Smith will observe her 94th birthday Wednesday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. William L. Rowe of Hurley Heights, with whom she resides. A native of Roxton, Quebec, Canada, she is the widow of Zebulon L. Smith, a railroad dispatcher. She was married August 24, 1886. Mrs. Phyllis Smith, her daughter, resides in Albany. A grandson, John F. Willey is a resident of Selkirk. Mrs. Smith has four great-grandchildren, Melinda and Jon Rowe of Hurley Heights and Karen Ann and Kathy Jean Willey of Selkirk. Her favorite hobbies are reading and watching television. (Freeman photo)

Action Is Pending On 2 Bridge Bills

Action on two bills pertinent to building the proposed Newburgh-Beacon Bridge is pending in Albany, it was learned today.

The span is to be part of an interstate highway between Port Jervis and the New York-Connecticut line, which is in early planning stages. Estimated cost of the road is $150,000,000. The bridge will cost some $40,000,000.

One of the bridge bills would keep it a toll-operated span until it is free of bonded indebtedness. The other would assure its continued operation by New York State.

Must Name Authority

Federal interstate highway regulations provide that bridges on the federally controlled roads must ultimately become toll free, and that the operating agent or authority must be designated in advance.

Preliminary planning of the interstate route which will cross Orange, Dutchess and Putnam counties and end at the Connecticut line near Danbury, was reported earlier in the week. It will be 70 miles long.

Route Outlined

The road will replace a section of U. S. Route 6, a winding, two-lane route in sections of the state. In Dutchess County it will cross Route 9 near Fishkill, and the Taconic State Parkway, seven miles east. Then it will swing into Putnam County near Ludingtonville.

Estimated cost of land taking for the interstate road is $30,000,000, Kurt S. Rauer, Poughkeepsie district manager of the State Department of Public Works, said.

Important Road

Engineers attach great importance to the proposed route, Rauer said, because it would become one of the few direct east-west roads in the area under the federal government's long-range highway construction program.

John S. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, is trying for a $12,500,000 allocation from federal highway funds for building of the bridge.

Booth Space Is Selling Fast for Lions Exposition

Booths for the approaching 12th annual Lions Club Exposition are being snapped up rapidly with additional stores and industries hopping on the bandwagon every day, it was reported today by Donald E. Briggs, chairman of the Exposition committee.

He said there is every indication that the 1959 Exposition will be the most successful yet.

Set April 7-11

If past attendance figures are any basis, there may be 20,000 people touring the drill shed at the State Armory on Manor Avenue April 7-11. All proceeds will be applied to Lions Club community service projects.

The following organizations have already signed up for this year's show: Montgomery Ward, Bernie Singer, Inc., James C. Poulin, John M. Ike Would Let Dulles Keep Post

Paris Session May Be Shifted to U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to feel that John Foster Dulles should stay on as secretary of state as long as he feels able to carry on and wants to do so.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican chief in the house, told newsmen about the President's view.

He said the matter of Dulles' condition was discussed briefly at the President's regular weekly meeting with GOP congressional leaders. Dulles is in Walter Reed Army Medical Center suffering from a recurrence of cancer.

Matter of Weeks

In response to a question, Halleck said at first there will be no firm determination for several days as to whether Dulles will be able to continue in the top State Department post. A moment later, after a whispered conversation with White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, Halleck amended that to a few weeks.

Halleck said that Eisenhower personally feels that so long as Dulles "is able and wants to carry on, the President of the United States will avail himself of his services."

Responding to other questions, Halleck said he was talking about Dulles staying on as secretary of state rather than in some advisory capacity.

Valuable Adviser, Too

But Halleck added that Dulles, so long as his condition permits, would be just as valuable as an adviser as he would be as secretary.

Keeping Dulles on the job would fit in with an apparently developing move to shift a foreign ministers meeting on the German

WEATHER SATELLITE LAUNCHED—The U. S. today launched the first of at least four meteorological satellites in a program to gain the first global picture of weather on earth. Reports from Cape Canaveral said the missile's behavior appeared to be perfect but that official word from Washington would not be known for about three hours on whether the effort had been a success. This is a cutaway drawing of the satellite. The experiment depends on two photocells which scan the earth's surface and cloud masses. The information is stored on a tape recorder, which will be "interrogated" during every orbit. The equipment is adapted to a 20-inch satellite shell. The sphere and all components weigh 21½ pounds. The principal parts are: (1) the photocell light shield. (2) The recorder. (3) Interrogation radio receiver. (4) Meteorological data transmitter. (5) Photocell. (6) Data electronics. (7) The tracking transmitter. (8) Mercury cell batteries. (U. S. Army photo from NEA Telephoto)

Chamber Banquet To Be March 11th, 'Space Age' Topic

The annual banquet of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will take place Wednesday, March 11, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The date was announced Monday by Richard M. Kalish, chairman of the banquet committee. Negotiations are underway to obtain an outstanding speaker on "The Space Age," a man familiar with rocket launchings, space probes and related subjects. His name and background will be released as soon as all arrangements have been completed.

All Three Rockets Fire Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Vanguard rocket—designed to put a weather eye in orbit about the earth—was launched here today. All three rocket stages fired successfully.

Ten minutes after the launching, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said all three rocket stages had fired and had performed smoothly.

Await Word on Orbit

Confirmation of a successful satellite orbit usually requires about two hours from the time of the liftoff.

The payload was a shiny 21½-pound sphere housing delicate instruments designed to report on the world's weather.

Behavior Appears Perfect

An announcement was expected from Washington in from two to three hours on whether this effort to put a sixth U. S. satellite on course had been a success.

Spurting a glowing trail of orange flame, the missile climbed steadily for some 10 seconds after the launching before knifing through a blanket of gray storm clouds.

The missile's behavior appeared to be perfect during the brief time that it was in sight.

Second Is 'Guiding Brain'

It had begun to rain lightly just before blast time, but this did not affect the launching.

If all went well, the first-stage rocket would burn out at an altitude of 38 miles 2½ minutes after launch.

The second stage—the guiding "brain" of Vanguard—then was to go into full action for a full two minutes boosting the payload's speed to 9,000 miles per hour.

After a coasting flight, the third stage would ignite pushing the satellite to the velocity needed for orbit.

Stubborn Fire Badly Damages Bolt Factory

Fire which broke out in the stockroom of Kirel, Inc., on East Chester Street Bypass Monday afternoon destroyed valuable stocks and heavily damaged the building and costly machinery.

No estimate of loss was immediately available but it was described as extensive.

Kirel manufactures a patented expansion bolt. The company has occupied the concrete-block building for the past year. The structure is 100 feet square.

About a third of the wooden slat roof was destroyed.

Lester Larick, head of Kirel, Inc., and owner of the building, said the fire apparently started from a short circuit in a telephone control box.

Mrs. Marguerite Grant a secretary, was sitting at her desk about 2 p. m., when she observed smoke through the glass of a door to the stockroom. She threw open the door and saw that one corner of the stockroom was blazing and sparks shooting up.

As she opened the door the smouldering mass burst into flame pouring heavy black smoke throughout the structure.

More than 20 employes were in the building at the time.

Larick told The Freeman he was very happy that everyone managed to escape from the burning structure without injury.

Flame zoomed through the building in a matter of seconds. Larick said it went up "very fast." He described it as an "awful hot fire."

Burglars Take Auto Parts Safe In Stolen Truck

A local burglary last night left police with the perplexing problem of how it was done as well as who did it.

An 800-pound safe with contents, some $300 in cash and checks, plus records and ledgers, was taken from Lynch Auto Parts, 39 St. James Street, in a truck stolen from a garage in the building.

Truck Is Found

The truck was found on Van Deusen Street, not far from the scene of the theft, but it lacked the safe.

Joseph Myers, merchants' watchman for the central business sector, notified police headquarters of the theft shortly after 9 p. m.

Entrance was gained through the breaking of a rear window. It was apparent police noted, that some multiple muscle, plus a plank found in the building were used in inching the safe on the truck.

Cash in the safe was estimated to be about $125. A nut-vending machine containing an estimated $3 in cash was broken open, and this minor effort, police think, hints at amateurism.

Cooperation Asked

Officers Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton, of the detective division are investigating. The safe is battleship gray, they said, and they suggest the cooperation of anyone who might have seen it on tour, or who might see it.

A police report, shortly after midnight, noted recovery of the truck. It is believed the theft was committed between 8 and 9 p. m.

The auto parts business is operated by LeRoy Cooper, and Alan Ducker.

Sentence Coming Thursday

Jury Takes Seven Hours on Decision

"Guilty of perjury in the second degree on both counts," was the verdict of the jury in the Edwin W. Ashby perjury trial.

Ashby, on leave from his position of Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors, heard the verdict of a three-woman and nine-man jury shortly before midnight Monday after the jury had deliberated over seven hours. He took the verdict calmly.

After the jury had been polled by Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue, Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, presiding justice, announced that sentence would be pronounced Thursday at 10 a. m. Meanwhile the $1,000 bail under which Ashby has been held since arraignment, was continued.

N. LeVan Haver, trial counsel for Ashby, reserved his rights to make motions directed to the verdict until Thursday.

Ask Instructions Twice

Twice after the case had been submitted to the jury after summations and charge of Justice Greenberg the jurors sought "further instructions" from the Court.

The jury had deliberated but a short time after returning from lunch when Justice Greenberg was summoned to give additional instructions on the question of recantation. The court's charge on recantation was read as was a portion of the testimony in regard to what Special prosecutor Tompkins had said to Ashby in regard to his story when he appeared before the grand jury.

The jurors also inquired whether a quorum had been present in the grand jury room when Ashby appeared on October 3, 27 and November 14. Justice Greenberg had charged that a person must recant promptly and before the grand jury knows that perjury has been committed.

The jurors inquired if the grand jury minutes might be taken to the jury room. Justice Greenberg informed the jurors the minutes would have to be examined in the court room.

Directs Jury to Return

Deliberations were continued until shortly after 6 o'clock when the jurors were taken out for dinner, returning at 7:30 p. m. At 10:38 Justice Greenberg sent word for the jury to return to the court room.

Asked if there was any further instruction the jurors might desire, the forelady, Miss Amelia M. Kitsos, asked additional information of "materiality" and Justice Greenberg read in charge in relation to materiality of testimony given by a witness and its relationship to first or second degree perjury. To constitute first degree perjury the false testimony must be material to the investigation while in second degree perjury the element of materiality is not necessary.

Justice Greenberg inquired whether there was a "reasonable probability" that an agreement might be arrived at and the foreman said there appeared to be every probability that a verdict could be arrived at and "we would like to continue."

Verdict Reached

At 11:37 p. m. word was sent from the jury room that an agreement had been reached.

Although near midnight there was a crowd of over 100 in the court room when the jury filed in and took its place in the jury box.

32-36 KHS Graduates Plan Reunion June 13 Weekend

Elaborate plans already are underway for a class reunion of all Kingston High School graduates 1932 to 1936 inclusive, it was announced today.

The reunion, regarded as potentially the largest ever held in the history of KHS, is set for the weekend of June 13 with a full program of activities being arranged for the graduates from these classes.

A cocktail party will start off the weekend program on Friday night, followed by a dinner and dance Saturday night. Reunion members will attend churches of their own faiths in a mass Sunday morning.

Many other activities, however, also are being arranged by a committee of chairmen from all participating classes including the following:

Betty Brennan Donnaruma, 1932; June McFadden Taiclet, 1933; Harold Baltz, 1934; Herbert Greenwald, 1935 and Ruth Abernathy Garraghan, 1936.

These other activities may include a tour of Kingston High School and if possible a tour of the city to acquaint KHS graduates, who have moved out of town, with the progress of the city since their departure.

The above listed chairmen are now in communication with two of the more successful alumni members of these classes to act as master of ceremonies and to give the group a short talk dur-

Names of 31 Scholarship Winners Added to Top 5

The names of 31 winners of Regents College Scholarships have been added to the top five listed in The Freeman on Monday.

A total of 36 scholarships have been awarded in Ulster County by the State Education Department of Albany.

Named five top winners are Bonnie J. Streifer, Kingston High School; Jerome E. Singer, Kingston High School; Martin A. Kramer, Ellenville High School; Stephen M. Zang, Kingston High School; and Larry L. Dawson, New Paltz Central High School.

Holders of these scholarships will be entitled to an annual stipend, depending on financial need, for each of four years of his college course while attending any college in the State of New York approved by the Regents for this purpose.

Other scholarship winners in Ulster County are:

Barbara J. Batten, Highland High School; Eugene F. Borcherdt, Kingston High School; Patricia A. Brucher, Highland High School; Eileen F. Cahill, Saugerties High School; Dianne E. Cartlidge, Onteora Central School; George L. Chilson, Kingston High School; John K. Cloonan, Kingston High School; William M. Craft, Kingston High School.

Burglars Take Auto Parts Safe In Stolen Truck

A local burglary last night left police with the perplexing problem of how it was done as well as who did it.

An 800-pound safe with contents, some $300 in cash and checks, plus records and ledgers, was taken from Lynch Auto Parts, 39 St. James Street, in a truck stolen from a garage in the building.

Truck Is Found

The truck was found on Van Deusen Street, not far from the scene of the theft, but it lacked the safe.

Joseph Myers, merchants' watchman for the central business sector, notified police headquarters of the theft shortly after 9 p. m.

Entrance was gained through the breaking of a rear window. It was apparent police noted, that some multiple muscle, plus a plank found in the building were used in inching the safe on the truck.

Cash in the safe was estimated to be about $125. A nut-vending machine containing an estimated $3 in cash was broken open, and this minor effort, police think, hints at amateurism.

Cooperation Asked

Officers Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton, of the detective division are investigating. The safe is battleship gray, they said, and they suggest the cooperation of anyone who might have seen it on tour, or who might see it.

A police report, shortly after midnight, noted recovery of the truck. It is believed the theft was committed between 8 and 9 p. m.

The auto parts business is operated by LeRoy Cooper, and Alan Ducker.

Sentence Coming Thursday

Jury Takes Seven Hours on Decision

"Guilty of perjury in the second degree on both counts," was the verdict of the jury in the Edwin W. Ashby perjury trial.

Ashby, on leave from his position of Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors, heard the verdict of a three-woman and nine-man jury shortly before midnight Monday after the jury had deliberated over seven hours. He took the verdict calmly.

After the jury had been polled by Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue, Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, presiding justice, announced that sentence would be pronounced Thursday at 10 a. m. Meanwhile the $1,000 bail under which Ashby has been held since arraignment, was continued.

N. LeVan Haver, trial counsel for Ashby, reserved his rights to make motions directed to the verdict until Thursday.

Ask Instructions Twice

Twice after the case had been submitted to the jury after summations and charge of Justice Greenberg the jurors sought "further instructions" from the Court.

The jury had deliberated but a short time after returning from lunch when Justice Greenberg was summoned to give additional instructions on the question of recantation. The court's charge on recantation was read as was a portion of the testimony in regard to what Special prosecutor Tompkins had said to Ashby in regard to his story when he appeared before the grand jury.

The jurors also inquired whether a quorum had been present in the grand jury room when Ashby appeared on October 3, 27 and November 14. Justice Greenberg had charged that a person must recant promptly and before the grand jury knows that perjury has been committed.

The jurors inquired if the grand jury minutes might be taken to the jury room. Justice Greenberg informed the jurors the minutes would have to be examined in the court room.

Directs Jury to Return

Deliberations were continued until shortly after 6 o'clock when the jurors were taken out for dinner, returning at 7:30 p. m. At 10:38 Justice Greenberg sent word for the jury to return to the court room.

Asked if there was any further instruction the jurors might desire, the forelady, Miss Amelia M. Kitsos, asked additional information of "materiality" and Justice Greenberg read in charge in relation to materiality of testimony given by a witness and its relationship to first or second degree perjury. To constitute first degree perjury the false testimony must be material to the investigation while in second degree perjury the element of materiality is not necessary.

Justice Greenberg inquired whether there was a "reasonable probability" that an agreement might be arrived at and the foreman said there appeared to be every probability that a verdict could be arrived at and "we would like to continue."

Verdict Reached

At 11:37 p. m. word was sent from the jury room that an agreement had been reached.

Although near midnight there was a crowd of over 100 in the court room when the jury filed in and took its place in the jury box.

32-36 KHS Graduates Plan Reunion June 13 Weekend

Elaborate plans already are underway for a class reunion of all Kingston High School graduates 1932 to 1936 inclusive, it was announced today.

The reunion, regarded as potentially the largest ever held in the history of KHS, is set for the weekend of June 13 with a full program of activities being arranged for the graduates from these classes.

A cocktail party will start off the weekend program on Friday night, followed by a dinner and dance Saturday night. Reunion members will attend churches of their own faiths in a mass Sunday morning.

Many other activities, however, also are being arranged by a committee of chairmen from all participating classes including the following:

Betty Brennan Donnaruma, 1932; June McFadden Taiclet, 1933; Harold Baltz, 1934; Herbert Greenwald, 1935 and Ruth Abernathy Garraghan, 1936.

These other activities may include a tour of Kingston High School and if possible a tour of the city to acquaint KHS graduates, who have moved out of town, with the progress of the city since their departure.

The above listed chairmen are now in communication with two of the more successful alumni members of these classes to act as master of ceremonies and to give the group a short talk dur-

Zena Boys Are Reported Missing

Two boys, one 12, the other 18, of Zena, were reported missing at 2 p. m. Monday.

Kingston state police identified them as Nelson Wiltsie, 12, four feet five inches tall, and weighing 70 pounds, wearing a blue jacket and gray hood, and Bruce Van Kleeck, 18, five feet four inch tall, weighing 105 pounds, wearing dungarees.

Troopers reported that about the same time a 1955 sedan was stolen from outside the Sea Horse, a tavern, in Woodstock.

The car, owned by Richard Talleur of Sawkill, was recovered by Horsehead state police on the other side of Elmira.

Four Lose Lives In Crash of Blimp

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A Navy blimp crashed and burned in a swamp near here early today killing four of the seven crew members. Three were injured.

Rescuers using farm tractors brought the injured to a nearby highway. The men, who were burned but apparently not critically, were brought to a Washington hospital.

Nothing Much Left

The crash occurred between 2 and 2:30 a.m. in a swamp about 1½ miles north of the crossroads community of Pinetown, about 16 miles northeast of here.

An ambulance driver said the three injured either jumped or were thrown clear of the blimp. The four who died were trapped inside.

The accident was described as rare by officers of Airship Squadron 2 at Glynco, which was ferrying the blimp and another to the Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

The officers said the blimp was in radio contact with the other, separated by only some five miles, but gave no word of any trouble.

Names Withheld

This led to the belief the blimp was flying at cruising speed and went directly to the ground, a mishap almost unheard of in that type of craft.

Ruptured gasoline tanks caused the fire.

Names of the dead—two officers and two enlisted men—will be released after next of kin have been notified.

The injured were listed as Lt. Linford May, Oswego, Ore.; Roy Lyon, Ferndale, Mich.; and Orville L. Moore, McAllister, Okla. The latter two are enlisted men.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy, shown us during our recent bereavement in the death of our brother, Edward Healey.

Murrow to Leave Network for Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward R. Murrow will take a year's leave of absence from the Columbia Broadcasting System effective July 1.

He said in a letter to CBS President Frank Stanton that his contract contains a provision for leave, and said his only reason for seeking it is to take time for travel and reflection. Stanton replied that the network was happy to grant the leave and looked forward to his return.

Murrow's move followed reports of strained relations between him and CBS officials. It was reported that his leave has nothing to do with his health nor with the controversy that followed a recent radio program on prostitution.

Murrow, 50, has been with CBS since 1935.

While on leave Murrow will continue his program, "Small World," filmed Sunday evening TV series of international conversations, on a reduced basis.

He will discontinue his documentaries, his nightly radio program of news and commentary, and his weekly television visits to celebrities, "Person to Person."

Take $60,000 in Jewels

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men posing as FBI agents invaded international financier Alexander Guterma's hotel suite Monday night, tied up his wife and 14-year-old daughter, and escaped with $60,000 in jewels.

A taxicab driver, who had picked up two men with a small case near the hotel, today identified a police photograph as a picture of one of the men. The driver said a second picture in the police files appeared to be that of the other man. Police said the pictures shown to the driver were of men known to have worked together in robberies. The two men left the cab a few blocks from the hotel.

Guterma, 44, free on bail on charges of securities law violations, was not in the suite at the time. Earlier this week, Guterma yielded control of his vast industrial empire to Hal Roach Jr.

Two Held as AWOLs

Harold R. Waterman Jr., 19, of 61 German Street, and James Elias Kilpatrick, 18, of 107 Vale Street, Beckley, W. Va., were arrested yesterday on charges of being absent without leave from the U. S. Army. They were picked up on Broadway near Van Buren Street by Officer Thomas Kearney and held to await the arrival of military authorities from Albany.

Two Women Slain

NEW YORK (AP) — Two women were shot to death in a Madison Avenue office today by a rifle-wielding man described as a former employe who had been discharged.

Names of the women, one a blonde, the other a brunette, were not learned immediately.

Police took into custody Ponell Johnson, 27, a Negro, of The Bronx.

There are more than 130 Air National Guard bases in the United States.

Off-Track Bets Rate Long-Shot By Albany Views

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner's plan for legalizing off-track bets on the horses rated as a long shot today at the Capitol.

Assembly Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino declared: "If any bill is going to be passed, we'll write it—and it won't give New York City such a big share."

He referred to the Wagner administration bill that would earmark most of the revenue for New York City until Jan. 1, 1951.

The Republican leaders hopped on the bill shortly after it was introduced Monday night.

Senate Leader Walter J. Mahoney noted that Wagner said he would seek a boost in the city sales tax if the off-track betting plan fell through.

Mahoney said both plans were "essentially obnoxious" and said he hoped Wagner had an alternative program.

One came quickly from Abe Stark, New York City council president, who said he had not consulted Wagner on it.

If the off-track plan fails, Stark said, new taxes should be imposed on stock transfers, savings deposits and insurance premiums.

Conservative Upstate Republicans, who frown on gambling, are expected to give the off-track plan harsh treatment.

Typical was the view of Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard of Rochester, who said his constituents would be against it.

"It would only encourage more people to gamble," he asserted, "and that would increase the welfare rolls."

Carlino said the Wagner bill's percentages of the off-track take had been juggled so many times it was "sort of an Alice in Wonderland scenario."

The comment on a GOP version of a bill was taken to mean that the Republican majorities might consider a plan with a more equal split of revenue.

Off track betting would be taxed in the same manner as pari-mutuel wagering at the tracks. Fifteen per cent of the handle would be set aside as a pool.

Under the Wagner plan, this split would apply until the city took in 75 million dollars: 13-15ths of the revenue to the city and 1-15th each to the state and the track involved.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Both a congressional committee and a group of Cabinet officials are narrowing in today on two of the big questions of the hour:

Is the U.S. economy growing as fast as it should in view of the Russian spurt: Can we speed up our growth and shrink the number of the jobless without paying the price of inflation?

After its recession breather our economy is back again on the business recovery road.

Sedate Boost

The economy has been growing at a sedate average rate of 2 per cent a year. The Russians assert that their economy is growing at a rate of 7 to 8 per cent a year. They still have a long way to go before catching up with us, but some economists feel that Americans should speed up their economic growth rate to stay well in front.

The government is being urged to accomplish this through various pump priming schemes and tax incentives.

Inflation Influence

Monetary or credit inflation has the habit of translating itself into a rising cost of living.

This nullifies for everyone part of the benefits of increased economic activity and higher employment.

A few advocates of faster growth through use of stimulants argue that inflated prices could be warded off with government controls. The unpopularity of such controls in peacetime is widespread, however.

The Senate-House Economic Committee is about to start a broad study of all the above problems.

President Eisenhower's group, headed by Vice President Nixon, is expected to concentrate largely on the danger of more inflation.

The President himself has on several occasions urged management to show restraint in raising prices and has called on labor for like restraint in demanding higher wage scales.

Urges Balance

He also urges Congress to get the budget balanced to ward off another embarrassing Treasury deficit.

The congressional study proposes to look into the manner in which prices, wages, production and employment react on each other and set the pattern of economic growth or stagnation.

It also proposes to study the effect on prices, jobs and output of government spending and taxation, which Congress is supposed to control.

The growth in our economy is sought for several reasons other than keeping up with the Russians.

One is to take care of a growing population that needs jobs. Another is to build up spendable incomes so that consumers can buy more things.

VFW Loyalty Day Committee Has Progress Report

Reports of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW Loyalty Day committee's progress were heard at a committee meeting at VFW Hall Monday night.

Journal Chairman Ignazio Bosco reported that nearly $400 has been realized in the first phase of the drive for funds to support the annual patriotic celebration May 2 in Saugerties.

Reports Incomplete

Bosco noted that reports are far from complete and in some cases solicitors have not made a report. Fund raising operations will continue into March and the chairman urged VFW members to assist in anyway possible.

Reporting on parade arrangements, Mrs. Helen Gardner, parade marshal noted that the Saugerties Central School band will not be able to participate. It had been hoped that the band would be ready to parade in their new uniforms by May, but a check revealed that too many bandsmen were committed to play with other local corps.

School authorities felt they would rather postpone their entry until next year when more definite plans could be made.

Bands to participate will be Saugerties Drum Corps, Father Harty Drum Corps, Kingston VFW Corps, and Catskill VFW Corps and Stewart Air Force Band.

1,300 Flags Ready

Mrs. Gardner also noted that a stock of 1,300 American flags was ready for the school children who traditionally march in the parade.

Essay Chairman Mrs. Marie Sheehan reported that letters to all public and parochial school authorities giving complete information on the essay contest were in the mail. Judges have not been named.

Topic for this year's essay is "Loyalty to the Ideals of Our Forefathers." She said she hopes to see more entries from high school pupils and more boy entries than in previous years.

Essays will be received until March 2 and must be turned in to the teachers.

At a suggestion of committee secretary Miss Marie M. McCutcheon, the group decided to invite all past post commanders, auxiliary presidents and commanders of the Dads of Foreign Service Vets to the April 29 awards banquet at VFW Hall.

Guests Invited

Other honored guests will include Department Commander Basil Valetta of Solvay, guest speaker; state legislative officer Edward Papantonio; District Commander Joseph Philipp, and County Council Commander Richard Gardner of Barclay Heights.

Auxiliary Department President Mrs. Vivian Murphy of Staten Island and the district president Mrs. Frances Joren will also be among the honored guests.

Two City School Secretaries Back From Conference

Two secretaries from the Kingston city schools attended the 1959 Regional Conference of the National Association of Educational Secretaries held February 13-15 in Atlantic City. The two secretaries who attended were Mrs. Rosemary Jones and Mrs. Ann B. Smith. Some of the speakers at the various sessions included Dr. Allen H. Wetter, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia; Dr. Henry M. Halsted, III, a member of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Educational Association; Dr. William J. Hamilton, a dean of the Peirce School of Business Administration in Philadelphia; and Dr. William Stover, Superintendent of Schools in Linwood, N. J. This year the National Association of Educational Secretaries is celebrating its 25th year. One of its primary goals is the attaining of professional status for the educational secretary.

A local chapter, known as the Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area, has been formed. The newly elected officers are Mrs. Rosemary Jones, president; Mrs. Constance Popp, vice-president; Mrs. Mirian Proctor, treasurer; Miss Judith Clark, corresponding secretary; Miss Barbara Brennan, recording secretary and Miss Elizabeth Schmidt, historian. This organization is pledged to serve the community, school and administration through the service rendered by the educational secretary in her particular job. It encourages a program of self-improvement and exchange of idea.

Stubborn Fire

Harry Lowe of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 and a volunteer, Nick Valenzano, observed the heavy column of smoke from the firehouse. A third man was left at the station to notify volunteers as to the location of the fire, Chief Lowe and Valenzano proceeding to the scene with two pumpers.

They hitched up the hose to a hydrant at the scene—opposite St. Philomena's Church.

Some 35 volunteers were soon at the scene and the fire was brought under control.

Praises Employes

Larick praised his employes, saying that they conducted themselves cooly and in a spirit of cooperation which saved a considerable quantity of costly machinery.

Some of the machinery—special types of milling and screwing machines and lathes—were moved to the end of the structure opposite the flames. Even so, they reportedly were damaged to some extent by water and heat.

Larick was reached by telephone at the plant this morning.

Mrs. Grant told The Freeman that everything was a "soggy, wet, dirty mess" and that water was dripping from the roof.

Larick said that large consignments of the expansion bolt manufactured by Kirel, Inc., are for the government. He said it is considered to be the "best expansion bolt in the world."

U-A Group Will Install Officers Wednesday Night

The Ulster-Albany Avenue Businessmen's Association will hold a supper meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Rainbow Dugout dining room on Route 9W.

Retiring President Ted Musialkiewicz said new officers would be installed at the meeting.

On the agenda is a discussion of by-laws revisions.

Referendum Required

3 Land Owners Seek Exclusion For Saugerties

A petition for exclusion from the territorial limits of the Village of Saugerties of three properties in Windemere Heights development was accepted by the Village Board at its Monday night meeting in the trustee rooms.

The total village assessed valuation of the properties owned by Robert Schnell, Victor Lefkowitz and Jesse Yager is $24,300. All three are located partially in the village and in the Town of Saugerties. The greater part of the Windemere development is in the Town of Saugerties. The three properties in question are situated on the town-village boundary.

Seeks Referendum

Attorney Morris Rosenblum, representing the three petitioners presented the proposal to the board and asked that a village referendum be held to authorize the exclusion of the properties from the corporate limits of the village.

Mayor George P. Holmes set a special board meeting for this evening to discuss the proposal and the possibility of holding the referendum at the village elections scheduled Tuesday, March 17.

Hours for the village elections was set for 12 noon to 9 p. m. to be held in the village clerk's office in Saugerties Municipal Building. Voting machines will be used. Inspectors appointed are Edwin Schoonmaker, chairman; George Minard Van Valkenburg, and John Hennegan. Machine tenders will be Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek and Kenneth Brown.

Boy Scouts Attend

A delegation of Saugerties District Boy Scouts and Explorers headed by Carl Pihala, designated as Boy Scout mayor, attended the meeting as observers.

Village Clerk Ernest Ackert read a communication addressed to Village Attorney Louis P. Francello from the Post Office Department answering a request from the village to use part of the sidewalk in front of Saugerties Post Office to widen Main Street. The village sought to widen Main Street at this point between Market and West Bridge Streets to facilitate the use of the street for two-way traffic. The street is presently a one-way street traveling east.

Has No Objection

The letter indicated that the sidewalk and curb is outside government property limits. The letter stated that the Post Office Department was not concerned with the width of the sidewalk except if any adjustment would interfere with post office activities. The board approved the hiring of Jack Pakanen, local surveyor to make a survey of the actual width of the street to determine the amount needed to permit two-way traffic.

Henry S. Hartley, local funeral director, submitted the original petition seeking opening of the street to two-way traffic.

Ackert also read a letter from Saugerties Board of Education advising that the board would continue to contribute 75 per cent of the expense of maintaining the Village of Saugerties Public Library. The renewal period was for three years beginning June 1.

The board approved a request from Washington Hook and Ladder Company for permission to hold a bazaar the week of June 9 to 13 at a location to be determined at a later date. Merlin Snyder of the Hooks made the request at the meeting.

The board approved membership of Kenneth Blundell in R. A. Snyder Fire Company.

Charged With Exposure

Vincent Nardi, 28, of 75 Henry Street, was arrested last night by Officers Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton of the detective diviision on a charge of dealing with alleged exposure of person. City Judge Aaron E. Klein today put the case over until Wednesday to permit him time to obtain counsel. The arrest followed a complaint from a resident of the uptown area.

Zena Boys Are Reported Missing

Two boys, one 12, the other 18, of Zena, were reported missing at 2 p. m. Monday.

Kingston state police identified them as Nelson Wiltsie, 12, four feet five inches tall, and weighing 70 pounds, wearing a blue jacket and gray hood, and Bruce Van Kleeck, 18, five feet four inch tall, weighing 105 pounds, wearing dungarees.

Troopers reported that about the same time a 1955 sedan was stolen from outside the Sea Horse, a tavern, in Woodstock.

The car, owned by Richard Talleur of Sawkill, was recovered by Horsehead state police on the other side of Elmira.

Four Lose Lives In Crash of Blimp

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A Navy blimp crashed and burned in a swamp near here early today killing four of the seven crew members. Three were injured.

Rescuers using farm tractors brought the injured to a nearby highway. The men, who were burned but apparently not critically, were brought to a Washington hospital.

Nothing Much Left

The crash occurred between 2 and 2:30 a.m. in a swamp about 1½ miles north of the crossroads community of Pinetown, about 16 miles northeast of here.

An ambulance driver said the three injured either jumped or were thrown clear of the blimp. The four who died were trapped inside.

The accident wa described as rare by officers of Airship Squadron 2 at Glynco, which was ferrying the blimp and another to the Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

The officers said the blimp was in radio contact with the other, separated by only some five miles, but gave no word of any trouble.

Names Withheld

This led to the belief the blimp was flying at cruising speed and went directly to the ground, a mishap almost unheard of in that type of craft.

Ruptured gasoline tanks caused the fire.

Names of the dead—two officers and two enlisted men—will be released after next of kin have been notified.

The injured were listed as Lt. Linford May, Oswego, Ore.; Roy Lyon, Ferndale, Mich.; and Orville L. Moore, McAllister, Okla. The latter two are enlisted men.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy, shown us during our recent bereavement in the death of our brother, Edward Healey.

Murrow to Leave Network for Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward R. Murrow will take a year's leave of absence from the Columbia Broadcasting System effective July 1.

He said in a letter to CBS President Frank Stanton that his contract contains a provision for leave, and said his only reason for seeking it is to take time for travel and reflection. Stanton replied that the network was happy to grant the leave and looked forward to his return.

Murrow's move followed reports of strained relations between him and CBS officials. It was reported that his leave has nothing to do with his health nor with the controversy that followed a recent radio program on prostitution.

Murrow, 50, has been with CBS since 1935.

While on leave Murrow will continue his program, "Small World," filmed Sunday evening TV series of international conversations, on a reduced basis.

He will discontinue his documentaries, his nightly radio program of news and commentary, and his weekly television visits to celebrities, "Person to Person."

Take $60,000 in Jewels

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men posing as FBI agents invaded international financier Alexander Guterma's hotel suite Monday night, tied up his wife and 14-year-old daughter, and escaped with $60,000 in jewels.

A taxicab driver, who had picked up two men with a small case near the hotel, today identified a police photograph as a picture of one of the men. The driver said a second picture in the police files appeared to be that of the other man. Police said the pictures shown to the driver were of men known to have worked together in robberies. The two men left the cab a few blocks from the hotel.

Guterma, 44, free on bail on charges of securities law violations, was not in the suite at the time. Earlier this week, Guterma yielded control of his vast industrial empire to Hal Roach Jr.

Two Held as AWOLs

Harold R. Waterman Jr., 19, of 61 German Street, and James Elias Kilpatrick, 18, of 107 Vale Street, Beckley, W. Va., were arrested yesterday on charges of being absent without leave from the U. S. Army. They were picked up on Broadway near Van Buren Street by Officer Thomas Kearney and held to await the arrival of military authorities from Albany.

Off-Track Bets Rate Long-Shot By Albany Views

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner's plan for legalizing off-track bets on the horses rated as a long shot today at the Capitol.

Assembly Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino declared: "If any bill is going to be passed, we'll write it—and it won't give New York City such a big share."

He referred to the Wagner administration bill that would earmark most of the revenue for New York City until Jan. 1, 1951.

The Republican leaders hopped on the bill shortly after it was introduced Monday night.

Senate Leader Walter J. Mahoney noted that Wagner said he would seek a boost in the city sales tax if the off-track betting plan fell through.

Mahoney said both plans were "essentially obnoxious" and said he hoped Wagner had an alternative program.

One came quickly from Abe Stark, New York City council president, who said he had not consulted Wagner on it.

If the off-track plan fails, Stark said, new taxes should be imposed on stock transfers, savings deposits and insurance premiums.

Conservative Upstate Republicans, who frown on gambling, are expected to give the off-track plan harsh treatment.

Typical was the view of Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard of Rochester, who said his constituents would be against it.

"It would only encourage more people to gamble," he asserted, "and that would increase the welfare rolls."

Carlino said the Wagner bill's percentages of the off-track take had been juggled so many times it was "sort of an Alice in Wonderland scenario."

The comment on a GOP version of a bill was taken to mean that the Republican majorities might consider a plan with a more equal split of revenue.

Off track betting would be taxed in the same manner as pari-mutuel wagering at the tracks. Fifteen per cent of the handle would be set aside as a pool.

Under the Wagner plan, this split would apply until the city took in 75 million dollars: 13-15ths of the revenue to the city and 1-15th each to the state and the track involved.

Draft Boards Induct Nine Men From Area

Local draft boards 18 (city) and 19 (county) today announced induction Feb. 12 of nine young men into the U. S. Army.

Three inducted by the city board were: John R. Celuch, 70 O'Neil Street; David L. Madison, 159 Washington Avenue, and Antonio G. Spongia, 214 Hasbrouck Avenue.

The six county board inductees were: Jiri Chaloupka, 2513 St. Louis Avenue, Chicago; Clyde C. Knauret, Washington Avenue, Saugerties; Floyd D. Mickie, Malden-on-Hudson; Robert E. VanKuren, Tillson; Earl F. Brown, Tillson, and John I. McCarthy, Trailer Haven, Kingston.

All were sent to the U. S. Army reception center, Ft. Dix, N. J.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Both a congressional committee and a group of Cabinet officials are narrowing in today on two of the big questions of the hour:

Is the U.S. economy growing as fast as it should in view of the Russian spurt: Can we speed up our growth and shrink the number of the jobless without paying the price of inflation?

After its recession breather our economy is back again on the business recovery road.

Sedate Boost

The economy has been growing at a sedate average rate of 2 per cent a year. The Russians assert that their economy is growing at a rate of 7 to 8 per cent a year. They still have a long way to go before catching up with us, but some economists feel that Americans should speed up their economic growth rate to stay well in front.

The government is being urged to accomplish this through various pump priming schemes and tax incentives.

Inflation Influence

Monetary or credit inflation has the habit of translating itself into a rising cost of living.

This nullifies for everyone part of the benefits of increased economic activity and higher employment.

A few advocates of faster growth through use of stimulants argue that inflated prices could be warded off with government controls. The unpopularity of such controls in peacetime is widespread, however.

The Senate-House Economic Committee is about to start a broad study of all the above problems.

President Eisenhower's group, headed by Vice President Nixon, is expected to concentrate largely on the danger of more inflation.

The President himself has on several occasions urged management to show restraint in raising prices and has called on labor for like restraint in demanding higher wage scales.

Urges Balance

He also urges Congress to get the budget balanced to ward off another embarrassing Treasury deficit.

The congressional study proposes to look into the manner in which prices, wages, production and employment react on each other and set the pattern of economic growth or stagnation.

It also proposes to study the effect on prices, jobs and output of government spending and taxation, which Congress is supposed to control.

The growth in our economy is sought for several reasons other than keeping up with the Russians.

One is to take care of a growing population that needs jobs. Another is to build up spendable incomes so that consumers can buy more things.

VFW Loyalty Day Committee Has Progress Report

Reports of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW Loyalty Day committee's progress were heard at a committee meeting at VFW Hall Monday night.

Journal Chairman Ignazio Bosco reported that nearly $400 has been realized in the first phase of the drive for funds to support the annual patriotic celebration May 2 in Saugerties.

Reports Incomplete

Bosco noted that reports are far from complete and in some cases solicitors have not made a report. Fund raising operations will continue into March and the chairman urged VFW members to assist in anyway possible.

Reporting on parade arrangements, Mrs. Helen Gardner, parade marshal noted that the Saugerties Central School band will not be able to participate. It had been hoped that the band would be ready to parade in their new uniforms by May, but a check revealed that too many bandsmen were committed to play with other local corps.

School authorities felt they would rather postpone their entry until next year when more definite plans could be made.

Bands to participate will be Saugerties Drum Corps, Father Harty Drum Corps, Kingston VFW Corps, and Catskill VFW Corps and Stewart Air Force Band.

1,300 Flags Ready

Mrs. Gardner also noted that a stock of 1,300 American flags was ready for the school children who traditionally march in the parade.

Essay Chairman Mrs. Marie Sheehan reported that letters to all public and parochial school authorities giving complete information on the essay contest were in the mail. Judges have not been named.

Topic for this year's essay is "Loyalty to the Ideals of Our Forefathers." She said she hopes to see more entries from high school pupils and more boy entries than in previous years.

Essays will be received until March 2 and must be turned in to the teachers.

At a suggestion of committee secretary Miss Marie M. McCutcheon, the group decided to invite all past post commanders, auxiliary presidents and commanders of the Dads of Foreign Service Vets to the April 29 awards banquet at VFW Hall.

Guests Invited

Other honored guests will include Department Commander Basil Valetta of Solvay, guest speaker; state legislative officer Edward Papantonio; District Commander Joseph Philipp, and County Council Commander Richard Gardner of Barclay Heights.

Auxiliary Department President Mrs. Vivian Murphy of Staten Island and the district president Mrs. Frances Joren will also be among the honored guests.

Two City School Secretaries Back From Conference

Two secretaries from the Kingston city schools attended the 1959 Regional Conference of the National Association of Educational Secretaries held February 13-15 in Atlantic City. The two secretaries who attended were Mrs. Rosemary Jones and Mrs. Ann B. Smith. Some of the speakers at the various sessions included Dr. Allen H. Wetter, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia; Dr. Henry M. Halsted, III, a member of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Educational Association; Dr. William J. Hamilton, a dean of the Peirce School of Business Administration in Philadelphia; and Dr. William Stover, Superintendent of Schools in Linwood, N. J. This year the National Association of Educational Secretaries is celebrating its 25th year. One of its primary goals is the attaining of professional status for the educational secretary.

A local chapter, known as the Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area, has been formed. The newly elected officers are Mrs. Rosemary Jones, president; Mrs. Constance Popp, vice-president; Mrs. Mirian Proctor, treasurer; Miss Judith Clark, corresponding secretary; Miss Barbara Brennan, recording secretary and Miss Elizabeth Schmidt, historian. This organization is pledged to serve the community, school and administration through the service rendered by the educational secretary in her particular job. It encourages a program of self-improvement and exchange of idea.

Stubborn Fire

Harry Lowe of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 and a volunteer, Nick Valenzano, observed the heavy column of smoke from the firehouse. A third man was left at the station to notify volunteers as to the location of the fire, Chief Lowe and Valenzano proceeding to the scene with two pumpers.

They hitched up the hose to a hydrant at the scene—opposite St. Philomena's Church.

Some 35 volunteers were soon at the scene and the fire was brought under control.

Praises Employes

Larick praised his employes, saying that they conducted themselves cooly and in a spirit of cooperation which saved a considerable quantity of costly machinery.

Some of the machinery—special types of milling and screwing machines and lathes—were moved to the end of the structure opposite the flames. Even so, they reportedly were damaged to some extent by water and heat.

Larick was reached by telephone at the plant this morning.

Mrs. Grant told The Freeman that everything was a "soggy, wet, dirty mess" and that water was dripping from the roof.

Larick said that large consignments of the expansion bolt manufactured by Kirel, Inc., are for the government. He said it is considered to be the "best expansion bolt in the world."

U-A Group Will Install Officers Wednesday Night

The Ulster-Albany Avenue Businessmen's Association will hold a supper meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Rainbow Dugout dining room on Route 9W.

Retiring President Ted Musialkiewicz said new officers would be installed at the meeting.

On the agenda is a discussion of by-laws revisions.

Referendum Required

3 Land Owners Seek Exclusion For Saugerties

A petition for exclusion from the territorial limits of the Village of Saugerties of three properties in Windemere Heights development was accepted by the Village Board at its Monday night meeting in the trustee rooms.

The total village assessed valuation of the properties owned by Robert Schnell, Victor Lefkowitz and Jesse Yager is $24,300. All three are located partially in the village and in the Town of Saugerties. The greater part of the Windemere development is in the Town of Saugerties. The three properties in question are situated on the town-village boundary.

Seeks Referendum

Attorney Morris Rosenblum, representing the three petitioners presented the proposal to the board and asked that a village referendum be held to authorize the exclusion of the properties from the corporate limits of the village.

Mayor George P. Holmes set a special board meeting for this evening to discuss the proposal and the possibility of holding the referendum at the village elections scheduled Tuesday, March 17.

Hours for the village elections was set for 12 noon to 9 p. m. to be held in the village clerk's office in Saugerties Municipal Building. Voting machines will be used. Inspectors appointed are Edwin Schoonmaker, chairman; George Minard Van Valkenburg, and John Hennegan. Machine tenders will be Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek and Kenneth Brown.

Boy Scouts Attend

A delegation of Saugerties District Boy Scouts and Explorers headed by Carl Pihala, designated as Boy Scout mayor, attended the meeting as observers.

Village Clerk Ernest Ackert read a communication addressed to Village Attorney Louis P. Francello from the Post Office Department answering a request from the village to use part of the sidewalk in front of Saugerties Post Office to widen Main Street. The village sought to widen Main Street at this point between Market and West Bridge Streets to facilitate the use of the street for two-way traffic. The street is presently a one-way street traveling east.

Has No Objection

The letter indicated that the sidewalk and curb is outside government property limits. The letter stated that the Post Office Department was not concerned with the width of the sidewalk except if any adjustment would interfere with post office activities. The board approved the hiring of Jack Pakanen, local surveyor to make a survey of the actual width of the street to determine the amount needed to permit two-way traffic.

Henry S. Hartley, local funeral director, submitted the original petition seeking opening of the street to two-way traffic.

Ackert also read a letter from Saugerties Board of Education advising that the board would continue to contribute 75 per cent of the expense of maintaining the Village of Saugerties Public Library. The renewal period was for three years beginning June 1.

The board approved a request from Washington Hook and Ladder Company for permission to hold a bazaar the week of June 9 to 13 at a location to be determined at a later date. Merlin Snyder of the Hooks made the request at the meeting.

The board approved membership of Kenneth Blundell in R. A. Snyder Fire Company.

ANNUAL HEART FUND LUNCHEON — Attending the annual Heart Fund luncheon held Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel are seated, l-r, Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president of Ulster County TB and Health Association; Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, Heart Chapter chairman, and Dr. Irving Klein of New York City, chairman of the New York Heart Assembly committee on rehabilitation. Standing are, l-r, the Rev. Martin P. Dienst, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church who gave the benediction; Dr. Irving J. Josephson, member of Heart Chapter medical advisory board and president of the Ulster County Medical Society; Dr. Lewis H. Bronstein, guest speaker and William S. Keyser, heart fund chairman. (Freeman photo)

Rehabilitation of Cardiac Is Topic of Heart Chapter

"It is the responsibility of the entire community to help in "returning the Cardiac to the Community as an Asset," was the challenge to Heart Chapter members by Dr. Lewis H. Bronstein, the outstanding physician of New York City, who spoke to those in attendance at the annual Heart Fund luncheon, held Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Dr. Irving J. Josephson, president of the Ulster County Medical Society, in introducing the speaker said, "There are one million new cardiacs in the country each year and with the life expectancy of these folks constantly being evaluated upward, the problem of placing them productively is greatly increased. No longer are most heart victims resigned to spending the rest of his life in a rocking chair. The majority of cardiac patients can work productively and profitably and without harm to themselves or to others. The success in keeping such an employe at work depends on proper medical evaluation, proper job placement and continuous medical supervision."

Work Evaluation Unit

In discussing his vast experience with the development of cardiac work evaluation unit, Dr. Bronstein cited experiences and statistics from studies conducted with Dr. Leonard J. Goldwater at Bellevue Hospital. He said, "in the past and particularly before 1941 the cardiac returned to the community as someone to be helped, someone to be pitied, and someone for whom something had to be done." "We know now," he continued, "that most of the patients with heart disease can return to their community, their family and can be an asset to both. Approaching the problem of putting the cardiac - or other handicapped - back into a community, we must have a multiprased approach. Unless we do so we will fail."

In continuing his discussion the doctor considered the question of why don't cardiacs return to work or take their place in the community? "A very small proportion do not return to work," he said, "because of the [illegible] problem. Today —with the various advances in [illegible], many children born with bad hearts can now have these conditions corrected and return to the community to pursue practically a normal life. We know now also that there are means of preventing recurrences of rheumatic fever which endanger the hearts of victims with this disease."

The program developed now in Ulster County is aimed at preventing recurrences of rheumatic fever and helping prevent serious infections in those having heart conditions at birth. "The great majority of patients with heart disease we have found can work," the speaker said, "but we have found that the emotional reaction to the heart disease is at much more potent factor in preventing people from returning to work than actually the heart disease itself. The emotional impact to heart disease affects not only the person but his family and friends as well. I believe one has to adopt a certain phylosophical attitude toward this condition — a certain religious attitude toward the question of life and death and a certain equanimity of mind. Because most people are anxious to be assets to their family and the community, the individual asks himself and the family physician 'How much activity can I do so I will not do any damage to my heart?' It is important that we be able to answer this question, and until recently we actually had very little to offer the patient. Through research funds made available in the past, it was possible to set up a mechanism in an attempt to get sufficient information to answer the question placed by the patient to the physician."

Patient-Doctor Relation

The doctor stressed the importance of the relationship of the patient and his physician and the importance of the doctor's examination and tests. He stressed the importance of money that can be used for research, that will give the physician information that he can use to answer the questions needed by individuals and by potential employers of persons with heart disease.

"It is difficult enough to practice medicine today," the doctor said, "and to take adequate care of the acute problems and some of the chronic problems without attempting to be a social worker and a vocational counsellor, which is actually what the entire problem requires. The great contribution that Dr. Leonard J. Goldwater made to this field of returning the patient to the community, has been in the evolution of the idea which we now know as the 'Cardiac Work Classification Unit.'"

Community Effort

"It is essentially an attempt to bring together various individuals to create a coordinated community effort to see to it that all the facets that are playing upon the individual with heart disease are obtained; that the results are then classified, and that a particular answer is given to this particular person with his or her particular needs. A cardiac classification unit consists of a physician who is chairman, a vocational counselor and a social worker. The best considered opinion and facts of this group is then given to the person's private physician. More and more industrial establishments are accepting persons with heart disease, but when they do accept them, the community must recognize that industry should not be asked to subsidize these individuals. They should be able to produce as much as the persons who do not have heart disease."

"A study being done now in the New York hotel industry includes 100 patients with heart disease. This has revealed these people lose no more time from work while on medication than the average in industry. The idea of getting the patient with heart disease back to the community as an asset does not rest only with the physician or with industry, it rests on the entire community," Dr. Bronstein emphasized.

In comments by William S. Keyser, chairman of the 1959 Heart Fund, he expressed appreciation to town chairmen and to other volunteers. He announced that an appeal letter will be sent to people in Ulster County during this week, and that in the Towns of Lloyd and Shawangunk, volunteers will conduct a Heart Sunday Solicitation, Feb. 22.

Presides at Meeting

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, Heart Chapter chairman, presided at the meeting. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Connolly of St. Philomena's Church, opened the meeting with the invocation. The Rev. Martin P. Dienst of the Immanual Lutheran Church gave the benediction. Others introduced during the meeting were Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., Heart Chapter's Medical Advisory Board and president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association; Alfred D. Ronder, treasurer; Edmund P. Rochford, a vice president; Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster County Commissioner of Health, and Mrs. Neils Parsons, consultant with the New York State Heart Assembly.

Mrs. Connelly read a list of 32 different organizations represented at the meeting. She expressed appreciation to the groups and to the many individuals interested in the Heart Chapter of Ulster County and the 1959 Heart Fund campaign.

"DENTIST BANK"
An Antique American Coin Bank
From The Collection Of
THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

The Tradition of American Thrift

A visit to the dentist during the 19th Century was an experience to be feared, indeed!

This amusing American mechanical coin bank poked fun at this fear. All sort of action takes place. The dentist's fee (a coin) is placed in his pocket. The tooth is extracted and both patient and dentist go sprawling. The coin drops from the dentist's pocket into a slot at the bank's base. Funny? ... Sure!

But it illustrates an important point. The opening of a savings account may seem painful. But it will provide you and yours with financial "healthiness" that brings peace of mind and security.

Visit your dentist twice a year—and visit your savings account every payday. These are two sure rules of dental and financial "good health."

They should be able to produce as much as the persons who do not have heart disease."

"A study being done now in the New York hotel industry includes 100 patients with heart disease. This has revealed these people lose no more time from work while on medication than the average in industry. The idea of getting the patient with heart disease back to the community as an asset does not rest only with the physician or with industry, it rests on the entire community," Dr. Bronstein emphasized.

In comments by William S. Keyser, chairman of the 1959 Heart Fund, he expressed appreciation to town chairmen and to other volunteers. He announced that an appeal letter will be sent to people in Ulster County during this week, and that in the Towns of Lloyd and Shawangunk, volunteers will conduct a Heart Sunday Solicitation, Feb. 22.

Presides at Meeting

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, Heart Chapter chairman, presided at the meeting. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Connolly of St. Philomena's Church, opened the meeting with the invocation. The Rev. Martin P. Dienst of the Immanual Lutheran Church gave the benediction. Others introduced during the meeting were Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., Heart Chapter's Medical Advisory Board and president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association; Alfred D. Ronder, treasurer; Edmund P. Rochford, a vice president; Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster County Commissioner of Health, and Mrs. Neils Parsons, consultant with the New York State Heart Assembly.

Mrs. Connelly read a list of 32 different organizations represented at the meeting. She expressed appreciation to the groups and to the many individuals interested in the Heart Chapter of Ulster County and the 1959 Heart Fund campaign.

"DENTIST BANK"
An Antique American Coin Bank
From The Collection Of
THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

The Tradition of American Thrift

A visit to the dentist during the 19th Century was an experience to be feared, indeed!

This amusing American mechanical coin bank poked fun at this fear. All sort of action takes place. The dentist's fee (a coin) is placed in his pocket. The tooth is extracted and both patient and dentist go sprawling. The coin drops from the dentist's pocket into a slot at the bank's base. Funny?... Sure!

But it illustrates an important point. The opening of a savings account may seem painful. But it will provide you and yours with financial "healthiness" that brings peace of mind and security.

Visit your dentist twice a year—and visit your savings account every payday. These are two sure rules of dental and financial "good health."

ECONOMIC CHALLENGE

It has often been said, and rightly that the United States need not shrink from an economic trial of strength with the Soviet Union. This country's production record, made under a system of free enterprise, is without parallel.

Neither past achievements nor confidence in the future should blind us, however, to the fact that the Soviet economy is currently expanding at a much faster rate than the U. S. economy. Nikita Khrushchev predicts that during the course of the seven-year plan now being undertaken, Soviet economic growth will take place at the rate of about 8.6 per cent annually. Even after due allowance has been for boasting and optimism, the prediction is impressive.

It is especially so when compared with economic expansion in this country since the end of the Korean War. The U.S. rate of growth during those years has averaged less than 1.5 per cent annually. This is only half, or less than half, of the growth rate which most experts consider "normally" possible in the United States.

There is little agreement, among economists, as to why economic expansion has slowed down. There is as little agreement about means of speeding it up again. But there is agreement among the experts—and certainly this makes sense, also, to ordinary citizens—that our rate of growth ought to be faster.

Competition with Russia is only one of several factors that make this highly desirable. The Soviet challenge cannot be minimized, however. Recent performance suggests that the Soviet economy may not fall much short of Khrushchev's prediction. It is true that Russia has a long way to go before it even catches up with the U.S. economy, but Americans would be foolish not to regard the Soviet challenge as a powerful stimulus for swifter expansion here.

People who want complimentary epitaphs on their tombstones should not do much chiseling.

Everyone's debating the effects of Mikoyan's visit. Some think he can say, "I came, I saw, I conquered." Others say, "He came, he saw, he concurred."

PAYING THE BILLS

There is plenty of room for disagreement as to the merits of this or that government program. There is a wide divergence of opinion, even among those who approve of one program or another, as to how much money should be spent.

It would be hard to find any sound basis, however, for disagreement with President Eisenhower's assertion that if Congress wants to spend more than the federal budget provides it should raise taxes to foot the bill. Congress does not appear to be in a mood to pay much attention to this dictum. The Senate's attitude was indicated by its approval of housing and airport bills vastly more expensive than the programs recommended by the administration.

It may be that larger appropriations than were called for in the budget are justifiable. That is not the point at issue here. Nor is the question whether the 77-billion-dollar budget is unrealistically low the point at issue here. For the moment, we are concerned only with the question whether it is right for Congress to go on passing huge appropriation measures without providing for additional revenue.

It is sometimes argued that there is no real harm in an unbalanced federal budget. Certainly there are times when a deficit is, if not desirable, necessary under the circumstances. But when all the arguments are in, there still seems to be no valid reason to approve a big spending program unless there is a commensurate effort to raise more revenue.

Higher taxes are bad politics. The administration does not want to propose them; Congress does not want to impose them. But as spending authorizations push beyond the budget limit, Congress had better think about means of paying the bills.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

It would seem that John Foster Dulles was born to be Secretary of State. His education was in the direction of international law. His grandfather, John W. Foster, after whom he was named, was Secretary of State in Benjamin Harrison's Cabinet; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Secretary of State in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet, and it was Lansing who took Dulles to Paris to see diplomacy at work at the last peace conference this world has known.

It can be said of John Foster Dulles that he has been in and out of the State Department all of his adult life. He started as secretary of The Hague Peace Conference in 1907 (Theodore Roosevelt's Administration). Ten years later, he was a special agent of the State Department in Central America. Since then his public career has been enormous and was finally capped by becoming Secretary of State to President Eisenhower.

Dulles was educated at Princeton, George Washington University and at the Sorbonne and is one of the few Secretaries of State who can speak other languages than English. I recall visiting him in his New York residence before the 1952 Republican Convention and during our discussion, I was able to say to him that although he favored General Eisenhower for President, Senator Robert A. Taft had told me that if nominated and elected he would have John Foster Dulles as his Secretary of State.

Dulles inherited a difficult task as Secretary of State; the difficulties increased and became more complex as his years in that office continued. He not only had to face the problem of liquidating a war which had no victor, but he was called upon to deal with a new devise in international relations, the cold war, a creation of Soviet Russia but regarded by some nations as characteristically American. For this he has been unusually equipped. Few men in this country have devoted as much time and effort and understanding to amassing a working knowledge of Marxism and its application to the Russian Revolution. Long before he became Secretary of State, Dulles studied the psychology of the Russian mind as affected by the Revolution. He had read enormously in Leninist literature, and could quote at length from some of the works of Stalin. He did not come to his task a starry-eyed liberal or an unregenerated reactionary. He came a man of knowledge who knew the enemy he faced.

While others were taken in by Soviet trickery and the whetting of American appetites by offers of contracts, some of which never went beyond the offer stage, Dulles grasped the nature of Soviet imperialism and its dangers to the United States. His problem has been not to cave in before the Russian attack while at the same time holding the loyalty of our allies who face different and diverting problems.

There have been times when Dulles was extraordinarily unpopular in Europe as well as in the United States. This was not altogether due to Russian propaganda. The man who has often to say, No!, is never too popular. And it has been Dulles's lot to say, No!, not only to the Russians but to our allies. Furthermore, in the United States many ambitious men who would have appreciated being his successor, never failed to down-grade this able man. He never permitted himself to become involved in personal controversy. He went about his business, travelling from country to country, serving his own people, seeking to preserve our nation's dignity, until his physical strength exhausted, he was forced to see to himself. Few men have served America better.

One can be thankful to God that this is not written as an obituary. As I write it, John Foster Dulles has entered a hospital for such an operation from which men do recover. We can only pray that his health will be restored. And yet, if it were an obituary, I could not say more. He follows a line of noble figures in our history, Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, James Madison, James Monroe, Daniel Webster, John Hay, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and among these he will not be measured as unworthy, for he has never compromised with his basic duty—to keep America free and strong and at peace if possible. His task has been enormous. Few men could have lasted at it as long as he has. Situations changed so rapidly that often he seemed to be caught unaware, but the total of his work defies unfriendly criticism.

Treatment of Headaches Can Be Complicated Procedure

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Rare indeed is the person who has never had a headache.

The only good thing which can be said about a severe headache is that one forgets it almost at once. Although I have had my share, I cannot remember just exactly when each and every headache occurred nor how long it lasted. But severe and recurring headaches are really a problem and must be considered seriously by physicians.

It is believed that there are several kinds of recurring headaches. Some of them are brought on by emotional upsets, others are labled migraine, and in still others additional causes are recognized.

It is now felt, however, that most headaches are associated with changes in the circulation of the blood vessels in the brain, though the cause of such changes may differ from one person to another.

If the headaches are largely on one side, migraine is probable. This is a condition the origin of which is still somewhat obscure, although a family tendency is common.

So far as remedies for migrane are concerned, there are drugs available which often can shorten or bring to a halt an attack if they are given at the earliest possible moment. But these drugs are powerful and should be taken only under careful supervision.

Severe or repeated headaches are often difficult to diagnose. The complete history of the attacks, the kind and location of pain, and the preceding symptoms, if any, must be studied.

The physician who tries to discover the cause must know the circumstances under which the pain first developed, whether it came on gradually or suddenly, whether it was constant or irregular, how long it lasted, what part of the head was involved, and similar facts. In addition to this, he must know whether nervous strain was present before the beginning of the headache.

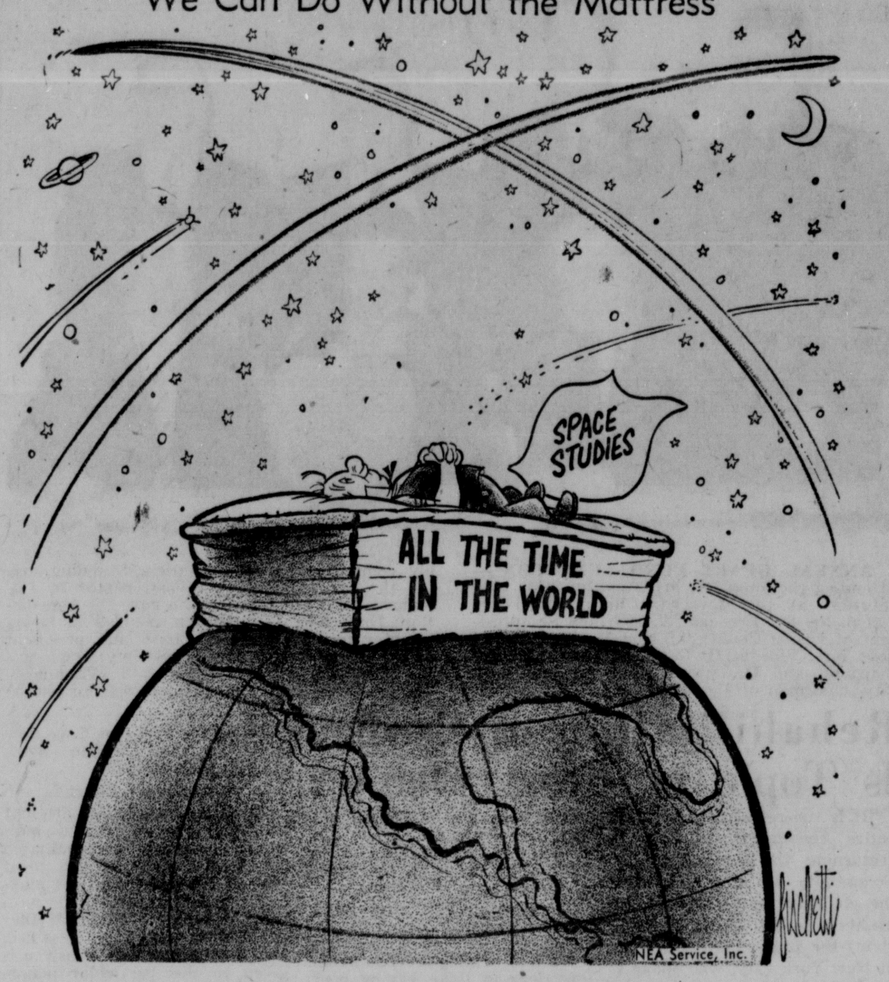
A complete physical examination is always desirable. The sinuses need to be eliminated as a cause and the eyes, also. Special tests may have to be made in order to find out whether the headaches come from local relaxation of the blood vessels.

The treatment of any type of severe headache involves two steps.

The first is to try to relieve the immediate difficulty as rapidly as possible. Some kinds of headaches, especially the so-called "bilious" type, can often be relieved by simple pain-killing drugs like aspirin. The more severe varieties may go on in spite of drug treatment.

The second step is to try to identify the cause, or at least the physical or emotional factors which bring on the headaches. When this can be done successfully it often becomes possible to suggest steps which will keep them from occurring so often.

We Can Do Without the Mattress



Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — New chairman of the House Republican policy committee, John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, complained recently that he was tired of having to run back to his district to explain the difference between the GOP and the Democrats.

This came up during the fight over the change in House leadership at the beginning of the session. Young Republican congressmen who survived the November elections said the Eisenhower program was too much like the New Deal. They wanted to be for something different and proposed to get it.

This situation has now been taken care of. It wasn't caused by Republican revolution or evolution, however.

WHAT SEEMS TO HAVE happened is that the Democrats have moved off further to the left, leaving the Republicans standing wherever it was they were.

This shows up prominently in a new Democratic National Committee policy statement. In parallel columns, it contrasts the positions taken by President Eisenhower in his state of the union, budget and economic messages with the Democratic Advisory Council program announced last December.

The only policy on which the two parties seem to agree are statehood for Hawaii and home rule for the District of Columbia.

On control of inflation, taxation, small business, farm policy, labor, social security, public assistance, child welfare, education, health, housing, area redevelopment, public works, hydro-electric and atomic power programs the Democrats go way out on the limb beyond anything the Republicans have so far dared propose.

The catch in this comparison is, of course, that this Democratic Advisory Council does not speak for the party leadership in Congress. It is this leadership which really states party policy between national conventions.

SO FAR, SPEAKER Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson have refused to take part in advisory council deliberations. How powerful they are is indicated by the fact that whereas the advisory council recommended extreme liberalization of the Senate anti-filibuster rule, Senator Johnson effectively blocked it.

There's only one big man from the South on the advisory council. He is Camille F. Gravel Jr., national committeeman from Louisiana. His state committee tried to give him the heave. But he stuck on by playing with the more liberal northern crowd that runs the advisory council.

Its 24 members include Governors G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and David Lawrence of Pennsylvania, Senators Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, ex-Governors Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Averell Harriman of New York, National Chairman Paul Butler and ex-President Truman. It speaks for the controlling liberal wing of the party at convention time.

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN the thinking of this group and the GOP of today is far greater than two years ago.

The Republican line now is economy, stability, balanced budget, sound dollar and get the federal government out of programs the states or private business could run.

The Democratic Advisory Council line is expansion all over the map, economy growth, more government participation in everything from soil conservation to outer space, with increased social security benefits for everybody thrown in for good measure.

Many of the advisory council's proposals are not even taken up in the President's messages to Congress this year.

This probably gives a tip on what the advisory councill is up to. The Democrats seem to be lining up for a 1960 campaign of out-promising the Republicans on everything there is to offer.

That's the new difference Johnny Byrnes and his GOP colleagues will now have to explain to their constituents.

New Amendment on Bias Proposed to End Conflict

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A new amendment to the Federal constitution is needed not only to clear up the conflicting decisions of the courts interpreting the Fourteenth Amendment on the subject of school integration but to establish firmly the basic rights of organizations of all kinds, including those of a fraternal, religious, educational and business nature.

For today, under the changeful rulings of varying personnel in the Supreme Court of the United States, a group of citizens, for instance, who form a partnership or a corporation cannot be sure of the "equal protection of the laws" of the states.

Under the opinions handed down repeatedly by a minority of the justices, the Fourteenth Amendment has been held to apply to individuals only and not to groups of individuals.

Parochial Schools Not Safe

Likewise, continuance of parochial schools is not fully assured from a legal standpoint. While a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1925 held invalid an Oregon law that required the attendance of all children in public schools, this ruling could be wiped out overnight by five justices of the high court on the ground that public psychology is different from what it was when the first ruling was made and that public-school education is "inherently" better than private schooling.

Plainly, also, the voteless people of the District of Columbia do not enjoy the "equal protection" clause applicable to residents of the forty-nine states of the union. Through a curious stretch of power by the Supreme Court in 1954, the school authorities of the city of Washington were ordered to obey the so-called implications of the Fourteenth Amendment, though nothing in the Constitution or in previous rulings had ever defined the constitution that way for the people of a Federal territory.

Some Sections Obsolete

Also, sections 2, 3 and 4 of the Fourteenth Amendment have become obsolete because these referred only to persons once engaged in the war between the states, all of whom now are dead. So these sections can be eliminated.

There are, moreover, serious doubts whether the Fourteenth Amendment was ever legally ratified, due to the coercion of state legislatures by Federal troops and by other unconstitutional acts of Congress long after the war was over. All such doubts can be removed by adopting a new amendment reaffirming the essential parts of the old provisions and clarifying them at the same time. Here is the text of a substitute, offered by this writer as a possible basis for the drafting of a "new Fourteenth Amendment." It contains approximately as many words as the original and reads as follows:

"In pursuance of the Tenth Amendment which provides that 'the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people,' it is hereby declared that the people of any state may provide in its constitution for a referendum vote, at a special election to be called solely for that purpose, and may by such referendum amend the state constitution to establish within any such state complete and exclusive control by the state over its educational institutions, programs and curricula, including the right to assign pupils to any school supported by public revenues on whatever basis the state legislature may determine.

Safe From Existing Law

"The state legislatures may by law delegate such exclusive authority in whole or in part to local subdivisions.

"Nothing in the existing provisions of the constitution shall be held by any court to impair the purpose of this amendment or of the Tenth Amendment.

"Congress shall pass no law abridging the rights of the states or denying to any state, or to the people of any Federal territory not yet admitted to statehood, the equal protection of the Federal laws. Nor shall Congress or the executive, by the provisions of any law governing appropriations, or by any other law or action, deny to any state, or to the people of any Federal territory, the right to the exclusive control of its educational institutions, programs and curricula.

"The statutes hitherto enacted by Congress granting to certain states the exclusive control of their educational institutions, programs and curricula, and any such provisions of the state constitutions hitherto approved by Congress upon admission of such states to statehood which provide for the exclusive control of education by the states, are hereby affirmed as of continuing validity.

Protects Private Schools

"Nothing in this amendment shall deny to the citizens of any state, or Federal territory not admitted to statehood, the right to establish private schools, including religious schools; nor shall any state or Federal authority prohibit any one from attending such a private school by requiring attendance at a public school.

"Subject to the foregoing reservations, Sections 1 and 5 of the Fourteenth Amendment are hereby declared in full force and effect, with Section 1 amended to read as follows:

" 'All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person, or corporation, or partnership, or any profit-making or non-profit-making organization, within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.' BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH AUNTIE MAME
By Patrick Dennis

This is the author's story of Patrick when in 1937 he was about to enter college his junior guardian, Auntie Mame, snatched him from under the jurisdiction of his senior trustee, Dwight D. Babcock of the Knickerbocker Trust Company. In Paris they ran right smack into Mr. Babcock and his family. That almost ended the trip then and there, but with her usual finesse Auntie Mame turned the tables very neatly upon Mr. Babcock and went merrily on her way.

At that time Auntie Mame was a very attractive, very rich young widow with a flair for madcap adventures. In Paris she was more French than the French; in London utterly British; in Venice a true Venetian in her elaborate gondola; in Austria she went high Tyrolean and so on. Everywhere she went she was trailed by suitors, attracted by her wealth, her beauty and her originality in that order. Paris was the only place where she did not pick up an admirer. She was too busy taking the place of her actress friend, Vera Charles, of the Folies Bergere. She had to take a stellar role on that famous stage one night when Vera was disfigured by an ulcerated tooth. An ordeal for Mame but a treat for the audience.

In London Auntie Mame decided she would like to be presented at Court. To do this she engaged the services of one Lady Gravell-Pitt and rented a large mansion in Grosvenor Square. Lady Gravell-Pitt, in addition to being a highhanded and completely unpleasant person turned out to be a fraud with a criminal past. Fortunately Auntie Mame met the altogether desirable Hon. Basil Fitz-hugh, who promptly fell in love with her and helped her out of her entanglement. He had her presented at Court under the patronage of his aunt, Griselda, who uncovered Lady Gravell-Pitt's unsavory record.

The mix-up at Biarritz where they went next was worse. Life in the little villa by the sea appeared idyllic. There were Basil (to whom Auntie Mame was now engaged) Aunt Griselda, and Vera Charles and, of course, Patrick. But Vera was involved in an affair with a particularly nasty little South American who had married, divorced and/or blackmailed several wealthy brides, including "Babs Bourbon" the chain store heiress. Turning siren Auntie Mame proceeded to take him away from Vera who retaliated by eloping with Basil. End of that romance.

Then on to Venice. Meeting with an old school friend and two more suitors. Plans for a great big party in the Doge's palace which Mame rented. Then disaster struck. Who should turn up and prepare to stay but Mame's late husband's cousin, Elmore Burnside. Unlike Mame's beloved "Beau," Elmore was thoroughly unpleasant. A regular windbag full of bad jokes in the worst of taste, big appetite for food and liquor and utterly impervious to hints or insults. Of course he made a dead set for Auntie Mame, drove off her friends and admirers, wrecked the party, etc., until Patrick finally engineered his downfall.

Next they went to Austria. Again along came a "Prince Charming", the Baron von Hohenloren-"Putzie" to his friends. In no time "Putzie" had swept Mame off her feet in a whirlwind courtship. As guests at the Hohenlohern Schloss in the mountains near Bergtesgaden, Patrica and Mame gradually became aware of Putzie's Nazi activities and learned that the many locked rooms of the decaying old schloss (which Mame had been induced to buy) were filled with ammunition. That knowledge put them in a very dangerous position from which they were rescued by the timely arrival of Basil and Vera. Mame touched off an explosion of the ammunition which blew the schloss to Kingdom Come after cagily making sure it was completely covered by insurance in a German company.

After that a brief, lively stay in the Middle East. While waiting at Port Said for a steamer to take them home, Patrick met the girl of his dreams-a lovely imposter. That was why they sailed for home not west on a luxury liner for New York, but east on a dirty Greek freighter for San Francisco. Mame was a pushover for young love so she took the discomfort and near-shipwreck that ensued with unquenchable high spirits and skillfully manoevered a transfer from the freighter to a United States Man-o-war to complete the journey.

Questions -- Answers

Q—What is the origin of the group of stories known as the "Arabian Nights?"

A—The stories were first written in Arabic. But it is thought that the Arabians got them from the Persians and that the Persians, took some of them from India. They were brought into Europe in the 18th century, when they were translated by a Franchman named Galland.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 17, 1959

ECONOMIC CHALLENGE

It has often been said, and rightly that the United States need not shrink from an economic trial of strength with the Soviet Union. This country's production record, made under a system of free enterprise, is without parallel.

Neither past achievements nor confidence in the future should blind us, however, to the fact that the Soviet economy is currently expanding at a much faster rate than the U. S. economy. Nikita Khrushchev predicts that during the course of the seven-year plan now being undertaken, Soviet economic growth will take place at the rate of about 8.6 per cent annually. Even after due allowance has been for boasting and optimism, the prediction is impressive.

It is especially so when compared with economic expansion in this country since the end of the Korean War. The U.S. rate of growth during those years has averaged less than 1.5 per cent annually. This is only half, or less than half, of the growth rate which most experts consider "normally" possible in the United States.

There is little agreement, among economists, as to why economic expansion has slowed down. There is as little agreement about means of speeding it up again. But there is agreement among the experts—and certainly this makes sense, also, to ordinary citizens—that our rate of growth ought to be faster.

Competition with Russia is only one of several factors that make this highly desirable. The Soviet challenge cannot be minimized, however. Recent performance suggests that the Soviet economy may not fall much short of Khrushchev's prediction. It is true that Russia has a long way to go before it even catches up with the U.S. economy, but Americans would be foolish not to regard the Soviet challenge as a powerful stimulus for swifter expansion here.

People who want complimentary epitaphs on their tombstones should not do much chiseling.

Everyone's debating the effects of Mikoyan's visit. Some think he can say, "I came, I saw, I conquered." Others say, "He came, he saw, he concurred."

PAYING THE BILLS

There is plenty of room for disagreement as to the merits of this or that government program. There is a wide divergence of opinion, even among those who approve of one program or another, as to how much money should be spent.

It would be hard to find any sound basis, however, for disagreement with President Eisenhower's assertion that if Congress wants to spend more than the federal budget provides it should raise taxes to foot the bill. Congress does not appear to be in a mood to pay much attention to this dictum. The Senate's attitude was indicated by its approval of housing and airport bills vastly more expensive than the programs recommended by the administration.

It may be that larger appropriations than were called for in the budget are justifiable. That is not the point at issue here. Nor is the question whether the 77-billion-dollar budget is unrealistically low the point at issue here. For the moment, we are concerned only with the question whether it is right for Congress to go on passing huge appropriation measures without providing for additional revenue.

It is sometimes argued that there is no real harm in an unbalanced federal budget. Certainly there are times when a deficit is, if not desirable, necessary under the circumstances. But when all the arguments are in, there still seems to be no valid reason to approve a big spending program unless there is a commensurate effort to raise more revenue.

Higher taxes are bad politics. The administration does not want to propose them; Congress does not want to impose them. But as spending authorizations push beyond the budget limit, Congress had better think about means of paying the bills.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

It would seem that John Foster Dulles was born to be Secretary of State. His education was in the direction of international law. His grandfather, John W. Foster, after whom he was named, was Secretary of State in Benjamin Harrison's Cabinet; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Secretary of State in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet, and it was Lansing who took Dulles to Paris to see diplomacy at work at the last peace conference this world has known.

It can be said of John Foster Dulles that he has been in and out of the State Department all of his adult life. He started as secretary of The Hague Peace Conference in 1907 (Theodore Roosevelt's Administration). Ten years later, he was a special agent of the State Department in Central America. Since then his public career has been enormous and was finally capped by becoming Secretary of State to President Eisenhower.

Dulles was educated at Princeton, George Washington University and at the Sorbonne and is one of the few Secretaries of State who can speak other languages than English. I recall visiting him in his New York residence before the 1952 Republican Convention and during our discussion, I was able to say to him that although he favored General Eisenhower for President, Senator Robert A. Taft had told me that if nominated and elected he would have John Foster Dulles as his Secretary of State.

Dulles inherited a difficult task as Secretary of State; the difficulties increased and became more complex as his years in that office continued. He not only had to face the problem of liquidating a war which had no victor, but he was called upon to deal with a new devise in international relations, the cold war, a creation of Soviet Russia but regarded by some nations as characteristically American. For this he has been unusually equipped. Few men in this country have devoted as much time and effort and understanding to amassing a working knowledge of Marxism and its application to the Russian Revolution. Long before he became Secretary of State, Dulles studied the psychology of the Russian mind as affected by the Revolution. He had read enormously in Leninist literature, and could quote at length from some of the works of Stalin. He did not come to his task a starry-eyed liberal or an unregenerated reactionary. He came a man of knowledge who knew the enemy he faced.

While others were taken in by Soviet trickery and the whetting of American appetites by offers of contracts, some of which never went beyond the offer stage, Dulles grasped the nature of Soviet imperialism and its dangers to the United States. His problem has been not to cave in before the Russian attack while at the same time holding the loyalty of our allies who face different and diverting problems.

There have been times when Dulles was extraordinarily unpopular in Europe as well as in the United States. This was not altogether due to Russian propaganda. The man who has often to say, No!, is never too popular. And it has been Dulles's lot to say, No!, not only to the Russians but to our allies. Furthermore, in the United States many ambitious men who would have appreciated being his successor, never failed to down-grade this able man. He never permitted himself to become involved in personal controversy. He went about his business, travelling from country to country, serving his own people, seeking to preserve our nation's dignity, until his physical strength exhausted, he was forced to see to himself. Few men have served America better.

One can be thankful to God that this is not written as an obituary. As I write it, John Foster Dulles has entered a hospital for such an operation from which men do recover. We can only pray that his health will be restored. And yet, if it were an obituary, I could not say more. He follows a line of noble figures in our history, Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, James Madison, James Monroe, Daniel Webster, John Hay, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and among these he will not be measured as unworthy, for he has never compromised with his basic duty—to keep America free and strong and at peace if possible. His task has been enormous. Few men could have lasted at it as long as he has. Situations changed so rapidly that often he seemed to be caught unaware, but the total of his work defies unfriendly criticism.

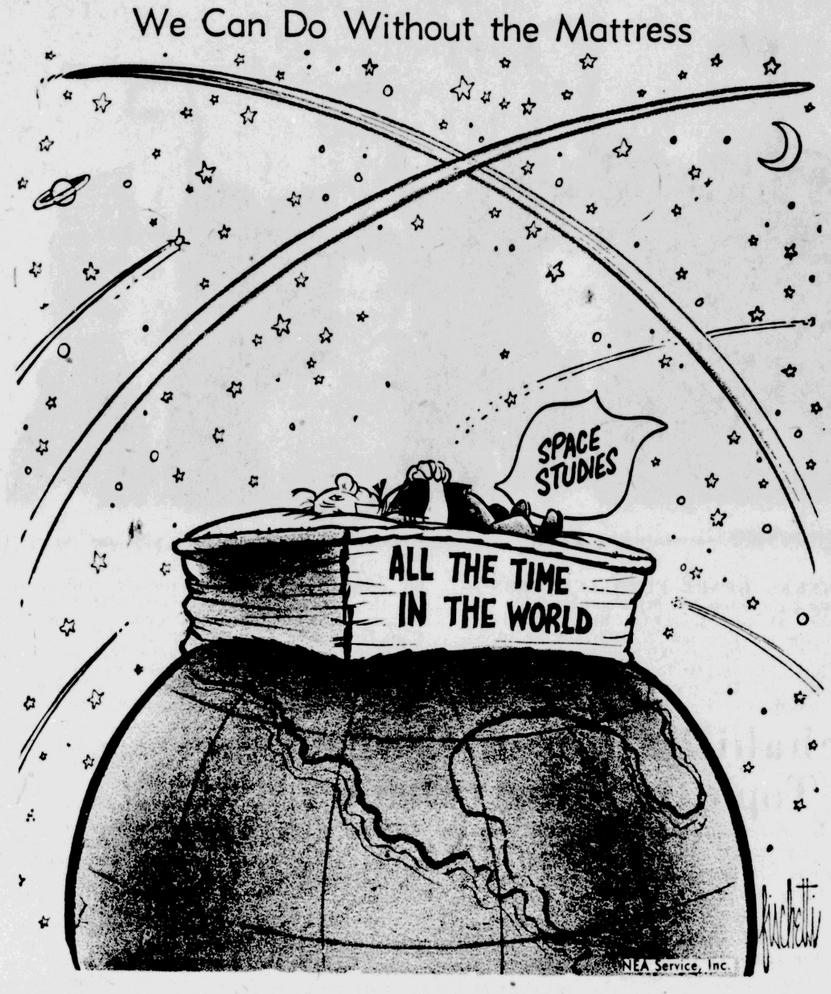
We Can Do Without the Mattress



Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — New chairman of the House Republican policy committee, John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, complained recently that he was tired of having to run back to his district to explain the difference between the GOP and the Democrats.

This came up during the fight over the change in House leadership at the beginning of the session. Young Republican congressmen who survived the November elections said the Eisenhower program was too much like the New Deal. They wanted to be for something different and proposed to get it.

This situation has now been taken care of. It wasn't caused by Republican revolution or evolution, however.

WHAT SEEMS TO HAVE happened is that the Democrats have moved off further to the left, leaving the Republicans standing wherever it was they were.

This shows up prominently in a new Democratic National Committee policy statement. In parallel columns, it contrasts the positions taken by President Eisenhower in his state of the union, budget and economic messages with the Democratic Advisory Council program announced last December.

The only policy on which the two parties seem to agree are statehood for Hawaii and home rule for the District of Columbia.

On control of inflation, taxation, small business, farm policy, labor, social security, public assistance, child welfare, education, health, housing, area redevelopment, public works, hydro-electric and atomic power programs the Democrats go way out on the limb beyond anything the Republicans have so far dared propose.

The catch in this comparison is, of course, that this Democratic Advisory Council does not speak for the party leadership in Congress. It is this leadership which really states party policy between national conventions.

SO FAR, SPEAKER Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson have refused to take part in advisory council deliberations. How powerful they are is indicated by the fact that whereas the advisory council recommended extreme liberalization of the Senate antifilibuster rule, Senator Johnson effectively blocked it.

There's only one big man from the South on the advisory council. He is Camille F. Gravel Jr., national committeeman from Louisiana. His state committee tried to give him the heave. But he stuck on by playing with the more liberal northern crowd that runs the advisory council.

Its 24 members include Governors G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and David Lawrence of Pennsylvania, Senators Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, ex-Governors Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Averell Harriman of New York, National Chairman Paul Butler and ex-President Truman. It speaks for the controlling liberal wing of the party at convention time.

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN the thinking of this group and the GOP of today is far greater than two years ago.

The Republican line now is economy, stability, balanced budget, sound dollar and get the federal government out of programs the states or private business could run.

The Democratic Advisory Council line is expansion all over the map, economy growth, more government participation in everything from soil conservation to outer space, with increased social security benefits for everybody thrown in for good measure.

Many of the advisory council's proposals are not even taken up in the President's messages to Congress this year.

This probably gives a tip on what the advisory council is up to. The Democrats seem to be lining up for a 1960 campaign of out-promising the Republicans on everything there is to offer.

That's the new difference Johnny Byrnes and his GOP colleagues will now have to explain to their constituents.

New Amendment on Bias Proposed to End Conflict

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A new amendment to the Federal constitution is needed not only to clear up the conflicting decisions of the courts interpreting the Fourteenth Amendment on the subject of school integration but to establish firmly the basic rights of organizations of all kinds, including those of a fraternal, religious, educational and business nature.

For today, under the changeful rulings of varying personnel in the Supreme Court of the United States, a group of citizens, for instance, who form a partnership or a corporation cannot be sure of the "equal protection of the laws" of the states.

Under the opinions handed down repeatedly by a minority of the justices, the Fourteenth Amendment has been held to apply to individuals only and not to groups of individuals.

Parochial Schools Not Safe

Likewise, continuance of parochial schools is not fully assured from a legal standpoint. While a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1925 held invalid an Oregon law that required the attendance of all children in public schools, this ruling could be wiped out overnight by five justices of the high court on the ground that public psychology is different from what it was when the first ruling was made and that public-school education is "inherently" better than private schooling.

Plainly, also, the voteless people of the District of Columbia do not enjoy the "equal protection" clause applicable to residents of the forty-nine states of the union. Through a curious stretch of power by the Supreme Court in 1954, the school authorities of the city of Washington were ordered to obey the so-called implications of the Fourteenth Amendment, though nothing in the Constitution or in previous rulings had ever defined the constitution that way for the people of a Federal territory.

Some Sections Obsolete

Also, sections 2, 3 and 4 of the Fourteenth Amendment have become obsolete because these referred only to persons once engaged in the war between the states, all of whom now are dead. So these sections can be eliminated.

There are, moreover, serious doubts whether the Fourteenth Amendment was ever legally ratified, due to the coercion of state legislatures by Federal troops and by other unconstitutional acts of Congress long after the war was over. All such doubts can be removed by adopting a new amendment reaffirming the essential parts of the old provisions and clarifying them at the same time. Here is the text of a substitute, offered by this writer as a possible basis for the drafting of a "new Fourteenth Amendment." It contains approximately as many words as the original and reads as follows:

"In pursuance of the Tenth Amendment which provides that 'the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people,' it is hereby declared that the people of any state may provide in its constitution for a referendum vote, at a special election to be called solely for that purpose, and may by such referendum amend the state constitution to establish within any such state complete and exclusive control by the state over its educational institutions, programs and curricula, including the right to assign pupils to any school supported by public revenues on whatever basis the state legislature may determine.

Safe From Existing Law

"The state legislatures may by law delegate such exclusive authority in whole or in part to local subdivisions.

"Nothing in the existing provisions of the constitution shall be held by any court to impair the purpose of this amendment or of the Tenth Amendment.

"Congress shall pass no law abridging the rights of the states or denying to any state, or to the people of any Federal territory not yet admitted to statehood, the equal protection of the Federal laws. Nor shall Congress or the executive, by the provisions of any law governing appropriations, or by any other law or action, deny to any state, or to the people of any Federal territory, the right to the exclusive control of its educational institutions, programs and curricula.

"The statutes hitherto enacted by Congress granting to certain states the exclusive control of their educational institutions, programs and curricula, and any such provisions of the state constitutions hitherto approved by Congress upon admission of such states to statehood which provide for the exclusive control of education by the states, are hereby affirmed as of continuing validity.

Protects Private Schools

"Nothing in this amendment shall deny to the citizens of any state, or Federal territory not admitted to statehood, the right to establish private schools, including religious schools; nor shall any state or Federal authority prohibit any one from attending such a private school by requiring attendance at a public school.

"Subject to the foregoing reservations, Sections 1 and 5 of the Fourteenth Amendment are hereby declared in full force and effect, with Section 1 amended to read as follows:

"'All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person, or corporation, or partnership, or any profit-making or non-profit-making organization, within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.'"

Treatment of Headaches Can Be Complicated Procedure

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Rare indeed is the person who has never had a headache.

The only good thing which can be said about a severe headache is that one forgets it almost at once. Although I have had my share, I cannot remember just exactly when each and every headache occurred nor how long it lasted. But severe and recurring headaches are really a problem and must be considered seriously by physicians.

It is believed that there are several kinds of recurring headaches. Some of them are brought on by emotional upsets, others are labled migraine, and in still others additional causes are recognized.

It is now felt, however, that most headaches are associated with changes in the circulation of the blood vessels in the brain, though the cause of such changes may differ from one person to another.

If the headaches are largely on one side, migraine is probable. This is a condition the origin of which is still somewhat obscure, although a family tendency is common.

So far as remedies for migrane are concerned, there are drugs available which often can shorten or bring to a halt an attack if they are given at the earliest possible moment. But these drugs are powerful and should be taken only under careful supervision.

Severe or repeated headaches are often difficult to diagnose. The complete history of the attacks, the kind and location of pain, and the preceding symptoms, if any, must be studied.

The physician who tries to discover the cause must know the circumstances under which the pain first developed, whether it came on gradually or suddenly, whether it was constant or irregular, how long it lasted, what part of the head was involved, and similar facts. In addition to this, he must know whether nervous strain was present before the beginning of the headache.

A complete physical examination is always desirable. The sinuses need to be eliminated as a cause and the eyes, also. Special tests may have to be made in order to find out whether the headaches come from local relaxation of the blood vessels.

The treatment of any type of severe headache involves two steps.

The first is to try to relieve the immediate difficulty as rapidly as possible. Some kinds of headaches, especially the so-called "bilious" type, can often be relieved by simple pain-killing drugs like aspirin. The more severe varieties may go on in spite of drug treatment.

The second step is to try to identify the cause, or at least the physical or emotional factors which bring on the headaches. When this can be done successfully it often becomes possible to suggest steps which will keep them from occurring so often.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH AUNTIE MAME

By Patrick Dennis

This is the author's story of Patrick when in 1937 he was about to enter college his junior guardian, Auntie Mame, snatched him from under the jurisdiction of his senior trustee, Dwight D. Babcock of the Knickerbocker Trust Company. In Paris they ran right smack into Mr. Babcock and his family. That almost ended the trip then and there, but with her usual finesse Auntie Mame turned the tables very neatly upon Mr. Babcock and went merrily on her way.

At that time Auntie Mame was a very attractive, very rich young widow with a flair for madcap adventures. In Paris she was more French than the French; in London utterly British; in Venice a true Venetian in her elaborate gondola; in Austria she went high Tyrolean and so on. Everywhere she went she was trailed by suitors, attracted by her wealth, her beauty and her originality in that order. Paris was the only place where she did not pick up an admirer. She was too busy taking the place of her actress friend, Vera Charles, of the Folies Bergere. She had to take a stellar role on that famous stage one night when Vera was disfigured by an ulcerated tooth. An ordeal for Mame but a treat for the audience.

In London Auntie Mame decided she would like to be presented at Court. To do this she engaged the services of one Lady Gravell-Pitt and rented a large mansion in Grosvenor Square. Lady Gravell-Pitt, in addition to being a highhanded and completely unpleasant person turned out to be a fraud with a criminal past. Fortunately Auntie Mame met the altogether desirable Hon. Basil Fitz-hugh, who promptly fell in love with her and helped her out of her entanglement. He had her presented at Court under the patronage of his aunt, Griselda, who uncovered Lady Gravell-Pitt's unsavory record.

The mix-up at Biarritz where they went next was worse. Life in the little villa by the sea appeared idyllic. There were Basil (to whom Auntie Mame was now engaged) Aunt Griselda, and Vera Charles and, of course, Patrick. But Vera was involved in an affair with a particularly nasty little South American who had married, divorced and/or blackmailed several wealthy brides, including "Babs Bourbon" the chain store heiress. Turning siren Auntie Mame proceeded to take him away from Vera who retaliated by eloping with Basil. End of that romance.

Then on to Venice. Meeting with an old school friend and two more suitors. Plans for a great big party in the Doge's palace which Mame rented. Then disaster struck. Who should turn up and prepare to stay but Mame's late husband's cousin, Elmore Burnside. Unlike Mame's beloved "Beau," Elmore was thoroughly unpleasant. A regular windbag full of bad jokes in the worst of taste, big appetite for food and liquor and utterly impervious to hints or insults. Of course he made a dead set for Auntie Mame, drove off her friends and admirers, wrecked the party, etc., until Patrick finally engineered his downfall.

Next they went to Austria. Again along came a "Prince Charming", the Baron von Hohenloren-"Putzie" to his friends. In no time "Putzie" had swept Mame off her feet in a whirlwind courtship. As guests at the Hohenlohern Schloss in the mountains near Bergtesgaden, Patrica and Mame gradually became aware of Putzie's Nazi activities and learned that the many locked rooms of the decaying old schloss (which Mame had been induced to buy) were filled with ammunition. That knowledge put them in a very dangerous position from which they were rescued by the timely arrival of Basil and Vera. Mame touched off an explosion of the ammunition which blew the schloss to Kingdom Come after cagily making sure it was completely covered by insurance in a German company.

After that a brief, lively stay in the Middle East. While waiting at Port Said for a steamer to take them home, Patrick met the girl of his dreams-a lovely imposter. That was why they sailed for home not west on a luxury liner for New York, but east on a dirty Greek freighter for San Francisco. Mame was a pushover for young love so she took the discomfort and near-shipwreck that ensued with unquenchable high spirits and skillfully manoevered a transfer from the freighter to a United States Man-o-war to complete the journey.

Questions -- Answers

Q—What is the origin of the group of stories known as the "Arabian Nights?"

A—The stories were first written in Arabic. But it is thought that the Arabians got them from the Persians, and that the Persians, took some of them from India. They were brought into Europe in the 18th century, when they were translated by a Franchman named Galland.

Cheese and Mushrooms Give Zest to Noodle-Spinach Bake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a bountiful main dish for Lenten meals. It's neither fancy nor elaborate but is an unusually good meatless item:

Noodle-Spinach Bake
(Makes 4 servings)

Two packages (10 ounces each) frozen spinach, cooked and drained; 2 cups cooked noodles (about 4 ounces uncooked), 1 cup shredded process cheese, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, ⅓ cup milk, ⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg.

In buttered 1½-quart baking dish or casserole, arrange layers of spinach, noodles and ¾ cup cheese. Blend soup with milk and nutmeg; pour over. Top with remaining cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

Pork chops cooked in onion soup are a favorite at our house. Ever try it? Think you'll understand our enthusiasm if you do.

Skillet Pork Chops
(Makes 4 Servings)

Four pork chops, 1 can (10¾ ounce) condensed onion soup, salt, pepper, flour.

Season chops with salt and pepper and dust lightly with flour. Brown on both sides in skillet. Drain off all drippings—this is important — ALL drippings. Then turn in onion soup (no water added). Cover skillet and simmer at least 45 minutes or until tender.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Grapefruit and tomato juice, skillet pork chops in onion soup, whipped potatoes, green beans, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, cole slaw, baked apples, coffee, tea, milk.

Bills Introduced In Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York is losing the leading position it once held in the industrial use of atomic energy, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

"This trend must and can be reversed," the governor declared in a special message to the Legislature.

He urged early adoption of a state atomic energy law and creation, in the executive department, of an office of atomic development.

One of Hundreds

The proposal was one of hundreds presented to the lawmakers as the 1959 session reached the midway point.

Rockefeller told the lawmakers that California surpassed New York last year for the first time in the number of industrial users of radioactive material.

He said the proposed office of atomic development was a necessary step toward regaining leadership.

Rockefeller said the atomic energy program should:

1. Encourage private enterprise to use nuclear science for the fullest economic development of the state.

2. Create wider understanding of atomic energy, its prospects and hazards.

3. Reach agreement with the federal government on areas of government support, inspection or regulation.

4. Encourage nuclear science and education so New York will go to the forefront in the field.

Would Relocate Capital

Sen. Elisha T. Barrett (R-Suffolk County) offered the bill on an emergency location for the state seat of government when an enemy attack threatens or is carried out.

The governor would be required to declare a new location if it became imprudent or impossible to do business in Albany.

Another Barrett bill would let New York agencies enter into agreements with agencies of other states to reduce property taxes of railroads or other carriers.

The state's railroads have appealed for lifting of all property taxes on facilities used in passenger service.

Sen. John H. Cooke (R-Erie County) introduced a measure that would raise, from $1,000 to $2,000, the maximum purchase contract that a city could let without competitive bidding.

Second Contractor Bill

A second Cooke bill dealt with contractors who refuse to sign waivers of immunity and testify before grand juries on questions about the contracts. These men, under Cooke's measure, would be made ineligible to bid on any public contract in the state.

An intensive probe into the granting of Buffalo paving contracts has been hampered by refusal of some witnesses to waive immunity.

Other bills introduced would.

Make airlines operating in the state subject to control by the Public Service Commission, just like railroads and bus lines: Sen. Robert C. McEwen (R-Ogdensburg) and Assemblyman Robert G. Main (R-Malone).

Fix the state's primary election on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, instead of the seventh Tuesday before the November election: Cooke.

9,000 Remain Idle

SALAMANCA, N. Y. (AP)—The largest industry in this western New York city of 9,000 remained idle today.

About 400 workers struck the Fancher Furniture Co. Monday in a wage dispute. Pickets were posted at the company's three buildings. Negotiations were to continue today.

A spokesman for the Carpenters and Joiners Union said it wanted a 20-cents-an-hour increase. The company said it was offering three cents an hour this year and another three cents in 1960.

Present wage scales were not disclosed.

At peak operation, the company employs about 500.

Sitter, Parents Charged in Baby's Death in Blaze

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A baby sitter and the parents of a five-month-old girl have been charged with misdemeanors in the baby's death in a fire.

The baby sitter, Mrs. Clara Morrow, 21, was charged Monday with endangering the life of a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman LaPlant, the parents, were charged with failing to provide a competent person to care for their baby.

A mental examination was to be scheduled for Mrs. Morrow after her arraignment today in city court.

Police said Mrs. Morrow fled from the burning LaPlant home last Saturday night while the parents were at a movie.

Investigators said she carried out her own 18-day-old son, but left the four LaPlant children behind. Firemen rescued three of them, aged 1, 2 and 3. The body of Joanne was found on a davenport in the two-story frame house.

Police said Mrs. Morrow could give no coherent explanation of what happened.

LaPlant, 26, a factory worker, and his wife, Elizabeth, 23, were to be arraigned Wednesday.

City Council Asking That GE Get Job

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The Schenectady city council wants the federal government to cancel a multi-million dollar contract awarded by the Tennessee Valley Authority to a British firm.

TVA has rejected a request that it reconsider its award of a $12,095,000 contract for steam turbine generators to C. A. Parsons & Co. Ltd. of Newcastle, Eng.

The company's bid was nearly 5½ million dollars less than a bid by the General Electric Co.

Representatives of GE and Local 301, International Union of Electrical Workers, which represents GE production workers, attended Monday night's special session of the city council.

A resolution adopted by the council cited economic conditions in the United States as the reason for its demand that the contract be cancelled.

Cheese and Mushrooms Give Zest to Noodle-Spinach Bake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a bountiful main dish for Lenten meals. It's neither fancy nor elaborate but is an unusually good meatless item:

Noodle-Spinach Bake
(Makes 4 servings)

Two packages (10 ounces each) frozen spinach, cooked and drained; 2 cups cooked noodles (about 4 ounces uncooked), 1 cup shredded process cheese, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, ⅓ cup milk, ⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg.

In buttered 1½-quart baking dish or casserole, arrange layers of spinach, noodles and ¾ cup cheese. Blend soup with milk and nutmeg; pour over. Top with remaining cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

Pork chops cooked in onion soup are a favorite at our house. Ever try it? Think you'll understand our enthusiasm if you do.

Skillet Pork Chops
(Makes 4 Servings)

Four pork chops, 1 can (10¾ ounce) condensed onion soup, salt, pepper, flour.

Season chops with salt and pepper and dust lightly with flour. Brown on both sides in skillet. Drain off all drippings—this is important — ALL drippings. Then turn in onion soup (no water added). Cover skillet and simmer at least 45 minutes or until tender.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Grapefruit and tomato juice, skillet pork chops in onion soup, whipped potatoes, green beans, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, cole slaw, baked apples, coffee, tea, milk.

Bills Introduced In Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York is losing the leading position it once held in the industrial use of atomic energy, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

"This trend must and can be reversed," the governor declared in a special message to the Legislature.

He urged early adoption of a state atomic energy law and creation, in the executive department, of an office of atomic development.

One of Hundreds

The proposal was one of hundreds presented to the lawmakers as the 1959 session reached the midway point.

Rockefeller told the lawmakers that California surpassed New York last year for the first time in the number of industrial users of radioactive material.

He said the proposed office of atomic development was a necessary step toward regaining leadership.

Rockefeller said the atomic energy program should:

1. Encourage private enterprise to use nuclear science for the fullest economic development of the state.

2. Create wider understanding of atomic energy, its prospects and hazards.

3. Reach agreement with the federal government on areas of government support, inspection or regulation.

4. Encourage nuclear science and education so New York will go to the forefront in the field.

Would Relocate Capital

Sen. Elisha T. Barrett (R-Suffolk County) offered the bill on an emergency location for the state seat of government when an enemy attack threatens or is carried out.

The governor would be required to declare a new location if it became imprudent or impossible to do business in Albany.

Another Barrett bill would let New York agencies enter into agreements with agencies of other states to reduce property taxes of railroads or other carriers.

The state's railroads have appealed for lifting of all property taxes on facilities used in passenger service.

Sen. John H. Cooke (R-Erie County) introduced a measure that would raise, from $1,000 to $2,000, the maximum purchase contract that a city could let without competitive bidding.

Second Contractor Bill

A second Cooke bill dealt with contractors who refuse to sign waivers of immunity and testify before grand juries on questions about the contracts. These men, under Cooke's measure, would be made ineligible to bid on any public contract in the state.

An intensive probe into the granting of Buffalo paving contracts has been hampered by refusal of some witnesses to waive immunity.

Other bills introduced would.

Make airlines operating in the state subject to control by the Public Service Commission, just like railroads and bus lines: Sen. Robert C. McEwen (R-Ogdensburg) and Assemblyman Robert G. Main (R-Malone).

Fix the state's primary election on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, instead of the seventh Tuesday before the November election: Cooke.

9,000 Remain Idle

SALAMANCA, N. Y. (AP)—The largest industry in this western New York city of 9,000 remained idle today.

About 400 workers struck the Fancher Furniture Co. Monday in a wage dispute. Pickets were posted at the company's three buildings. Negotiations were to continue today.

A spokesman for the Carpenters and Joiners Union said it wanted a 20-cents-an-hour increase. The company said it was offering three cents an hour this year and another three cents in 1960.

Present wage scales were not disclosed.

At peak operation, the company employs about 500.

Sitter, Parents Charged in Baby's Death in Blaze

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A baby sitter and the parents of a five-month-old girl have been charged with misdemeanors in the baby's death in a fire.

The baby sitter, Mrs. Clara Morrow, 21, was charged Monday with endangering the life of a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman LaPlant, the parents, were charged with failing to provide a competent person to care for their baby.

A mental examination was to be scheduled for Mrs. Morrow after her arraignment today in city court.

Police said Mrs. Morrow fled from the burning LaPlant home last Saturday night while the parents were at a movie.

Investigators said she carried out her own 18-day-old son, but left the four LaPlant children behind. Firemen rescued three of them, aged 1, 2 and 3. The body of Joanne was found on a davenport in the two-story frame house.

Police said Mrs. Morrow could give no coherent explanation of what happened.

LaPlant, 26, a factory worker, and his wife, Elizabeth, 23, were to be arraigned Wednesday.

City Council Asking That GE Get Job

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The Schenectady city council wants the federal government to cancel a multi-million dollar contract awarded by the Tennessee Valley Authority to a British firm.

TVA has rejected a request that it reconsider its award of a $12,095,000 contract for steam turbine generators to C. A. Parsons & Co. Ltd. of Newcastle, Eng.

Mid-Week Lenten Services Slated

St. Paul's Lutheran

A second in the series of Lenten services will be held Wenesday 7:30 p. m. The pastor, the Rev. Olney E. Cook will speak on the theme "The Lamb of God" based on the inspired statements concerning the Lord Jesus as recorded in the first chapter of the Gospel of St. John.

Those attending will bring their Gospels of John, and any who have not received a copy may get one from the ushers. The service will open with the evening suffrages, followed by singspiration time, using some of the old familiar Lenten hymns.

There will be special music including the popular Gospel hymn "Look to the Lamb of God" by Black. At the close there will be a few moments of silent meditation with requests for prayer, followed by a special prayer and praise.

Area Episcopal

The Rev. George Detor, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New Paltz and chaplain to the Episcopal students at State University of New York, Teachers College, New Paltz, will be the preacher at the regular Wednesday evening Lenten service of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge and St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls.

Father Detor is a graduate of Syracuse University and the Seabury Western Theological Seminary and was priest-in-charge of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Binghamton, and St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Harpursville, before coming to St. Andrew's, New Paltz.

The service will be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls at 7:45 p. m. according to the Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge. A coffee hour will follow in the parish hall. The public may attend.

Flatbush Reformed

Flatbush Reformed Church, Route 32, the township of Saugerties, is conducting special mid-week Lenten services Thursday 7:30 p. m. through Lent. At the fortcoming service of worship the Rev. Patrick Vostello, pastor of the Church of the Comforter, Kingston, will occupy the pulpit and deliver the Lenten address. Senior choir, under the direction of Beatrice Bright, organist and choir director, will provide the special music. Members and friends of the church are urged to attend.

Redeemer Lutheran

The series of mid-week Lenten services at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets, continues at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will deal with the subject, "Justification by Faith" and will be based on the suggested Bible readings for the week in Redeemer's "Word and Worship" Lenten program for 1959.

The music for vespers will include the organ selections Elevation by Mehul, Adagio by Page and God the Father, Be Our Stay by Scheidt, played by Mrs. Lester Decker. Beside traditionl Lenten hymns, the eyening service will include a penitential psalm, the reading of the account of Christ's last days on earth and special intercessory prayers.

The Lenten services are open to all and copies of the Bible reading schedule and sermon topics for the 40 days of Lent will be in the usher's hands for those who wish them.

Following the service, the choir will remain for its weekly rehearsal and the Redeemer Women's Club will meet in the parish house.

Immanuel Lutheran

The second mid-week Lenten service of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston Street, will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. There will be a reading of a part of the history of the Passion of Our Lord at each of these Lenten services. The pastor, the Rev. Martin P. Dienst will preach on the theme "Christ the King." The children's choir under the direction of Paul Dahl will sing. Fay R. Richert will be organist.

Fair Street Reformed

The Rev. Don De Yong, pastor of the Elmendorf Church of the East Harlem Protestant Parish, will be the speaker at the first of the regular weekly Lenten suppers at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Wednesday evening. The Rev. Mr. De Yong will bring films and talk about the work the Dutch Reformed Church is doing in this critical home mission field.

For many years the Rev. Mr. De Yong has been associated with the work in East Harlem and his appearance here offers the people of Kingston an unusual opportunity to gain greater insight into the problems of race and creed as they are being made by this interracial project among New York's teeming millions.

The meeting will begin promptly at 6:15 p. m. with a covered dish supper served by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Garlick. After dinner a creche will be provided for pre-school children and for children of primary and junior department levels. A film will be shown in the primary assembly room under the direction of the Youth Commission.

The Rev. Mr. De Yong's program will begin at 7:15 and conclude by 8:15 o'clock.

Ashby Guilty

clerk whether an agreement had been arrived at Miss Kitsos announced the verdict "guilty of perjury in the second degree under both counts."

The jury was individually polled and each gave the same reply.

Justice Greenberg thanked the jurors for their conscientious service and said it had "rendered the community a fine and effective service" and they were discharged from the case.

Reserves Right on Motions

Haver on behalf of the defendant reserved his right to make motions directed to the verdict and Justice Greenberg announced an adjournment of court until Thursday at 10 a. m., when sentence will be pronounced.

After the jury had reported Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins told reporters he was "satisfied the jury has done the right thing."

Extent of Penalty

The maximum penalty for perjury second degree is one year imprisonment or a $500 fine or both under each of the two counts. Conviction of first degree perjury would have carried with it a maximum sentence of 5 years in prison or a $5,000 fine or both.

Edwin W. Ashby, Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors now on leave at his own request, was charged with perjury, first degree, and also under a second count in the indictment of perjury, second degree, arising out of testimony he gave before the special grand jury investigating "kickbacks" in Ulster County.

Development of Case

Ashby on October 2, 1958, went before the grand jury and under oath, after signing a limited waiver of immunity, testified he had gone to Troy where he received checks from the late Frank Buckley, dealer in Walters trucks and snow removal equipment, for "bird-dogging" or giving tips on where equipment might be sold.

He was informed that the prosecution did not believe that story. Later, on October 27, 1958, he went before the grand jury, after obtaining counsel, and said the checks amounting to over $19,000 were not for commissions.

Ashby then said he had been sent to Troy to see Buckley by former Senator Arthur H. Wicks, to do as Buckley said. He said he cashed the checks and gave the money back to Buckley except for small amounts he was given as compensation for his visits.

The prosecution claimed this story was untrue and after Ashby appeared a third time before the grand jury he was indicted for perjury.

Nothing Set on Steuding

The Ashby case is the first to be tried since the special investigation was instituted last March and Senator Bernard Tompkins was named to conduct the probe. There is a second indictment pending, that charging former Superintendent of Public Works of Kingston Ernest A. Steuding with receiving money while a public official.

The Steuding indictment, returned last December, has not been moved for trial.

Special Prosecutor Tompkins when asked last night after the Ashby jury had reported, stated that he had nothing definite to say at this time as when the Steuding indictment might be moved for trial.

"Give me a little time to think it over" was Tompkins reply.

Verdict Gratifying

Comment today by Prosecutor Tompkins was:

"The verdict of the jury last night, finding Edwin W. Ashby guilty of perjury was highly gratifying. There is no doubt that this verdict was a clear and significant expression of the unbiased representatives of the community. It demonstrates beyond doubt that the people, and particularly the taxpayers want these charges of official corruption in Ulster County thoroughly aired.

"It is also clear that the people will not permit perjury or any other obstructive tactics to stand in the way of our search for the truth.

Will Continue Probing

"There is no doubt that yesterday our inquiry was at the crossroads. All the resources of those under investigation were thrown in on behalf of this so-called 'Little Man' who was obviously selected by them as a symbol to create an issue which was hoped would stop our investigation in its tracks.

"Needless to say, our inquiry will continue to be pressed with full vigor. The implications involved must be clear to every one."

Ceremony Tonight At St. Philomena's Starts Fund Drive

The Most Reverend John M. A. Fearns, DD, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of New York, and pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, Manhattan, will preside this evening at the ceremonies marking the start of the general solicitation phase of the St. Philomena Fund Campaign.

Starting at 7:30 o'clock in St. Philomena Church on East Chester Street by-pass near Albany Avenue Extension, the ceremonies will include a talk by Bishop Fearns, an individual blessing of each committeeman, and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Following the ceremonies, the committeemen will receive their assignments and start Wednesday to call upon St. Philomena parishioners for contributions to the campaign.

During the two week advance memorial gifts phase, under the chairmanship of Edward J. Devine, a total of $73,568 had been reported in pledges, representing approximately half the campaign minimum need of $150,000. Proceeds from the fund raising appeal will be used to help finance part of the construction cost for a multipurpose room with an Eucharistic Chapel at Lake Katrine.

Louis A. DiDonna and Andrew A. Daly are general co-chairmen of the campaign and Albert D. DiDonna is chairman of the business and industrial committee.

problem from Paris to Washington.

Earlier tentative plans had been to hold the Paris session next month. Now the talk is about holding it here about April 1.

A major factor in such a shift would be to permit Dulles to take part, if he is able, without a long journey.

The meeting of officials from the United States, Britain, France and West Germany had been arranged to work toward new proposals on German unification and European security in advance of a projected conference with the Soviet Union — in late April or early May.

If his health will permit, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles plans to take an active role in the shaping of Western policy. He will be confined to Walter Reed Hospital for several weeks, at least, undergoing cancer treatment.

Ministers Due Here

Diplomats said that a meeting of his Western colleagues in Washington rather than Paris would permit some consultation with Dulles as well as with other top U.S. officials.

Foreign ministers of all the 15 North Atlantic Treaty countries are due here April 2 for a 10th anniversary celebration of the creation of NATO, and the meeting could be held about that time.

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced Monday night that a special assistant, Joseph N. Greene Jr., spent a half hour with Dulles and gave him "a brief oral summary of current developments in international affairs."

Rests in Chair

Dulles, who underwent a hernia operation last Friday, left his bed and sat in a chair for about 30 minutes during the day.

White said that Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commandant, had called in Dr. Gordon Zubrod, clinical director of the National Cancer Institute. Dr. Zubrod will be consulted on the treatment and presumably will try to determine the extent of the abdominal glandular cancer found as a result of the hernia operation.

Dr. Heaton expects to start radiation treatment later this week.

ing the dinner scheduled for Saturday night, June 13.

Additional details on the identity of these two persons will be made known at a later date.

According to the chairmen planning the big reunion, upwards of 500 graduates are expected to attend with their wives and husbands.

Each graduate will be contacted shortly by mail with full instructions as to how they may register for the Class Reunion Weekend.

THE DEATH OF DOLLAR ISOLATION

The economic-political world is entirely too big for millions of investors to comprehend. As a result, they get swallowed up in it and fail to adjust their affairs to its conditions.

Today it is futile to try to isolate dollars from the tides of inflation. This dominant force is present in prices, wages, costs and taxes, and it invades our social, economic, political and moral life. It has become a part of our total society.

It is pathetic when people try to escape its consequences. Such action makes them suffer—often cruelly. Let me illustrate what I mean.

In 1937, a widow was left $50,000. She deposited it all in banks paying about 4 per cent a year. For about ten years around World War II time, her interest was cut to 1½ per cent and her income went from $2,000 a year to $750. In the meantime her living costs more than doubled and her living standards were drastically lowered.

She still has her $50,000 and her yearly income is only $1,625 —a sum totally inadequate to her needs. Her dollars are in this world but they are isolated from the ravages of inflation, hence her acute suffering.

I advocate savings bank accounts heartily, but not to this extent. Five thousand dollars in savings banks and $45,000 in sound securities of corporations successfully battling the tides of inflation would be even today a far better program.

Likewise, hundreds of committees and managers of fiduciary funds are and have been seeking refuge from inflation by choosing the wrong methods of escape.

High grade, low-yielding bonds are poor shelters. A committee responsible for the careful management of $500,000 bought $100,000 of top grade 2½ per cent medium term bonds at 99. They are now selling at 84 and the paper loss is around $15,000.

The committee, faced with higher salary and wage demands at the home partially supported by this bond interest, had an emergency meeting recently. It is caught by the vortex of rising costs and depreciating values and the members of the committee are wondering if a complete revision of investment policies is not in order. It is.

Social, economic and political isolation are on the way out. And all investors who fail to recognize this truth are eventually going to suffer.

To understand this, one can collect the news items in the leading papers telling of the activities in Washington aimed at maintaining a balanced economy in our own country. Whether Uncle Sam's yearly budgets are under or over 80 billions of dollars, they are so terrifically large that even the smallest investors should realize that he is part and parcel of a gigantic machine and to try to isolate himself from it is useless.

In 1959, it is more important than ever that all investors have a balanced portfolio. Dollars and fixed dollar values have fared badly for two decades. That will be true in the years ahead.

Right now, a committee responsible for the management of half a million dollars should have at least 50 per cent of this invested in values carrying protection against further dollar deterioration in terms of purchasing power.

The day of dollar isolation is ending.

(Q) "I am a widow, age 72, with $40,000 earning 3 per cent a year. How can I increase my income?"

S. H. B.

(A) Buy for about $8,400, $10,000 worth of U. S. bonds selling to yield 4 per cent. Invest $10,000 in high grade preferred stocks yielding 4½ per cent. Leave $5,000 where it is. Invest the rest in sound common stocks carrying dependable income and growth.

West Saugerties School Auction Set on Wednesday

The fifth in the series of common district school house auctions will be held at the one-room West Saugerties School Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Resident taxpayers of the former common school district voted to close the school and sell the building and property on March 11, 1957. The vote to sell was 30 to 2.

The building is located on West Saugerties Road near the banks of the Plattekill. It is reportedly over 75 years old.

The one-room Blue Mountain School will be auctioned Wednesday, February 25 at 7:30 p. m.

Schools recently sold were: High Woods, to High Woods Reformed Church for $1,345; Veteran Stone House, to James Igoe for $3,800; Fish Creek, to Mrs. Elizabeth Lanigan for $1,250, and Daisy, to Irving J. Cousins for $2,750.

Others to be sold are schools at West Camp, Glenerie, Quarryville and Saxton.

Spanish War Vets Honored at Maine Memorial Services

Services were conducted by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary. Auxiliary President Mrs. Eileen Hommel placed a wreath on the stone base which supports the bronze plaque. Commander Francis Hallion and Chaplain Arthur DeCelle read the tributes to the deceased veterans.

Post member Bernard E. McCutcheon and Charles Arold Sr., of the Dads of Foreign Service Vets served as color guards. Mrs. Helen Gardner and Mrs. Gertrude Bell were color bearers. A nine gun salute was fired and taps were sounded by Clifford Lewis of Malden, a member of Port Ewen Colonial Cadets.

Formal presentation of 12 American flags to the Main Street School will be held Tuesday, Feb. 24, it was announced by Mrs. Hazel Drewes, Americanism chairman at a recent meeting of the VFW Auxiliary.

Also announced at the meeting was the next blood bank drawing to be held on March 19. Blood-bank chairman, Miss Marie M. McCutcheon said she was pleased with the response to the last appeal that gave the bank 54 pints of blood, a value of $1,890. The March drawing will have to register from 35 to 40 new donors, said Miss McCutcheon.

The next County Council meeting is scheduled for March 1 at Kingston. Memorial services for deceased members will be held. Mrs. Drewes is compiling a list of the deceased members in the Saugerties Auxiliary. Special sale will be held at this meeting. Those attending are asked to bring a gift. April's County Council meeting will be in Saugerties at which time Department President Vivian Murphy will visit.

April 1 was decided upon as the date for a card party, the first of the year. In charge will be Mrs. Albertina Connolly, Mrs. Caroline Markmiller and Mrs. Rose Hinchey. Those in charge of the special sales will be Mrs. Shirley and Mrs. Jacqueline Bach.

The next meeting is slated for Wednesday, March 11.

Centerville Tops Dartball League,

Centerville winning a 2 to 1 split from American Legion took undisputed position of first place in Saugerties Dartball League Monday night as Katsbaan dropped two games to Service Center B's.

Centerville in a tie for first last week with Katsbaan now has a one-game lead. The B's strengthened their position in third place and now stand two games out of first place.

Glasco AC's with a 2 to 1 win over Mt. Marion, and Cementon's 2 to 1 split over Centerville Vols held their positions in the important five circle. Teams in the first five play in the series and playoffs.

Other scores: West Camp 3, Glasco Vols 0; Cedar Grove 2, Service Center A's 1; Veteran 3, Quarryville 0. The Ruby-Trinity games were postponed and will be played later in the week.

Dartball League Meeting to Plan Banquet, Play-offs

Preparation for the Saugerties Dartball League play-offs and series will be discussed at a special meeting of the league Thursday, March 12 at 7:30 p. m. in Centerville Methodist Church Hall.

Rules for the annual end-of-the-season events will be discussed, according to Virgil Finger, league president.

The second, third, fourth and fifth place teams in the standing at the close of the regular season will meet in the play-offs to determine the winner who will meet the league pennant winner in the Saugerties Dartball Little World series.

The series winner will be awarded the league trophy. Awards will also be made to the play-off winner and pennant winner.

The annual banquet is held prior to the games. The time and place of the annual event will be decided at the meeting.

Dr. Arnold's Condition 'Serious' at Hospital

Dr. Henry J. Arnold of Stroomzeit, Saugerties president emeritus of Hartwick College, Oneonta, was reported still "in serious condition" this weekend at Halifax Hospital, Daytona Beach, Fla., where he suffered a coronary attack.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnold were vacationing at the beach resort when he suffered the attack.

Well-known in the Saugerties area, he is a church councilman of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp, and heads the remodeling fund drive of the church.

The church is in the midst of a $30,000 fund raising campaign to remodel the church for its 250th anniversary in 1960. The church was founded in 1710 by the Palatines.

Game Manager Hall Receives Promotion

Albert G. Hall of Stamford, well-known to Saugerties sportsmen as the district game manager for the Catskill District, has been promoted to the position of chief of the Division of Game of the State Conservation Department, according to an announcement this week by Commissioner Harold G. Wilm.

He succeeds Dr. E. L. Cheatum who was promoted to the post of assistant director of the department's fish and game division.

In another promotion, John D. Gould of Millbrook was named district fisheries manager for the southern district with headquarters in Poughkeepsie. He succeeds Cecil Heacox, who was appointed secretary to the department. All four conservation men are well known to Saugerties area sportsmen and some have been guest speakers at meetings of Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

Hall, district game manager since 1946, was trained at Cornell University and joined the department as a game research specialist in 1940. He served in that capacity until his promotion six years later as district game manager.

Malden-W. Camp Notes

The Auxiliary of Malden - West Camp Fire Company meets tonight at 8 o'clock in Malden fire station. Plans for spring activities will be discussed.

The women of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp will conduct a sewing bee including the making of cancer dressings Thursday at 10 a. m. in the parish hall. A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12 noon. The women will then attend the Lenten week of prayer services in the parish hall at 1 p. m. Mrs. Betty Knaust will be the leader of the topic, "We Pray for Liberia."

The Couples Club of the West Camp Church meets Saturday at 8 p. m. in the parish hall. New members will be welcomed at this meeting. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of the church will present the topic of the program.

Adult Education Notes

Saugerties Adult Education physical fitness course for women originally scheduled for this evening has been postponed to Tuesday, Feb. 24 at 7:30 p. m. at Saugerties High School.

The class will be taught by Miss Virginia Reime, physical education instructor.

The child psychology course will also begin Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Saugerties High School. This course will be taught by the Rev. Garnett M. Wilder, pastor of Woodstock Methodist Church, and should be of special interest to parents, non-professional teachers and other adults who work with young people.

Those interested in joining either class may register at class time. There will be a moderate fee.

Mid-Week Lenten Services Slated

St. Paul's Lutheran

A second in the series of Lenten services will be held Wenesday 7:30 p. m. The pastor, the Rev. Olney E. Cook will speak on the theme "The Lamb of God" based on the inspired statements concerning the Lord Jesus as recorded in the first chapter of the Gospel of St. John.

Those attending will bring their Gospels of John, and any who have not received a copy may get one from the ushers. The service will open with the evening suffrages, followed by singspiration time, using some of the old familiar Lenten hymns.

There will be special music including the popular Gospel hymn "Look to the Lamb of God" by Black. At the close there will be a few moments of silent meditation with requests for prayer, followed by a special prayer and praise.

Area Episcopal

The Rev. George Detor, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New Paltz and chaplain to the Episcopal students at State University of New York, Teachers College, New Paltz, will be the preacher at the regular Wednesday evening Lenten service of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge and St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls.

Father Detor is a graduate of Syracuse University and the Seabury Western Theological Seminary and was priest-in-charge of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Binghamton, and St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Harpursville, before coming to St. Andrew's, New Paltz.

The service will be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, High Falls at 7:45 p. m. according to the Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge. A coffee hour will follow in the parish hall. The public may attend.

Flatbush Reformed

Flatbush Reformed Church, Route 32, the township of Saugerties, is conducting special mid-week Lenten services Thursday 7:30 p. m. through Lent. At the fortcoming service of worship the Rev. Patrick Vostello, pastor of the Church of the Comforter, Kingston, will occupy the pulpit and deliver the Lenten address. Senior choir, under the direction of Beatrice Bright, organist and choir director, will provide the special music. Members and friends of the church are urged to attend.

Redeemer Lutheran

The series of mid-week Lenten services at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets, continues at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will deal with the subject, "Justification by Faith" and will be based on the suggested Bible readings for the week in Redeemer's "Word and Worship" Lenten program for 1959.

The music for vespers will include the organ selections Elevation by Mehul, Adagio by Page and God the Father, Be Our Stay by Scheidt, played by Mrs. Lester Decker. Beside traditionl Lenten hymns, the eyening service will include a penitential psalm, the reading of the account of Christ's last days on earth and special intercessory prayers.

The Lenten services are open to all and copies of the Bible reading schedule and sermon topics for the 40 days of Lent will be in the usher's hands for those who wish them.

Following the service, the choir will remain for its weekly rehearsal and the Redeemer Women's Club will meet in the parish house.

Immanuel Lutheran

The second mid-week Lenten service of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston Street, will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. There will be a reading of a part of the history of the Passion of Our Lord at each of these Lenten services. The pastor, the Rev. Martin P. Dienst will preach on the theme "Christ the King." The children's choir under the direction of Paul Dahl will sing. Fay R. Richert will be organist.

Fair Street Reformed

The Rev. Don De Yong, pastor of the Elmendorf Church of the East Harlem Protestant Parish, will be the speaker at the first of the regular weekly Lenten suppers at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Wednesday evening. The Rev. Mr. De Yong will bring films and talk about the work the Dutch Reformed Church is doing in this critical home mission field.

For many years the Rev. Mr. De Yong has been associated with the work in East Harlem and his appearance here offers the people of Kingston an unusual opportunity to gain greater insight into the problems of race and creed as they are being made by this interracial project among New York's teeming millions.

The meeting will begin promptly at 6:15 p. m. with a covered dish supper served by a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Garlick. After dinner a creche will be provided for pre-school children and for children of primary and junior department levels. A film will be shown in the primary assembly room under the direction of the Youth Commission.

The Rev. Mr. De Yong's program will begin at 7:15 and conclude by 8:15 o'clock.

Ashby Guilty

clerk whether an agreement had been arrived at Miss Kitsos announced the verdict "guilty of perjury in the second degree under both counts."

The jury was individually polled and each gave the same reply.

Justice Greenberg thanked the jurors for their conscientious service and said it had "rendered the community a fine and effective service" and they were discharged from the case.

Reserves Right on Motions

Haver on behalf of the defendant reserved his right to make motions directed to the verdict and Justice Greenberg announced an adjournment of court until Thursday at 10 a. m., when sentence will be pronounced.

After the jury had reported Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins told reporters he was "satisfied the jury has done the right thing."

Extent of Penalty

The maximum penalty for perjury second degree is one year imprisonment or a $500 fine or both under each of the two counts. Conviction of first degree perjury would have carried with it a maximum sentence of 5 years in prison or a $5,000 fine or both.

Edwin W. Ashby, Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors now on leave at his own request, was charged with perjury, first degree, and also under a second count in the indictment of perjury, second degree, arising out of testimony he gave before the special grand jury investigating "kickbacks" in Ulster County.

Development of Case

Ashby on October 2, 1958, went before the grand jury and under oath, after signing a limited waiver of immunity, testified he had gone to Troy where he received checks from the late Frank Buckley, dealer in Walters trucks and snow removal equipment, for "bird-dogging" or giving tips on where equipment might be sold.

He was informed that the prosecution did not believe that story. Later, on October 27, 1958, he went before the grand jury, after obtaining counsel, and said the checks amounting to over $19,000 were not for commissions.

Ashby then said he had been sent to Troy to see Buckley by former Senator Arthur H. Wicks, to do as Buckley said. He said he cashed the checks and gave the money back to Buckley except for small amounts he was given as compensation for his visits.

The prosecution claimed this story was untrue and after Ashby appeared a third time before the grand jury he was indicted for perjury.

Nothing Set on Steuding

The Ashby case is the first to be tried since the special investigation was instituted last March and Senator Bernard Tompkins was named to conduct the probe. There is a second indictment pending, that charging former Superintendent of Public Works of Kingston Ernest A. Steuding with receiving money while a public official.

The Steuding indictment, returned last December, has not been moved for trial.

Special Prosecutor Tompkins when asked last night after the Ashby jury had reported, stated that he had nothing definite to say at this time as when the Steuding indictment might be moved for trial.

"Give me a little time to think it over" was Tompkins reply.

Verdict Gratifying

Comment today by Prosecutor Tompkins was:

"The verdict of the jury last night, finding Edwin W. Ashby guilty of perjury was highly gratifying. There is no doubt that this verdict was a clear and significant expression of the unbiased representatives of the community. It demonstrates beyond doubt that the people, and particularly the taxpayers want these charges of official corruption in Ulster County thoroughly aired.

"It is also clear that the people will not permit perjury or any other obstructive tactics to stand in the way of our search for the truth.

Will Continue Probing

"There is no doubt that yesterday our inquiry was at the crossroads. All the resources of those under investigation were thrown in on behalf of this so-called 'Little Man' who was obviously selected by them as a symbol to create an issue which was hoped would stop our investigation in its tracks.

"Needless to say, our inquiry will continue to be pressed with full vigor. The implications involved must be clear to every one."

Ceremony Tonight At St. Philomena's Starts Fund Drive

The Most Reverend John M. A. Fearns, DD, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of New York, and pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, Manhattan, will preside this evening at the ceremonies marking the start of the general solicitation phase of the St. Philomena Fund Campaign.

Starting at 7:30 o'clock in St. Philomena Church on East Chester Street by-pass near Albany Avenue Extension, the ceremonies will include a talk by Bishop Fearns, an individual blessing of each committeeman, and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Following the ceremonies, the committeemen will receive their assignments and start Wednesday to call upon St. Philomena parishioners for contributions to the campaign.

During the two week advance memorial gifts phase, under the chairmanship of Edward J. Devine, a total of $73,568 had been reported in pledges, representing approximately half the campaign minimum need of $150,000. Proceeds from the fund raising appeal will be used to help finance part of the construction cost for a multi-purpose room with an Eucharistic Chapel at Lake Katrine.

Louis A. DiDonna and Andrew A. Daly are general co-chairmen of the campaign and Albert D. DiDonna is chairman of the business and industrial committee.

problem from Paris to Washington.

Earlier tentative plans had been to hold the Paris session next month. Now the talk is about holding it here about April 1.

A major factor in such a shift would be to permit Dulles to take part, if he is able, without a long journey.

The meeting of officials from the United States, Britain, France and West Germany had been arranged to work toward new proposals on German unification and European security in advance of a projected conference with the Soviet Union — in late April or early May.

If his health will permit, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles plans to take an active role in the shaping of Western policy. He will be confined to Walter Reed Hospital for several weeks, at least, undergoing cancer treatment.

Ministers Due Here

Diplomats said that a meeting of his Western colleagues in Washington rather than Paris would permit some consultation with Dulles as well as with other top U.S. officials.

Foreign ministers of all the 15 North Atlantic Treaty countries are due here April 2 for a 10th anniversary celebration of the creation of NATO, and the meeting could be held about that time.

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced Monday night that a special assistant, Joseph N. Greene Jr., spent a half hour with Dulles and gave him "a brief oral summary of current developments in international affairs."

Rests in Chair

White said that Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commandant, had called in Dr. Gordon Zubrod, clinical director of the National Cancer Institute. Dr. Zubrod will be consulted on the treatment and presumably will try to determine the extent of the abdominal glandular cancer found as a result of the hernia operation.

Dr. Heaton expects to start radiation treatment later this week.

ing the dinner scheduled for Saturday night, June 13.

Additional details on the identity of these two persons will be made known at a later date.

According to the chairmen planning the big reunion, upwards of 500 graduates are expected to attend with their wives and husbands.

Each graduate will be contacted shortly by mail with full instructions as to how they may register for the Class Reunion Weekend.

THE DEATH OF DOLLAR ISOLATION

The economic-political world is entirely too big for millions of investors to comprehend. As a result, they get swallowed up in it and fail to adjust their affairs to its conditions.

Today it is futile to try to isolate dollars from the tides of inflation. This dominant force is present in prices, wages, costs and taxes, and it invades our social, economic, political and moral life. It has become a part of our total society.

It is pathetic when people try to escape its consequences. Such action makes them suffer—often cruelly. Let me illustrate what I mean.

In 1937, a widow was left $50,000. She deposited it all in banks paying about 4 per cent a year. For about ten years around World War II time, her interest was cut to 1½ per cent and her income went from $2,000 a year to $750. In the meantime her living costs more than doubled and her living standards were drastically lowered.

She still has her $50,000 and her yearly income is only $1,625—a sum totally inadequate to her needs. Her dollars are in this world but they are isolated from the ravages of inflation, hence her acute suffering.

I advocate savings bank accounts heartily, but not to this extent. Five thousand dollars in savings banks and $45,000 in sound securities of corporations successfully battling the tides of inflation would be even today a far better program.

Likewise, hundreds of committees and managers of fiduciary funds are and have been seeking refuge from inflation by choosing the wrong methods of escape.

High grade, low-yielding bonds are poor shelters. A committee responsible for the careful management of $500,000 bought $100,000 of top grade 2½ per cent medium term bonds at 99. They are now selling at 84 and the paper loss is around $15,000.

The committee, faced with higher salary and wage demands at the home partially supported by this bond interest, had an emergency meeting recently. It is caught by the vortex of rising costs and depreciating values and the members of the committee are wondering if a complete revision of investment policies is not in order. It is.

Social, economic and political isolation are on the way out. And all investors who fail to recognize this truth are eventually going to suffer.

To understand this, one can collect the news items in the leading papers telling of the activities in Washington aimed at maintaining a balanced economy in our own country. Whether Uncle Sam's yearly budgets are under or over 80 billions of dollars, they are so terrifically large that even the smallest investors should realize that he is part and parcel of a gigantic machine and to try to isolate himself from it is useless.

In 1959, it is more important than ever that all investors have a balanced portfolio. Dollars and fixed dollar values have fared badly for two decades. That will be true in the years ahead.

Right now, a committee responsible for the management of half a million dollars should have at least 50 per cent of this invested in values carrying protection against further dollar deterioration in terms of purchasing power.

The day of dollar isolation is ending.

(Q) "I am a widow, age 72, with $40,000 earning 3 per cent a year. How can I increase my income?"

S. H. B.

(A) Buy for about $8,400, $10,000 worth of U. S. bonds selling to yield 4 per cent. Invest $10,000 in high grade preferred stocks yielding 4½ per cent. Leave $5,000 where it is. Invest the rest in sound common stocks carrying dependable income and growth.

West Saugerties School Auction Set on Wednesday

The fifth in the series of common district school house auctions will be held at the one-room West Saugerties School Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Resident taxpayers of the former common school district voted to close the school and sell the building and property on March 11, 1957. The vote to sell was 30 to 2.

The building is located on West Saugerties Road near the banks of the Plattekill. It is reportedly over 75 years old.

The one-room Blue Mountain School will be auctioned Wednesday, February 25 at 7:30 p. m.

Schools recently sold were: High Woods, to High Woods Reformed Church for $1,345; Veteran Stone House, to James Igoe for $3,800; Fish Creek, to Mrs. Elizabeth Lanigan for $1,250, and Daisy, to Irving J. Cousins for $2,750.

Others to be sold are schools at West Camp, Glenerie, Quarryville and Saxton.

Spanish War Vets Honored at Maine Memorial Services

Services were conducted by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary. Auxiliary President Mrs. Eileen Hommel placed a wreath on the stone base which supports the bronze plaque. Commander Francis Hallion and Chaplain Arthur DeCelle read the tributes to the deceased veterans.

Post member Bernard E. McCutcheon and Charles Arold Sr., of the Dads of Foreign Service Vets served as color guards. Mrs. Helen Gardner and Mrs. Gertrude Bell were color bearers. A nine gun salute was fired and taps were sounded by Clifford Lewis of Malden, a member of Port Ewen Colonial Cadets.

Formal presentation of 12 American flags to the Main Street School will be held Tuesday, Feb. 24, it was announced by Mrs. Hazel Drewes, Americanism chairman at a recent meeting of the VFW Auxiliary.

Also announced at the meeting was the next blood bank drawing to be held on March 19. Blood-bank chairman, Miss Marie M. McCutcheon said she was pleased with the response to the last appeal that gave the bank 54 pints of blood, a value of $1,890. The March drawing will have to register from 35 to 40 new donors, said Miss McCutcheon.

The next County Council meeting is scheduled for March 1 at Kingston. Memorial services for deceased members will be held. Mrs. Drewes is compiling a list of the deceased members in the Saugerties Auxiliary. Special sale will be held at this meeting. Those attending are asked to bring a gift. April's County Council meeting will be in Saugerties at which time Department President Vivian Murphy will visit.

April 1 was decided upon as the date for a card party, the first of the year. In charge will be Mrs. Albertina Connolly, Mrs. Caroline Markmiller and Mrs. Rose Hinchey. Those in charge of the special sales will be Mrs. Shirley and Mrs. Jacqueline Bach.

The next meeting is slated for Wednesday, March 11.

Centerville Tops Dartball League,

Centerville winning a 2 to 1 split from American Legion took undisputed position of first place in Saugerties Dartball League Monday night as Katsbaan dropped two games to Service Center B's.

Centerville in a tie for first last week with Katsbaan now has a one-game lead. The B's strengthened their position in third place and now stand two games out of first place.

Glasco AC's with a 2 to 1 win over Mt. Marion, and Cementon's 2 to 1 split over Centerville Vols held their positions in the important five circle. Teams in the first five play in the series and playoffs.

Other scores: West Camp 3, Glasco Vols 0; Cedar Grove 2, Service Center A's 1; Veteran 3, Quarryville 0. The Ruby-Trinity games were postponed and will be played later in the week.

Dartball League Meeting to Plan Banquet, Play-offs

Preparation for the Saugerties Dartball League play-offs and series will be discussed at a special meeting of the league Thursday, March 12 at 7:30 p. m. in Centerville Methodist Church Hall.

Rules for the annual end-of-the-season events will be discussed, according to Virgil Finger, league president.

The second, third, fourth and fifth place teams in the standing at the close of the regular season will meet in the play-offs to determine the winner who will meet the league pennant winner in the Saugerties Dartball Little World series.

The series winner will be awarded the league trophy. Awards will also be made to the play-off winner and pennant winner.

The annual banquet is held prior to the games. The time and place of the annual event will be decided at the meeting.

Dr. Arnold's Condition 'Serious' at Hospital

Dr. Henry J. Arnold of Stroomzeit, Saugerties president emeritus of Hartwick College, Oneonta, was reported still "in serious condition" this weekend at Halifax Hospital, Daytona Beach, Fla., where he suffered a coronary attack.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnold were vacationing at the beach resort when he suffered the attack.

Well-known in the Saugerties area, he is a church councilman of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp, and heads the remodeling fund drive of the church.

The church is in the midst of a $30,000 fund raising campaign to remodel the church for its 250th anniversary in 1960. The church was founded in 1710 by the Palatines.

Game Manager Hall Receives Promotion

Albert G. Hall of Stamford, well-known to Saugerties sportsmen as the district game manager for the Catskill District, has been promoted to the position of chief of the Division of Game of the State Conservation Department, according to an announcement this week by Commissioner Harold G. Wilm.

He succeeds Dr. E. L. Cheatum who was promoted to the post of assistant director of the department's fish and game division.

In another promotion, John D. Gould of Millbrook was named district fisheries manager for the southern district with headquarters in Poughkeepsie. He succeeds Cecil Heacox, who was appointed secretary to the department. All four conservation men are well known to Saugerties area sportsmen and some have been guest speakers at meetings of Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

Hall, district game manager since 1946, was trained at Cornell University and joined the department as a game research specialist in 1940. He served in that capacity until his promotion six years later as district game manager.

Malden-W. Camp Notes

The Auxiliary of Malden-West Camp Fire Company meets tonight at 8 o'clock in Malden fire station. Plans for spring activities will be discussed.

The women of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp will conduct a sewing bee including the making of cancer dressings Thursday at 10 a. m. in the parish hall. A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12 noon. The women will then attend the Lenten week of prayer services in the parish hall at 1 p. m. Mrs. Betty Knaust will be the leader of the topic, "We Pray for Liberia."

The Couples Club of the West Camp Church meets Saturday at 8 p. m. in the parish hall. New members will be welcomed at this meeting. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of the church will present the topic of the program.

Adult Education Notes

Saugerties Adult Education physical fitness course for women originally scheduled for this evening has been postponed to Tuesday, Feb. 24 at 7:30 p. m. at Saugerties High School.

The class will be taught by Miss Virginia Reime, physical education instructor.

The child psychology course will also begin Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Saugerties High School. This course will be taught by the Rev. Garnett M. Wilder, pastor of Woodstock Methodist Church, and should be of special interest to parents, non-professional teachers and other adults who work with young people.

Those interested in joining either class may register at class time. There will be a moderate fee.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the season that tries men's souls—and tempers.

Spring won't come and winter won't let go.

Somewhere birds are singing and the sun is shining bright. But not here. If it ain't raining, it's snowing; if it ain't thawing, it's freezing. If the sky ain't clouding up, well—it's about to.

The milk of human kindness is frozen into an unfriendly icicle. The first robin, wearing a bright sunrise-colored vest, arrives on schedule.

No Exceptions, Please

But before this pitchman for warmer weather can sound his first note of cheer someone hits him with a snowball, and he comes down with sore throat and a virus. But he's in good company. Anyone who doesn't have a virus is an exhibitionist.

"The virus seems to be a bit more powerful this year," says the doctor, coughing as his pen scratches across the prescription pad. "Don't know when I've seen so much of it around."

The doctor speaks as cheerfully as he can. But inwardly he is out of patience with patients with the virus. He'd like to find a wonder drug to cure his own virus.

Everybody is out of sorts and grumpy.

Barking Husbands

The laundry puts more starch in everybody's shirt collar—just out of pure cussedness.

The postman swears at the ice on the trees, the snow underfoot. He wonders how many years he'd have to spend in jail if he dumped his mailbag into the nearest sewer—and ran away from home.

The philosophic cab driver is moody and silent. He refuses to solve the problems of his passengers or tell them how to live. To heck with them. Let them pay their fares and get out.

Disposition Factor

The restaurant waiter with the far away look has a look that is farther away than ever. He couldn't see a customer if he had a seeing-eye dog. He doesn't want to see a customer. All the customer will do later is complain to him about the food. The waiter eats the same food. He knows it won't improve until the chef's disposition improves.

It is the dreary time of "the February blues," when the flag of living droops at half-staff. It is a time when the wise man, if he can, hibernates—and waits for a warm wind from the south to bring better days.

Of course, if you're a fighter, there is one thing you can do to whip the doldrums of the spirit that come at this annual calendar crisis.

DesperadoHunted Near Burlington

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — An uneasy pursuit of a notorious desperado—one of the FBI's "10 most wanted" — centered around the sparsely settled New York-Vermont boundary today.

Police warned that the quarry, Frank Lawrence Sprenz, 29, was a crack marksman who would not hesitate to shoot to kill.

Sprenz flew into Burlington Saturday in a stolen plane. He then stole an automobile which was found at Salem, N.Y., close to the state border. The quest took a new turn when the FBI was told a motorist picked up a hitch hiker who answered the fugitive's description in Arlington, Vt., also near the state line Saturday night.

Sprenz stole a plane in Seranton, Pa., Friday night. After landing at Burlington, he walked a mile to used car lot in Winooski, Va., and posing as a prospective purchaser, was allowed to take a machine out for a trial. That was the car found at Salem, N. Y.

Sprenz, who hails from Akron, Ohio, has been at large since he escaped jail there last April. He had been jailed for armed robbery.

Plate Glass Firm To Resume Work

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. pushed preparations today to resume normal production following the end of a 134-day strike of 13,000 employes at nine plants.

Workers, balloting in seven locals of the United Glass & Ceramic Workers Union, voted Monday to accept a memorandum of agreement that union and company negotiators initialed Feb. 11 in Philadelphia.

Chrysler Corp. laid off 14,800 auto workers when exhausted glass supplies slowed auto production. The firm said the first of its furloughed workers will be recalled this week.

Union President Ralph Reiser said the long dispute officially ended Monday night at 8 o'clock. The firm said the first of its furloughed workers will be recalled shortly after. Normal production is expected by Wednesday, the firm said.

Wages had no part in the bitter dispute. Pre-strike agreements on pay scales were applied for the first time when work resumed. The new contract will run through Feb. 15, 1961.

Ex-Assemblyman Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Edmund J. Delany, former Democratic state assemblyman, is dead at 53.

Delany, who served two terms in the Assembly from Manhattan's 12th district from 1938 to 1942, died Monday.

World's shortest street is in El Paso, Tex. Sheldon St., in the city's heart, is only one block long.

Gas Rate Hike Bid Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission has turned down an immediate 8½ per cent natural gas rate increase proposed by North Penn Gas Co., Allegheny, Pa.

The firm had requested permission to put into effect the $389,400 boost this week. It would have affected six wholesale customers in New York and Pennsylvania.

The hike would have been in addition to an increase of $392,800 annually now being collected, subject to refund, in another rate case.

The company based the higher rates principally on increases in the cost of gas purchased from Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, and New York State Natural Gas Corp., Pittsburgh.

Both have suspended increase cases pending before the commission.

The commission said North Penn's claim of higher supplier prices is not supported because these cases have not been decided.

Sees Truckers Going Out of State for Fuel

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) — New York's increases in motor fuel taxes will spur thousands of trucks to buy fuel out of state, a leading trucker maintains.

David Algie, president of the New York Motor Carriers Conference and the Highway Transport Assn. of Upstate New York, said Monday he considered his estimate conservative.

The state taxes will rise March 1 from six to nine cents a gallon on diesel fuel and from four to six cents a gallon on gasoline.

Algie said the Motor Carriers Conference has 350 to 400 members. The other group he heads has a membership of 65, he said.

Dutchess Man Is Picked Up for Quiz on Swindle

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —Police here have picked up a man and woman wanted for questioning in a Rochester, swindle involving $5,242.

Francis C. Bittner, 51, a Poughkeepsie salesman, and Mrs. Daisy Sheeley Switzer, 65, a seamstress from Miami, Fla., sought since last month, were picked up Monday on fugitive charges.

Airliner Avoids Collision With Jet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines Electra narrowly avoided a collision with an Air Force B47 jet bomber near Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday. Three passengers and a stewardess were injured.

Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, the airliner's pilot, said the big bomber shot past 400 feet below the climbing Electra.

The Eastern plane, Flight 127 out of Chicago, was southeast of Chattanooga at 23,000 feet when the incident occurred. Seventeen passengers and a crew of five were on the airliner.

Ruprecht, of Miami Springs, said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane, 1,000 feet below.

He threw the airliner into a 1,500-foot climb.

The Eastern plane was traveling about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said. The bomber was flying at an estimated 600 m.p.h.

The Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn just a few seconds before he pulled up, Ruprecht said, "He must have just seen us."

The stewardess, Miss Lois Borchers of Miami, was treated at North Shore Hospital and released.

6MediumBombers For New Wing at Plattsburg Base

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A second wing of six-jet medium bombers will be assigned to Plattsburgh Air Force Base this summer, a liaison official reports.

Clyde Lewis, head of this city's Air Base Liaison Commission, said Monday he did not know how many planes would be in the new wing or from where they would come.

But the wing probably will arrive in June, he said, when 1,685 housing units under construction at the base are scheduled for completion.

At present about 4,000 Air Force personnel are at the base, which has one wing of B47s plus tanker planes.

Lewis conferred in Washington earlier this month with Air Force Secretary James Douglas, top Air Force officers and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY).

"It is my understanding," Lewis said, "that the Air Force plans two wings for Plattsburgh. These planes will extend for the next several years after which, in all probability, it will become a one-wing installation with the number of personnel at the base to remain approximately the same as for a two-wing base."

Reports Highest Pitched Sound Ever Produced

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—General Electric's Research Laboratory says it has produced the highest pitched sound ever reported.

With a frequency of 10,000 megacycles, the "sound" waves are almost a million times greater than the highest pitch sound the human ear can hear, GE said Monday.

If the sounds could be heard, the company said, they would be 20 octaves above high C.

The extremely high frequency vibrations will be used to investigate such phenomena as the energy levels of atoms.

Produced by Dr. Edward H. Jacobsen, the new frequencies also will open the way for discoveries in the study of solids, GE said.

Firm Makes Comeback

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A company that lost several million dollars in 1957 reports it pulled back into the black with earnings of $2,052,000 or $3.45 a share, last year.

The Twin Coach Co. which makes aircraft and missile parts, announced the earnings Monday.

Dulles Remains Unyielding Antagonist of Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In full health Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was criticized, but in this moment of his serious illness he is eulogized and is even spoken of as indispensable. Why?

For perhaps these two reasons:

1. His critics at home have fully differed with him not on his basic foreign policy but only on his handling of individual situations.

2. He has so completely dominated foreign policy that he represents it and it is hard to think of anyone else coping with the crisis coming up in Germany.

Follows HST Policy

The policy followed by Dulles and President Eisenhower was the one laid down by President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

This was to surround the Soviet Union and Red China with military bases and alliances and make no concessions, or very few.

At the root of this policy there has always, perhaps, been a certain amount of wishful thinking that if a ring could be kept tight around the Communist world, in time it might weaken, suffer drastic internal changes, or perhaps disintegrate.

It's a wish that hasn't come true. The man credited with being the author of this containment policy back in Acheson's day, George Kennan, who was then head of the State Department planning staff, is having second thoughts now.

He's not the only one. There is talk nowadays of being flexible with the Soviet Union. Being flexible can mean giving concessions, with or without concessions in return.

While Dulles has been pretty much as one with the rest of the country on his basic policy of containment, there have been times when his wisdom on individual decisions within the broad policy has been questioned.

He has been criticized, for example, for his handling of President Nasser of Egypt, for his use of big-sounding phrases, like "massive retaliation" and "brink of war and for his disproven optimism about the results of the 1955 summit conference.

But through it all he was a sturdy, unyielding antagonist of world communism.

Because he ran foreign policy almost by himself and made his job such a one-man operation, both his critics and his admirers have difficulty now in seeing anything but a vacuum if he should not be able to return to his desk.

Strong Hand Possible

It's possible Dulles will for some time have a strong hand not only in current problems but in foreign affairs in general.

Nevertheless, as a matter of reality, the Eisenhower administration must be thinking in terms of a successor just in case the cancer-stricken secretary, despite his extraordinary endurance, can't come back.

There's a good, immediate reason for the need of such forethought.

The United States and its Allies face an upcoming crisis over Germany, created by the Soviet Union which wants the Allies out of West Berlin and threatens to turn control of access to the city over to the East Germans by May 27.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the season that tries men's souls—and tempers.

Spring won't come and winter won't let go.

Somewhere birds are singing and the sun is shining bright. But not here. If it ain't raining, it's snowing; if it ain't thawing, it's freezing. If the sky ain't clouding up, well—it's about to.

The milk of human kindness is frozen into an unfriendly icicle. The first robin, wearing a bright sunrise-colored vest, arrives on schedule.

No Exceptions, Please

But before this pitchman for warmer weather can sound his first note of cheer someone hits him with a snowball, and he comes down with sore throat and a virus. But he's in good company. Anyone who doesn't have a virus is an exhibitionist.

"The virus seems to be a bit more powerful this year," says the doctor, coughing as his pen scratches across the prescription pad. "Don't know when I've seen so much of it around."

The doctor speaks as cheerfully as he can. But inwardly he is out of patience with patients with the virus. He'd like to find a wonder drug to cure his own virus.

Everybody is out of sorts and grumpy.

Barking Husbands

The laundry puts more starch in everybody's shirt collar—just out of pure cussedness.

The postman swears at the ice on the trees, the snow underfoot. He wonders how many years he'd have to spend in jail if he dumped his mailbag into the nearest sewer—and ran away from home.

The philosophic cab driver is moody and silent. He refuses to solve the problems of his passengers or tell them how to live. To heck with them. Let them pay their fares and get out.

Disposition Factor

The restaurant waiter with the far away look has a look that is farther away than ever. He couldn't see a customer if he had a seeing-eye dog. He doesn't want to see a customer. All the customer will do later is complain to him about the food. The waiter eats the same food. He knows it won't improve until the chef's disposition improves.

It is the dreary time of "the February blues," when the flag of living droops at half-staff. It is a time when the wise man, if he can, hibernates—and waits for a warm wind from the south to bring better days.

Of course, if you're a fighter, there is one thing you can do to whip the doldrums of the spirit that come at this annual calendar crisis.

DesperadoHunted Near Burlington

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — An uneasy pursuit of a notorious desperado—one of the FBI's "10 most wanted" — centered around the sparsely settled New York-Vermont boundary today.

Police warned that the quarry, Frank Lawrence Sprenz, 29, was a crack marksman who would not hesitate to shoot to kill.

Sprenz flew into Burlington Saturday in a stolen plane. He then stole an automobile which was found at Salem, N.Y., close to the state border. The quest took a new turn when the FBI was told a motorist picked up a hitch hiker who answered the fugitive's description in Arlington, Vt., also near the state line Saturday night.

Sprenz stole a plane in Seranton, Pa., Friday night. After landing at Burlington, he walked a mile to used car lot in Winooski, Va., and posing as a prospective purchaser, was allowed to take a machine out for a trial. That was the car found at Salem, N. Y.

Sprenz, who hails from Akron, Ohio, has been at large since he escaped jail there last April. He had been jailed for armed robbery.

Plate Glass Firm To Resume Work

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. pushed preparations today to resume normal production following the end of a 134-day strike of 13,000 employes at nine plants.

Workers, balloting in seven locals of the United Glass & Ceramic Workers Union, voted Monday to accept a memorandum of agreement that union and company negotiators initialed Feb. 11 in Philadelphia.

Chrysler Corp. laid off 14,800 auto workers when exhausted glass supplies slowed auto production. The firm said the first of its furloughed workers will be recalled this week.

Union President Ralph Reiser said the long dispute officially ended Monday night at 8 o'clock. The firm said the first of its furloughed workers will be recalled shortly after. Normal production is expected by Wednesday, the firm said.

Wages had no part in the bitter dispute. Pre-strike agreements on pay scales were applied for the first time when work resumed. The new contract will run through Feb. 15, 1961.

Ex-Assemblyman Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Edmund J. Delany, former Democratic state assemblyman, is dead at 53.

Delany, who served two terms in the Assembly from Manhattan's 12th district from 1938 to 1942, died Monday.

World's shortest street is in El Paso, Tex. Sheldon St., in the city's heart, is only one block long.

Gas Rate Hike Bid Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission has turned down an immediate 8½ per cent natural gas rate increase proposed by North Penn Gas Co., Allegheny, Pa.

The firm had requested permission to put into effect the $389,400 boost this week. It would have affected six wholesale customers in New York and Pennsylvania.

The hike would have been in addition to an increase of $392,800 annually now being collected, subject to refund, in another rate case.

The company based the higher rates principally on increases in the cost of gas purchased from Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, and New York State Natural Gas Corp., Pittsburgh.

Both have suspended increase cases pending before the commission.

The commission said North Penn's claim of higher supplier prices is not supported because these cases have not been decided.

Sees Truckers Going Out of State for Fuel

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) — New York's increases in motor fuel taxes will spur thousands of trucks to buy fuel out of state, a leading trucker maintains.

David Algie, president of the New York Motor Carriers Conference and the Highway Transport Assn. of Upstate New York, said Monday he considered his estimate conservative.

The state taxes will rise March 1 from six to nine cents a gallon on diesel fuel and from four to six cents a gallon on gasoline.

Algie said the Motor Carriers Conference has 350 to 400 members. The other group he heads has a membership of 65, he said.

Dutchess Man Is Picked Up for Quiz on Swindle

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —Police here have picked up a man and woman wanted for questioning in a Rochester, swindle involving $5,242.

Francis C. Bittner, 51, a Poughkeepsie salesman, and Mrs. Daisy Sheeley Switzer, 65, a seamstress from Miami, Fla., sought since last month, were picked up Monday on fugitive charges.

Airliner Avoids Collision With Jet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines Electra narrowly avoided a collision with an Air Force B47 jet bomber near Chattanooga, Tenn., Monday. Three passengers and a stewardess were injured.

Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, the airliner's pilot, said the big bomber shot past 400 feet below the climbing Electra.

The Eastern plane, Flight 127 out of Chicago, was southeast of Chattanooga at 23,000 feet when the incident occurred. Seventeen passengers and a crew of five were on the airliner.

Ruprecht, of Miami Springs, said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane, 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left, he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

He threw the airliner into a 1,500-foot climb.

The Eastern plane was traveling about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said. The bomber was flying at an estimated 600 m.p.h.

The Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn just a few seconds before he pulled up, Ruprecht said, "He must have just seen us."

The stewardess, Miss Lois Borchers of Miami, was treated at North Shore Hospital and released.

6MediumBombers For New Wing at Plattsburg Base

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A second wing of six-jet medium bombers will be assigned to Plattsburgh Air Force Base this summer, a liaison official reports.

Clyde Lewis, head of this city's Air Base Liaison Commission, said Monday he did not know how many planes would be in the new wing or from where they would come.

But the wing probably will arrive in June, he said, when 1,685 housing units under construction at the base are scheduled for completion.

At present about 4,000 Air Force personnel are at the base, which has one wing of B47s plus tanker planes.

Lewis conferred in Washington earlier this month with Air Force Secretary James Douglas, top Air Force officers and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY).

"It is my understanding," Lewis said, "that the Air Force plans two wings for Plattsburgh. These planes will extend for the next several years after which, in all probability, it will become a one-wing installation with the number of personnel at the base to remain approximately the same as for a two-wing base."

Reports Highest Pitched Sound Ever Produced

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—General Electric's Research Laboratory says it has produced the highest pitched sound ever reported.

With a frequency of 10,000 megacycles, the "sound" waves are almost a million times greater than the highest pitch sound the human ear can hear, GE said Monday.

If the sounds could be heard, the company said, they would be 20 octaves above high C.

The extremely high frequency vibrations will be used to investigate such phenomena as the energy levels of atoms.

Produced by Dr. Edward H. Jacobsen, the new frequencies also will open the way for discoveries in the study of solids, GE said.

Firm Makes Comeback

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A company that lost several million dollars in 1957 reports it pulled back into the black with earnings of $2,052,000 or $3.45 a share, last year.

The Twin Coach Co. which makes aircraft and missile parts, announced the earnings Monday.

Dulles Remains Unyielding Antagonist of Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In full health Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was criticized, but in this moment of his serious illness he is eulogized and is even spoken of as indispensable. Why?

For perhaps these two reasons:

1. His critics at home have fully differed with him not on his basic foreign policy but only on his handling of individual situations.

2. He has so completely dominated foreign policy that he represents it and it is hard to think of anyone else coping with the crisis coming up in Germany.

Follows HST Policy

The policy followed by Dulles and President Eisenhower was the one laid down by President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

This was to surround the Soviet Union and Red China with military bases and alliances and make no concessions, or very few.

At the root of this policy there has always, perhaps, been a certain amount of wishful thinking that if a ring could be kept tight around the Communist world, in time it might weaken, suffer drastic internal changes, or perhaps disintegrate.

It's a wish that hasn't come true. The man credited with being the author of this containment policy back in Acheson's day, George Kennan, who was then head of the State Department planning staff, is having second thoughts now.

He's not the only one. There is talk nowadays of being flexible with the Soviet Union. Being flexible can mean giving concessions, with or without concessions in return.

While Dulles has been pretty much as one with the rest of the country on his basic policy of containment, there have been times when his wisdom on individual decisions within the broad policy has been questioned.

He has been criticized, for example, for his handling of President Nasser of Egypt, for his use of big-sounding phrases, like "massive retaliation" and "brink of war and for his disproven optimism about the results of the 1955 summit conference.

But through it all he was a sturdy, unyielding antagonist of world communism.

Because he ran foreign policy almost by himself and made his job such a one-man operation, both his critics and his admirers have difficulty now in seeing anything but a vacuum if he should not be able to return to his desk.

Strong Hand Possible

It's possible Dulles will for some time have a strong hand not only in current problems but in foreign affairs in general.

Nevertheless, as a matter of reality, the Eisenhower administration must be thinking in terms of a successor just in case the cancer-stricken secretary, despite his extraordinary endurance, can't come back.

There's a good, immediate reason for the need of such forethought.

The United States and its Allies face an upcoming crisis over Germany, created by the Soviet Union which wants the Allies out of West Berlin and threatens to turn control of access to the city over to the East Germans by May 27.

Why Not Try Godiva?

By FRANK TRIPP

Among the futile schemes to reduce taxes there's been one possibility overlooked. Could be because there'd need be at least 50 modern Godivas to ride naked through the streets of Washington and the capital of every state, as Godiva rode through Coventry 900 years ago.

Out of romantic eleventh century Old England comes the story of Lady Godiva. Her heroic exploit in behalf of the tax-burdened people pales even Hollywood's capers; yet is belied by the fantastic legend of "Peeping Tom," which is part of it.

What brought the intrepid lady to mind was Fanny's comment when she contemplated her income tax.

Frustrated by what she calls woman's helplessness under the heel of fool men, she said: "I wish the women would rise up — but what can they do?"

"They might try Lady Godiva's stunt," I ventured.

"You'd love to be the Peeping Tom, wouldn't you?" she flashed back. She's the world's best flasher backer.

Lady Godiva, you'll recall, was the wife of Leofric, Earl of Mercia and Lord of Coventry. He was the super tax collector of his day. Some of the story may be legend, yet that he must be the God of Taxation is easy to believe.

* * *

OTHERWISE the story is a bit hard to take, since his lady must have shared the luxury which he filched from the people. There's no mention of mink coats, however. Of course he was but an entrepreneur, just a piker in the tax-collection business.

On the other hand it might be that the Earl was a tightwad and kept his lady in calico. Maybe the poor gal didn't have anything to wear anyway. Maybe she was always "naked."

What woman hasn't stood in front of a closet full of clothes and lamented to the point of tears, "I'm just naked"? So, if the truth were known, it could be that her highness considered herself naked if perchance she rode forth on her white charger clad in her last year's royal sable. Any woman is naked who is down to one fur coat.

But if we go too far disputing Godiva's escapade, we'll kill the point of the yarn, which started out to be a suggestion of what women could do to reduce their taxes. It seemed to me to be a plan that even the tax collector might fall in with. The ones I know, would be willing to risk an eye.

Which brings us to what happened to the curious male who looked at the naked lady as she rode down the street. She was supposed to have no witnesses among the oppressed people whose cause she espoused. Her old man agreed to the remission of heavy taxation on condition that it turn out that way. It was a woman who ate the apple in Eden but it was a man who upset the apple cart in Coventry. He peeked.

* * *

THAT ONLY ONE man looked is the toughest part of the story to swallow. I've never believed it. More likely he's the only one who got caught. Anyway his name was Tom, a tailor, and he became better known than the lady herself; got into the dictionary and on the lips of nine centuries of English speaking people, many of whom never heard of Lady Godiva.

The poor guy paid dearly for his distinction. He went blind—which proves it must have been a dazzling sight. He became known as "Peeping Tom," as well known as Tom Collins or Tom and Jerry—if not so favorably.

This much seems to make clear the only suggestion that has not already been made to reduce taxes. It is submitted in good faith to any lady who might wish to try it. The only condition is that, in return for the idea, I be informed where she is going to ride.

Hospital Food Bill $75,000, 22,000 Meals Served in Year

Kingston Hospital last year spent nearly $75,000 for food. Its busy dietary department served from 19,000 to 22,000 meals each month.

In the calendar year 1958, patients consumed 45,000 quarts of milk, 13,272 pounds of beef, 8,760 dozen eggs, 8,572 loaves of white bread and 3,087 loaves of dark bread — to name just a few of the many food items.

Operating three meals a day, seven days a week, holidays included, a hospital's dietary department has most of the problems of any large restaurant, plus two big additional concerns: all meals must be served to patients in their rooms, and about one-third of all meals must be prepared according to special diets ordered by doctors.

Major types of diets encountered are those for diabetic patients, patients with stomach disabilities, cardiac cases, and others where low calorie meals are prescribed.

Breakfast is served daily at Kingston Hospital from 7:15 to 8:15 a. m.; lunch from 11:15 to 12:15; and dinner from 4:15 to 5:15 p. m.

In addition, the hospital's kitchen serves a cafeteria for nurses and staff members. The 96-chair cafeteria is open from 6:45 to 9 a. m.; 11 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. and 4 to 6:15 p. m. A food service charge is paid by the nurses and employes, except for student nurses.

The staff is headed by the dietitian, Miss Jean B. Harvey, who has her B. S. degree from Russell Sage, M. A. from Columbia University, and interned at Albany Hospital. The cook is Mrs. Barbara Terpening.

Others on the staff are three assistant dietitians, a second cook, cook's helper, pot washer, four regular employes in the serving area, four in the dishroom, one truck man, a porter, four truck girls and three cafeteria employes. With part-time employes to relieve others on their days off, total number of employes in the department averages about 44.

Special equipment used in the food service includes the meal packs, designed to keep individual meal servings hot for up to four hours. These are stacked on trucks and taken to the patients' rooms, where each is served a piping hot meal regardless of how far from the kitchen his room is located.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received an interesting letter from Harry G. Houghtaling, of 161 West Stout Avenue, Port Ewen. I see he is using his new street number. I think all the houses in Port Ewen have their house numbers. I saw the list in front of the Esopus Town Hall, pasted on the window. So if anyone wants to know his house number, all he has to do is to go to the window and find it. No doubt, there will be mimeograph copies or booklets put out which will include all the house numbers copied from that list, and given to the taxpayers. Perhaps some enterprising advertising group may take all the names and numbers and put them together with their advertisements for distribution, because these first numbers and names of owners will be interesting. Every year there will be changes as folks move, or sell their homes. It will be a list worth keeping.

Mr. Houghtaling writes "In this day of high prices of meats, etc., while looking through some old books in my possession, I came across a clipping taken from The Kingston Daily Freeman, which did not have a date, but I judge it to be around 1896. On the back of this clipping were some of these prices of meats: California hams, seven cents; best shoulders, six and a half cents; best hams, 10 and a half cents; best skinback hams, same price. Prime rib roasts, 12 cents; round steak, same price; 3 lbs. chuck steak only 25 cents. Best chuck or best pot roast or best cross rib roast only eight cents. Stew beef could be had for three cents. Hind quarter spring lamb only 12 and a half cents." It is difficult to realize that such prices once existed.

No doubt those were the days of a nickel schooner of beer, and free lunch. Those were the days of nickel trolley rides on the summer trolley cars from Washington Avenue to Kingston Point Park. A nickel could also buy a big ice-cream soda with a big scoop of cream. Often the cream was home-made, perhaps several hours before being served to you. It was also the days of the pound of bread for a nickel. For one dollar you could fill a twenty pound paper bag with groceries. You know what it cost today. Salaries were less, hours were long, nickels went a long way. You could go to the movies for a nickel. Children had no difficulty getting work and staying out of trouble. A boy could get a job most anywhere and get about $2 a week. Seldom did one see a boy on the street without a job, yet he had time for his lessons and was taught to stay in line by his teachers, his parents and his employer. One did not talk back to grown-ups in those days.

Let no one think that the youth of yesterday did not live and enjoy life and the great outdoors. For swimming there was the dock and the beach and most youngsters learned to swim early. They learned to dive, many of them, for pennies and nickels which were thown to them by those on the Day-liners and other boats that docked here. They held on to the money once they caught it by putting them in their mouth. I never heard of any of them swallowing it either. A penny played a big part in their lives and they knew the value of it. They had skating on the river, and many of them were excellent skaters. They had baseball and were good at that too.

Why Not Try Godiva?

By FRANK TRIPP

Among the futile schemes to reduce taxes there's been one possibility overlooked. Could be because there'd need be at least 50 modern Godivas to ride naked through the streets of Washington and the capital of every state, as Godiva rode through Coventry 900 years ago.

Out of romantic eleventh century Old England comes the story of Lady Godiva. Her heroic exploit in behalf of the tax-burdened people pales even Hollywood's capers; yet is belied by the fantastic legend of "Peeping Tom," which is part of it.

What brought the intrepid lady to mind was Fanny's comment when she contemplated her income tax. Frustrated by what she calls woman's helplessness under the heel of fool men, she said: "I wish the women would rise up — but what can they do?"

"They might try Lady Godiva's stunt," I ventured.

"You'd love to be the Peeping Tom, wouldn't you?" she flashed back. She's the world's best flasher backer.

Lady Godiva, you'll recall, was the wife of Leofric, Earl of Mercia and Lord of Coventry. He was the super tax collector of his day. Some of the story may be legend, yet that he must be the God of Taxation is easy to believe.

* * *

OTHERWISE the story is a bit hard to take, since his lady must have shared the luxury which he filched from the people. There's no mention of mink coats, however. Of course he was but an entrepreneur, just a piker in the tax-collection business.

On the other hand it might be that the Earl was a tightwad and kept his lady in calico. Maybe the poor gal didn't have anything to wear anyway. Maybe she was always "naked."

What woman hasn't stood in front of a closet full of clothes and lamented to the point of tears, "I'm just naked"? So, if the truth were known, it could be that her highness considered herself naked if perchance she rode forth on her white charger clad in her last year's royal sable. Any woman is naked who is down to one fur coat.

But if we go too far disputing Godiva's escapade, we'll kill the point of the yarn, which started out to be a suggestion of what women could do to reduce their taxes. It seemed to me to be a plan that even the tax collector might fall in with. The ones I know, would be willing to risk an eye.

Which brings us to what happened to the curious male who looked at the naked lady as she rode down the street. She was supposed to have no witnesses among the oppressed people whose cause she espoused. Her old man agreed to the remission of heavy taxation on condition that it turn out that way. It was a woman who ate the apple in Eden but it was a man who upset the apple cart in Coventry. He peeked.

* * *

THAT ONLY ONE man looked is the toughest part of the story to swallow. I've never believed it. More likely he's the only one who got caught. Anyway his name was Tom, a tailor, and he became better known than the lady herself; got into the dictionary and on the lips of nine centuries of English speaking people, many of whom never heard of Lady Godiva.

The poor guy paid dearly for his distinction. He went blind—which proves it must have been a dazzling sight. He became known as "Peeping Tom," as well known as Tom Collins or Tom and Jerry—if not so favorably.

This much seems to make clear the only suggestion that has not already been made to reduce taxes. It is submitted in good faith to any lady who might wish to try it. The only condition is that, in return for the idea, I be informed where she is going to ride.

The Arctic tern probably sees more daylight than any other creature. Nesting each summer in the North Polar regions, it then flies some 11,000 miles to Antarctica for another nightless summer.

Hospital Food Bill $75,000, 22,000 Meals Served in Year

Kingston Hospital last year spent nearly $75,000 for food. Its busy dietary department served from 19,000 to 22,000 meals each month.

In the calendar year 1958, patients consumed 45,000 quarts of milk, 13,272 pounds of beef, 8,760 dozen eggs, 8,572 loaves of white bread and 3,087 loaves of dark bread — to name just a few of the many food items.

Operating three meals a day, seven days a week, holidays included, a hospital's dietary department has most of the problems of any large restaurant, plus two big additional concerns: all meals must be served to patients in their rooms, and about one-third of all meals must be prepared according to special diets ordered by doctors.

Major types of diets encountered are those for diabetic patients, patients with stomach disabilities, cardiac cases, and others where low calorie meals are prescribed.

Breakfast is served daily at Kingston Hospital from 7:15 to 8:15 a. m.; lunch from 11:15 to 12:15; and dinner from 4:15 to 5:15 p. m.

In addition, the hospital's kitchen serves a cafeteria for nurses and staff members. The 96-chair cafeteria is open from 6:45 to 9 a. m.; 11 a. m. to 1:15 p. m. and 4 to 6:15 p. m. A food service charge is paid by the nurses and employes, except for student nurses.

The staff is headed by the dietitian, Miss Jean B. Harvey, who has her B. S. degree from Russell Sage, M. A. from Columbia University, and interned at Albany Hospital. The cook is Mrs. Barbara Terpening.

Others on the staff are three assistant dietitians, a second cook, cook's helper, pot washer, four regular employes in the serving area, four in the dishroom, one truck man, a porter, four truck girls and three cafeteria employes. With part-time employes to relieve others on their days off, total number of employes in the department averages about 44.

Special equipment used in the food service includes the meal packs, designed to keep individual meal servings hot for up to four hours. These are stacked on trucks and taken to the patients' rooms, where each is served a piping hot meal regardless of how far from the kitchen his room is located.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received an interesting letter from Harry G. Houghtaling, of 161 West Stout Avenue, Port Ewen. I see he is using his new street number. I think all the houses in Port Ewen have their house numbers. I saw the list in front of the Esopus Town Hall, pasted on the window. So if anyone wants to know his house number, all he has to do is to go to the window and find it. No doubt, there will be mimeograph copies or booklets put out which will include all the house numbers copied from that list, and given to the taxpayers. Perhaps some enterprising advertising group may take all the names and numbers and put them together with their advertisements for distribution, because these first numbers and names of owners will be interesting. Every year there will be changes as folks move, or sell their homes. It will be a list worth keeping.

Mr. Houghtaling writes "In this day of high prices of meats, etc., while looking through some old books in my possession, I came across a clipping taken from The Kingston Daily Freeman, which did not have a date, but I judge it to be around 1896. On the back of this clipping were some of these prices of meats: California hams, seven cents; best shoulders, six and a half cents; best hams, 10 and a half cents; best skinback hams, same price. Prime rib roasts, 12 cents; round steak, same price; 3 lbs. chuck steak only 25 cents. Best chuck or best pot roast or best cross rib roast only eight cents. Stew beef could be had for three cents. Hind quarter spring lamb only 12 and a half cents." It is difficult to realize that such prices once existed.

No doubt those were the days of a nickel schooner of beer, and free lunch. Those were the days of nickel trolley rides on the summer trolley cars from Washington Avenue to Kingston Point Park. A nickel could also buy a big ice-cream soda with a big scoop of cream. Often the cream was home-made, perhaps several hours before being served to you. It was also the days of the pound of bread for a nickel. For one dollar you could fill a twenty pound paper bag with groceries. You know what it cost today. Salaries were less, hours were long, nickels went a long way. You could go to the movies for a nickel. Children had no difficulty getting work and staying out of trouble. A boy could get a job most anywhere and get about $2 a week. Seldom did one see a boy on the street without a job, yet he had time for his lessons and was taught to stay in line by his teachers, his parents and his employer. One did not talk back to grown-ups in those days.

Let no one think that the youth of yesterday did not live and enjoy life and the great outdoors. For swimming there was the dock and the beach and most youngsters learned to swim early. They learned to dive, many of them, for pennies and nickels which were thown to them by those on the Day-liners and other boats that docked here. They held on to the money once they caught it by putting them in their mouth. I never heard of any of them swallowing it either. A penny played a big part in their lives and they knew the value of it. They had skating on the river, and many of them were excellent skaters. They had baseball and were good at that too.

JUMPING JUNIOR INSURANCE

Children growing? Then meet their growing needs with a new kind of protection that can help provide cash for college . . . for launching a career . . . for starting a home. Here's how "Jumping Junior" life insurance works:

A $1,000 policy purchased before your child turns age 14 jumps to $2,500 at age 15—then jumps again to $5,000 at age 21—yet the "baby premium" rates always remain the same.

Your neighborhood Nationwide man can give you details about "Jumping Junior"—and over a hundred other kinds of low-cost insurance protection. He's waiting for your call!

IN THE Service

Marine Graduates

Marine Pvt. David G. Nace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Nace of Bedell Avenue, Clintondale, graduated Feb. 11 from an extensive four-week infantry training course at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

During this period Marines live primarily in the field and take part in bivouacs, marches and muscle building exercises.

The training, followed by two weeks leave, completes the basic Marine Corps training. Graduates are then assigned to specialist schools or a permanent duty assignment.

Aboard Landing Ship

Frank P. Misasi, ship fitter second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Misasi of Glasco, and husband of the former Miss Lucille Westover of Norfolk, Va., is serving aboard a tank landing ship operating with the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean area.

The ship departed the East Coast of the U. S. Jan. 10.

Completes Course

Pvt. Leon M. Halpern, 22, of Kingston, completed 14 weeks of medical training Feb. 9 at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., marking the end of his six months of active military duty under the Reserve Forces Act program.

Halpern is scheduled to spend the remainder of his military service with the 156th Field Artillery Battalion in Kingston.

A 1957 graduate of Fordham University, he was a pharmacist with the Central Pharmacy before going on active duty.

Old Revenue

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—Mayor Ben C. Schuck is not only Wausau's chief executive, he's pretty good at collecting old bills—for the city. When he took office Schuck found a stack of old bills nobody had bothered to collect. Most of the money was due for paving improvements, some of them made in 1953. The mayor said that in some cases residents had not paid because they felt the jobs weren't completed. "In such cases we did the work and collected the bills," he said. "My office has collected $4,343 in old bills, he declared.

LAVENDER FLU

Your grandfather probably knew this cure. Flowers of lavender quilted in a hat were supposed to ward off "stuffed-up" noses and head colds. Pleasant treatment—but certainly not a sure cure. Today, thanks to medical science, we have numerous effective vaccines . . . against flu, whooping cough and other respiratory diseases . . . to immunize and protect us from the discomforts of infections. So, why suffer needlessly. Ask your physician about them. Let him prescribe the medication that is most effective for your needs. Then come to us for prescription service.

Don't Allow Social Vacuum To Replace Lost Husband

BY MARIE DAERR

Can an 80-year-old widow be just plain "spoiled"?

I think so.

I also think there's not much the 80-year-old can do about it at this point. But she and her husband could have done something about it when she was 40 or 50.

"Can't somebody come to see me?" asked Mrs. J.'s fretful voice over the telephone. "My husband died three months ago. He was 90, you know.

"I'm afraid to go to golden age club alone. John used to help me on and off the bus and take my arm when we crossed the street. I wasn't afraid of anything, with him beside me.

"No, the doctor says I'm perfectly all right, for my age. But I can't make myself go out, even though I'd be more than welcome at the club and at church.

"I'm really lonesome. Please can't you come to see me?"

Sounds pathetic, doesn't it? But a day later I talked about Mrs. J. to a friend of hers, another widow, aged 70. And a suspicion that had lodged in my mind was confirmed.

"Oh, yes, I feel sorry for Mrs. J.," the 70-year-old told me. "But, all her married life, John pampered her.

"She never went anywhere without him. She never joined a women's club or, in fact, made a close friendship with another woman. She never even seemed to have an idea of her own.

"Naturally, with John's death the carpet was pulled from under her. "I, too, was close to my husband. But I also had a life of my own.

"I learned to drive the family car. That meant that he didn't need to do all the chauffeur chores in our family. After he died, I didn't have to sell the car, then depend on taxis or on other people who would drive me where I wanted to go.

"I joined three women's clubs while I was still young. I was active at church and in a half-dozen committees.

"Naturally, I was lonely when my husband died. But I had a busy life to continue, and my grief softened."

Let's face it. There are many more widows than widowers, in this world today. Wouldn't it be wise to prepare for what might be ahead?"

Q—I'm never very peppy in the evening, when I'd like to enjoy books, conversation and TV. I've always resisted an afternoon nap because I thought it would keep me awake when I went to bed. What do you think?—L. B. W.

A—I doubt that an afternoon or before-dinner nap would interfere with your night's sleep. Napping is a good habit at any age.

Q—I have been keeping house for my widowed brother. I thought I would be eligible for Social Security but someone told me I would be disqualified, because I was working for a relative. What are the facts on this? —Mrs. F. T.

A—The Social Security Administration does not discourage a relative working as a domestic from filing for benefits—except in the case of parents working for children. However, the administration examines each application of this kind very carefully. If your application is denied, you may apply for a refund of the Social Security taxes you paid.

Old Revenue

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—Mayor Ben C. Schuck is not only Wausau's chief executive, he's pretty good at collecting old bills—for the city. When he took office Schuck found a stack of old bills nobody had bothered to collect. Most of the money was due for paving improvements, some of them made in 1953. The mayor said that in some cases residents had not paid because they felt the jobs weren't completed. "In such cases we did the work and collected the bills," he said. "My office has collected $4,343 in old bills, he declared.

Don't Allow Social Vacuum To Replace Lost Husband

BY MARIE DAERR

Can an 80-year-old widow be just plain "spoiled"?

I think so.

I also think there's not much the 80-year-old can do about it at this point. But she and her husband could have done something about it when she was 40 or 50.

"Can't somebody come to see me?" asked Mrs. J.'s fretful voice over the telephone. "My husband died three months ago. He was 90, you know.

"I'm afraid to go to golden age club alone. John used to help me on and off the bus and take my arm when we crossed the street. I wasn't afraid of anything, with him beside me.

"No, the doctor says I'm perfectly all right, for my age. But I can't make myself go out, even though I'd be more than welcome at the club and at church.

"I'm really lonesome. Please can't you come to see me?"

Sounds pathetic, doesn't it? But a day later I talked about Mrs. J. to a friend of hers, another widow, aged 70. And a suspicion that had lodged in my mind was confirmed.

"Oh, yes, I feel sorry for Mrs. J.," the 70-year-old told me. "But, all her married life, John pampered her.

"She never went anywhere without him. She never joined a women's club or, in fact, made a close friendship with another woman. She never even seemed to have an idea of her own.

"Naturally, with John's death the carpet was pulled from under her. "I, too, was close to my husband. But I also had a life of my own.

"I learned to drive the family car. That meant that he didn't need to do all the chauffeur chores in our family. After he died, I didn't have to sell the car, then depend on taxis or on other people who would drive me where I wanted to go.

"I joined three women's clubs while I was still young. I was active at church and in a half-dozen committees.

"Naturally, I was lonely when my husband died. But I had a busy life to continue, and my grief softened."

Let's face it. There are many more widows than widowers, in this world today. Wouldn't it be wise to prepare for what might be ahead?"

Q—I'm never very peppy in the evening, when I'd like to enjoy books, conversation and TV. I've always resisted an afternoon nap because I thought it would keep me awake when I went to bed. What do you think?—L. B. W.

A—I doubt that an afternoon or before-dinner nap would interfere with your night's sleep. Napping is a good habit at any age.

Q—I have been keeping house for my widowed brother. I thought I would be eligible for Social Security but someone told me I would be disqualified, because I was working for a relative. What are the facts on this? —Mrs. F. T.

A—The Social Security Administration does not discourage a relative working as a domestic from filing for benefits—except in the case of parents working for children. However, the administration examines each application of this kind very carefully. If your application is denied, you may apply for a refund of the Social Security taxes you paid.

LAVENDER FLU

Your grandfather probably knew this cure. Flowers of lavender quilted in a hat were supposed to ward off "stuffed-up" noses and head colds. Pleasant treatment—but certainly not a sure cure. Today, thanks to medical science, we have numerous effective vaccines . . . against flu, whooping cough and other respiratory diseases . . . to immunize and protect us from the discomforts of infections. So, why suffer needlessly. Ask your physician about them. Let him prescribe the medication that is most effective for your needs. Then come to us for prescription service.

Republican Women Plan Dinner-Dance For February 28

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club was held Thursday, Feb. 12, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A welfare fund committee was set up with Mrs. John Salapatis as chairman.

The club accepted with regret, the resignation of their first vice president, Mrs. Leslie Hotaling. She has accepted a position with the Department of Labor.

Report on the dinner-dance committee was given by Mrs. Walter Caunitz and Mrs. Raymond LeFevre, chairmen. The event is to be held February 28 at the Governor Clinton Hotel with Mrs. John Schomer in charge of tickets.

Mrs. Bernhardt S. Kramer, president, gave her report on the New York State Federation of Women's Republican Clubs conference, which she attended January 22 and 23 at Hotel Roosevelt in New York City.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harold Sharot and Mrs. Harry Relyea. Refreshments were served.

Japanese Music Will Be Lecture Subject At Paltz College

The distinguished Japanese musicologist, Masakata Kanazawa, will give a lecture on "Japanese Folk Music" in the College Union Lounge of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, New York, at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Feb. 20.

The lecture will be illustrated by many tapes which Mr. Kanazawa recorded in the field in Eastern Japan, and several unusual pictures of Japanese musical instruments and dancers.

The event was announced jointly Dr. Victor Landau, Associate Professor of Music, and Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, Professor of Art History, who is acquainted with Mr. Kanazawa and with his contribution to Japanese scholarship.

Mr. Kanazawa, while trained in music history and theory, western style, is one of very few authorities on the authentic, indigenous music of Japan, now in the country. His knowledge extends also to the fields of drama and dance, which in Japan, as elsewhere, are closely allied with music.

Mr. Kanazawa has traveled extensively in his native country seeking examples of the ancient arts which have resisted the impact of Western culture. He has preserved, through recordings, numerous songs and dances in the aristocratic classical tradition as well as those of a less sophisticated rural culture. This kind of research is extremely valuable now that the arts of the West, like Western technology and social institutions are profoundly changing a way of life that goes back tens of centuries.

The general public is invited to attend free of charge.

Youngster Is Feted

Rusty Van Sickle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Van Sickle, celebrated his first birthday, February 3, with a party at his home in Marbletown.

World Day of Prayer Observed in Kingston; More Than 14 Churches in Area Participate

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America is a symbol of the determination of the churches to work together. It was constituted at Cleveland on November 29, 1950 and is the largest religious organization in the United States and a part of the great ecumenical church.

One of its best known programs is the World Day of Prayer.

This year, under the sponsorship of the Kingston Council of United Church Women, the local event was held on Friday, Feb. 13 at the Fair Street Church. More than 14 churches in the area were represented.

As part of the services, a dramatization was presented, depicting peoples in various countries aided by the offerings accepted for them through the Council. People in China, India, Japan, are among those to whom aid is given. Work is also done for the migrant workers and American Indians.

Four Functions

The National Council is an instrument for cooperation and united action, its information booklet states, which projects itself into virtually every realm of Christian activity. It consolidates the programs of 12 interdenominational agencies, each with a long history of effective Christian service.

One of the prime purposes of the Council is to draw the churches together in a family group and coordinate their efforts.

The Council functions through four major divisions — Division of Christian Life and World; Division of Christian Education; Division of Home Missions; Division of Foreign Missions.

Participation and leadership of lay men and women in the national council is strongly emphasized.

The program of United Church Women is carried out through three committees — Christian World Missions, Christian Social Relations and Christian World Relations.

Our local Council was started on Friday, June 2, 1951 when 35 women met at the YWCA to form the Council of United Church Women.

The purpose of the group reads as follows:

"We believe that Christians have a responsibility as stewards of the Gospel, and as partners in the redemptive purpose of God. Therefore, it is the purpose of the Christian World Missions Committee to further the interdenominational mission program by strengthening the understanding and support of missions at home and abroad and by sponsoring and promoting the World Day of Prayer."

World Day of Prayer is held each year on the first Friday in Lent. It is observed in more than 17,000 communities in the United States and 105 countries around the world. The day is sponsored in the U. S. by the United Church Women. Its purpose is to unite people of the world in a bond of prayer and Christian fellowship.

Observance began in America in 1887 as a day of prayer for missions in one denomination. In 1942, the United Council of Church Women assumed the sacred trust of preparing the program.

Listed among the local Council's many projects are:

Parcels for peace; donation of a Communion set to the Ulster County Infirmary; allocating money to the YMCA to enable a boy to participate in its activities; helping migrant workers; contributing to The Harvester; bringing Christianity and service to the migrants; working with the YWCA.

Local Service

For the service observed in Kingston on Friday, Miss Ethel M. Hull, president of the council, led the worship. Also participating in the program were Mrs. Casper Souers, Miss Mabel Cook, Mrs. S. B. Chappell, Mrs. Harold Osterhoudt and Miss Evelyn Rosa.

Mrs. Bernard Pauker, soloist, sang for the occasion. She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. William E. Rylance.

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of Fair Street Reformed Church, gave the benediction.

Insurance Plan Naming Hadassah Beneficiary Is Undertaken by Hadassah at Conference

A unique plan to finance expansion and emergency needs in Israel has been undertaken by Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America.

According to Mrs. Oscar B. London, fund-raising coordinator for the Kingston chapter, the fund will receive money from a special life-insurance plan, under which individual members may insure themselves for one thousand dollars, naming Hadassah as beneficiary. The plan has been underwritten by the Continental Assurance Company.

Mrs. London explained that each Hadassah member taking out such a policy would pay a premium relating to her age. Premiums would be tax-deductible. The national organization will have the privilege of making loans against the cash value of the policies in emergencies.

The local chairman described the new plan as "a wonderful way for an individual to perpetuate her participation and interest in the organization." Local women who wish further information on the program may contact Mrs. London.

The endowment plan was announced at the organization's midwinter conference, held recently in New York City. Speakers, included Dr. Jack Karpas, deputy director-general of Hadassah Medical Organization; Yaacob Herzog, Israel's Minister Plenipotentiary to the U. S.; Dr. Eugene Rosenfeld, who reported on progress in building the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center; and Dr. Miriam Freund, national president.

Climaxing the conference was a celebration noting the 25th anniversary of Youth Alyah, international rescue and rehabilitation movement, for which Hadassah serves as U. S. representative. Speaker was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, world patron of Youth Aliyah, who paid tribute to its record in training and educating young people from various parts of the world.

HONOR ROYAL MATRON AND PATRON—Mystic Court 62, Order of the Amaranth recently gave a reception in honor of their royal matron and royal patron at Masonic Temple, Albany Avenue. Among those attending were, front row (l-r) Mrs. Gordon Kent, associate conductress; Howard Nickerson, associate patron; Mrs. Swan Brewster, royal matron; Swan Brewster, royal patron; Mrs. Howard Nickerson, associate matron. Second row (l-r) Mrs. Donald Leith, marshal in the east; Mrs. Esther Ward, warder; Mrs. Bertha Ellison, truth; Mrs. Frank Kolts, marshal in the west. Third row (l-r) Miss Vivian Kellenberger, treasurer; Mrs. Zack Hermance, prelate; Mrs. Lillian Czerwenski, trustee; Mrs. Elsie Eckhart, historian; Mrs. Chauncey Freer, secretary. (Freeman photo).

Logan-Baechtle Wedding Announced

Miss Peggy Sue Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Logan of Corsicana, Texas, became the bride of George W. Baechtle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baechtle of Kingston in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, Feb. 14 at 3 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Donald Romme was organist.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore slipper satin and lace and a veil in fingertip length. She carried a prayer book with white orchid and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Hamilton Darling, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor wearing a brown suit with tangerine colored corsage of gladioli.

Hamilton Darling was best man for the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from Corsicana High School and Scott and White Hospital School of Nursing at Temple, Texas. She is employed in the office of Dr. E. MacFadden and Dr. W. E. Askue.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by IBM. He also served with the U. S. Marine Corps.

When Mr. and Mrs. Baechtle return from their wedding trip to New York City, they will reside in Port Ewen.

DESCRIPTIVE TAG ON A GIFT

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to leave tags on items one gives for presents? My girl friend's birthday is next week and I bought her a very beautiful handbag. Attached to the bag is a card saying that the bag is made of the finest cowhide leather. When I was wrapping the bag my mother noticed that I had left this tag on and told me to remove it as it was in very bad taste to leave it on. We had quite a discussion about this and I would like to know from you if it is wrong to leave this tag on the bag?

Answer: Your mother is right, the tab about "finest cowhide leather" even though it did not show the price of the bag should be removed. A tag giving the origin and history of some really old object is the only one that may be left attached to a gift.

Christmas Cards to One Bereaved

Dear Mrs. Post: I lost my husband just prior to the Christmas holidays and yet so many people sent me Christmas cards. They knew of this because in all instances the cards were addressed to me alone. Wasn't it thoughtless of them to send cards to me so soon?

Answer: Unless the cards were chosen very carefully—to emphasize the religious instead of the gay aspect of Christmas — I agree that it was more than thoughtless.

Hats At An Evening Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: We had a local woman's club dinner and some of the ladies came in evening dresses, without hats, and those in afternoon dresses wore hats. I think the latter should also have gone without hats to a private dinner. But I seem to be alone in thinking this way.

Answer: Although under usual circumstances, hats are worn with day clothes, I agree with you that in the evening at a private dinner given at a club or in a private house, it would have been in better taste to have come without hats.

Woman's Club of Rosendale Holds Sewing Contest, Three Area Designers Are Judges

Mrs. Charles DeWitt of Tillson was named the winner of the Vogue Sewing Contest sponsored by the Vogue Pattern Company and the General Federation of Women's Clubs at a meeting of the Woman's Club of Rosendale held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Galvin of Rosendale, Thursday night.

The winner will be judged in the district, state and federated contests to be held in the near future. Wearing a powder blue jacket and dress ensemble with a matching petal hat, Mrs. DeWitt was complimented for excellent sewing.

The other entrant, Mrs. Stephan Reposky of Rosendale, modeled a washable black and white print dress with a V-neck and flared skirt. Her sewing was also praised by the judges.

Judges were three area residents with wide and varied background in design:

June Dessler, well-known Kingston milliner, who studied art with the late Willie Pogany; Mrs. Rogert Loughran, who has done a great deal of fashion work in New York City, and Mrs. Edward Goddard of Woodstock, well-known dress designer having designed for Lord and Taylor and having been assistant to Oleg Cassini.

The nomination of Mrs. Mary L. O'Connor, founder of the Woman's Club of Rosendale, as the club's selection for the Honor Roll of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs was announced. Chairman of the selection committee was Mrs. William Kloepfer assisted by Mrs. Vernon Freese, Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, Mrs. Leon Thorpe and Mrs. Vincent Steeley.

Mrs. George Moylan of the scholastic committee, reported that her group is studying possible revision in the method of presentation of the scholastic award. The award has been presented to the child in each of the seven schools in the town of Rosendale who has made the most improvement. The committee was authorized to look into possibility of giving a scholarship to a needy and deserving high school graduate. Mrs. Lucie Auletta, chairman of the committee will be assisted by Mrs. Moylan and Mrs. Frederick Dippel.

Mrs. Peter Mathews, chairman of the fashion show committee, announced that the show will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 21, at Williams' Lake Hotel, Rosendale. Further plans will be announced at a later date.

The constitution committee consisting of the Mesdames Kloepfer, Arthur Mulligan, O'Leary, Steeley and Gene Van Winkle, presented a tentative revision of the club's constitution which will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Mrs. Kloepfer, county chairman, announced that the county luncheon will he held at Saugerties March 18.

Mrs. Ann Duffy was welcomed to the group by President Van Winkle.

A committee of three will attend the next board meeting of the Rosendale Library Association trustees to request that the group be permitted to hold its meetings in the library in the future since the size of the group is getting too large to be accommodated at homes of members.

Mrs. Van Winkle announced that the Cub Scout troop had been formed in Tillson and all parents of boys between the age of 8 and 11 are invited to attend the meeting Wednesday, if they are interested in having their boys become Cub Scouts.

Members brought foodstuff for the needy which will be distributed by the Sunshine Committee headed by Mrs. Robert Demarest, chairman.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Stephen Huben and Mrs. Steeley.

Cooking Techniques Topic of Meeting For Choir Mothers

An electric cooking demonstration on small appliances will be sponsored by Choir Mothers of the Old Dutch Church Wednesday, Feb. 25, 8 p. m. in Bethany Hall. Dorothy Rhodes of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. will be in charge. All are invited to attend.

Because of the special program, the regular monthly meeting of the choir mothers will be postponed from the third Wednesday of February to February 25 following the demonstration. A short business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Michael Maxson, president. An opportunity will be given those attending to meet Charles Pope, new minister of music at the church.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Watson Goodrich, Jr., and Mrs. Raymond Bellows.

Japanese Music Will Be Lecture Subject At Paltz College

The distinguished Japanese musicologist, Masakata Kanazawa, will give a lecture on "Japanese Folk Music" in the College Union Lounge of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, New York, at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Feb. 20.

The lecture will be illustrated by many tapes which Mr. Kanazawa recorded in the field in Eastern Japan, and several unusual pictures of Japanese musical instruments and dancers.

The event was announced jointly Dr. Victor Landau, Associate Professor of Music, and Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, Professor of Art History, who is acquainted with Mr. Kanazawa and with his contribution to Japanese scholarship.

Mr. Kanazawa, while trained in music history and theory, western style, is one of very few authorities on the authentic, indigenous music of Japan, now in the country. His knowledge extends also to the fields of drama and dance, which in Japan, as elsewhere, are closely allied with music.

Mr. Kanazawa has traveled extensively in his native country seeking examples of the ancient arts which have resisted the impact of Western culture. He has preserved, through recordings, numerous songs and dances in the aristocratic classical tradition as well as those of a less sophisticated rural culture. This kind of research is extremely valuable now that the arts of the West, like Western technology and social institutions are profoundly changing a way of life that goes back tens of centuries.

The general public is invited to attend free of charge.

Youngster Is Feted

Those attending the party were Madge Bennett, Mary Lou Bennett, Ida Mae Bennett, Beverly Kolodziejski, Lucille Haynes, Bobb Bennett, Eugene Terwilliger, Eddie Croswell, Mrs. R. Bennett, Mrs. E. Haynes and Mrs. E. Croswell.

World Day of Prayer Observed in Kingston; More Than 14 Churches in Area Participate

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America is a symbol of the determination of the churches to work together. It was constituted at Cleveland on November 29, 1950 and is the largest religious organization in the United States and a part of the great ecumenical church.

One of its best known programs is the World Day of Prayer.

This year, under the sponsorship of the Kingston Council of United Church Women, the local event was held on Friday, Feb. 13 at the Fair Street Church. More than 14 churches in the area were represented.

As part of the services, a dramatization was presented, depicting peoples in various countries aided by the offerings accepted for them through the Council. People in China, India, Japan, are among those to whom aid is given. Work is also done for the migrant workers and American Indians.

Four Functions

The National Council is an instrument for cooperation and united action, its information booklet states, which projects itself into virtually every realm of Christian activity. It consolidates the programs of 12 interdenominational agencies, each with a long history of effective Christian service.

One of the prime purposes of the Council is to draw the churches together in a family group and coordinate their efforts.

The Council functions through four major divisions — Division of Christian Life and Work; Division of Christian Education; Division of Home Missions; Division of Foreign Missions.

Participation and leadership of lay men and women in the national council is strongly emphasized.

The program of United Church Women is carried out through three committees — Christian World Missions, Christian Social Relations and Christian World Relations.

Our local Council was started on Friday, June 2, 1951 when 35 women met at the YWCA to form the Council of United Church Women.

The purpose of the group reads as follows:

"We believe that Christians have a responsibility as stewards of the Gospel, and as partners in the redemptive purpose of God. Therefore, it is the purpose of the Christian World Missions Committee to further the interdenominational mission program by strengthening the understanding and support of missions at home and abroad and by sponsoring and promoting the World Day of Prayer."

World Day of Prayer is held each year on the first Friday in Lent. It is observed in more than 17,000 communities in the United States and 105 countries around the world. The day is sponsored in the U. S. by the United Church Women. Its purpose is to unite people of the world in a bond of prayer and Christian fellowship.

Observance began in America in 1887 as a day of prayer for missions in one denomination. In 1942, the United Council of Church Women assumed the sacred trust of preparing the program.

Listed among the local Council's many projects are:

Parcels for peace; donation of a Communion set to the Ulster County Infirmary; allocating money to the YMCA to enable a boy to participate in its activities; helping migrant workers; contributing to The Harvester; bringing Christianity and service to the migrants; working with the YWCA.

Local Service

For the service observed in Kingston on Friday, Miss Ethel M. Hull, president of the council, led the worship. Also participating in the program were Mrs. Casper Souers, Miss Mabel Cook, Mrs. S. B. Chappell, Mrs. Harold Osterhoudt and Miss Evelyn Rosa.

Mrs. Bernard Pauker, soloist, sang for the occasion. She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. William E. Rylance.

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of Fair Street Reformed Church, gave the benediction.

Logan-Baechtle Wedding Announced

Miss Peggy Sue Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Logan of Corsicana, Texas, became the bride of George W. Baechtle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baechtle of Kingston in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, Feb. 14 at 3 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Donald Romme was organist.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore slipper satin and lace and a veil in fingertip length. She carried a prayer book with white orchid and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Hamilton Darling, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor wearing a brown suit with tangerine colored corsage of gladioli.

Hamilton Darling was best man for the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from Corsicana High School and Scott and White Hospital School of Nursing at Temple, Texas. She is employed in the office of Dr. E. MacFadden and Dr. W. E. Askue.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by IBM. He also served with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Insurance Plan Naming Hadassah Beneficiary Is Undertaken by Hadassah at Conference

A unique plan to finance expansion and emergency needs in Israel has been undertaken by Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America.

According to Mrs. Oscar B. London, fund-raising coordinator for the Kingston chapter, the fund will receive money from a special life-insurance plan, under which individual members may insure themselves for one thousand dollars, naming Hadassah as beneficiary. The plan has been underwritten by the Continental Assurance Company.

Mrs. London explained that each Hadassah member taking out such a policy would pay a premium relating to her age. Premiums would be tax-deductible. The national organization will have the privilege of making loans against the cash value of the policies in emergencies.

The local chairman described the new plan as "a wonderful way for an individual to perpetuate her participation and interest in the organization." Local women who wish further information on the program may contact Mrs. London.

The endowment plan was announced at the organization's midwinter conference, held recently in New York City. Speakers included Dr. Jack Karpas, deputy director-general of Hadassah Medical Organization; Yaacob Herzog, Israel's Minister Plenipotentiary to the U. S.; Dr. Eugene Rosenfeld, who reported on progress in building the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center; and Dr. Miriam Freund, national president.

Climaxing the conference was a celebration noting the 25th anniversary of Youth Alyah, international rescue and rehabilitation movement, for which Hadassah serves as U. S. representative. Speaker was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, world patron of Youth Aliyah, who paid tribute to its record in training and educating young people from various parts of the world.

DESCRIPTIVE TAG ON A GIFT

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to leave tags on items one gives for presents? My girl friend's birthday is next week and I bought her a very beautiful handbag. Attached to the bag is a card saying that the bag is made of the finest cowhide leather. When I was wrapping the bag my mother noticed that I had left this tag on and told me to remove it as it was in very bad taste to leave it on. We had quite a discussion about this and I would like to know from you if it is wrong to leave the tag on the bag?

Answer: Your mother is right, the tab about "finest cowhide leather" even though it did not show the price of the bag should be removed. A tag giving the origin and history of some really old object is the only one that may be left attached to a gift.

Christmas Cards to One Bereaved

Dear Mrs. Post: I lost my husband just prior to the Christmas holidays and yet so many people sent me Christmas cards. They knew of this because in all instances the cards were addressed to me alone. Wasn't it thoughtless of them to send cards to me so soon?

Answer: Unless the cards were chosen very carefully—to emphasize the religious instead of the gay aspect of Christmas — I agree that it was more than thoughtless.

Hats At An Evening Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: We had a local woman's club dinner and some of the ladies came in evening dresses, without hats, and those in afternoon dresses wore hats. I think the latter should also have gone without hats to a private dinner. But I seem to be alone in thinking this way.

Answer: Although under usual circumstances, hats are worn with day clothes, I agree with you that in the evening at a private dinner given at a club or in a private house, it would have been in better taste to have come without hats.

Food Prices

To adjust your food budget to rising prices, know how the prices for various foods behave, say Extension Specialists. The Retail Food Price Index prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics measures relative changes in food prices. The Index shows food prices now as 20 per cent higher than ten years ago. This means that the foods city families could buy for $1.00 ten years ago cost about $1.20 now. You may be willing to spend more for food at current prices, or you may wish to find ways to manage within the same food budget you used ten years ago.

While the Retail Food Price Index shows foods generally advanced in price during the past decade, it also shows some foods to vary more in price from month to month than others. By knowing what foods show the greatest seasonal price changes, you can economize by choosing them at their low price points. For example, fresh fruits and vegetables change more in price throughout the year than canned and frozen ones. Fresh tomatoes will likely continue at their high price point of the year for several months yet, but will dip in price during August and September. By knowing the seasonal pattern for fresh tomato prices, you can economize now by buying the canned version and shifting to the fresh type in late summer.

At the Markets

Apples remain the leading low-priced fruit selection. February is a good month to stock up on apples, as prices tend to advance in late February, March, or April. Hothouse rhubarb is a new addition to the low-priced fruits. Grapefruit continues as the most reasonably priced citrus fruit. Avocados and bananas are in good supply at reasonable prices.

Potatoes are very plentiful and remain an outstanding buy. The salad vegetables are also plentiful with the exception of lettuce. Escarole, Endive, Radishes, and Green Onions are moderately priced. Sweet Potatoes are reasonably priced.

Numerous species of fish are in good supply. Those from local waters include cod, flounder, pollock, scup and yellowtail. Species from southern waters are bluefish, Spanish mackerel, King mackerel and red snapper. Clams and scallops are plentiful shellfish items.

Pork and lamb production are up sharply from comparable weeks of a year ago. Retail prices for some cuts of pork and lamb declined in the past month, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

Kingston Day Unit

Mrs. Charles Schulenberg, chairman of the Kingston Day Unit presided at the regular monthly meeting held Thursday, Feb. 12 at 1:30 p. m. in the rooms at 408 Broadway. The meeting was well attended and an interesting program was presented.

Mrs. Beatrice Simmons, counselor for the New York State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation was not able to be present but Miss Hazel M. Steed RN, Executive Director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association attended and gave a brief talk on rehabilitation relative to daily living. She also showed a film entitled "Home Again."

Following the program, Mrs. Schulenberg conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Clifford Dumond reported that the class in advance enameling on copper had completed this project. Mrs Floyd Spencer was her co-worker.

The project on making skirts has been completed under the supervision of Mrs. Fred Fahnrick.

Mrs. Floyd Spencer and Mrs. Vernon Kelley reported progress on the project of Flower Gardening.

An auction will be featured at the March meeting. Members take note of this activity and come prepared.

A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles O'Banks, Mrs. Edward Simrany, Mrs. Rufus Whitney and Mrs. Seymour North. Mrs. Jacob Myers and Miss Ella Carter poured.

Port Ewen Unit

Port Ewen Home Demonstration Unit will hold an open meeting Tuesday 8 p. m. at the firehall. Those attending will bring unfinished projects. Mrs. Katherine Greiner will assist with hats and Mrs. Doris Elmendorf will assist with refinishing bowls.

Kerhonkson P-TA Adopts Proposals

The Kerhonkson Branch of the Rondout Valley Central School District P-TA held a successful meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 11, at which time several worthwhile motions were passed. Among them being one that changed the money presently in the checking account of the Student Loan Fund to the interest bearingg Scholarship Fund.

Saul Altholz was appointed chairman of the committee to raise money for the Scholarship Fund.

The by-laws of the Rondout Valley Parent-Teachers Association Council were adopted. Two noteworthy projects were presented to the meeting and met with approval. One called the Future Teachers' Group permits seniors to observe in the lower grades, another to conduct a seminar for juniors and seniors on evenings for one week in the spring to present different views on college work by guest speakers.

The Association also endorsed a summer session in Remedial Reading, science and mathematics which would enable students to repeat three subjects or let students accelerate their work. Throughout the meeting there was a feeling of friendliness and cooperation which made the evening most successful.

The April 8 meeting is to be Recognition Night at which outstanding students and teachers of long service will be honored. Arthur Chipp, president of the Kerhonkson P-TA and its executive committee, hope that this next meeting will be largely attended.

Fourth Annual Ulster County One Act Play Contest Scheduled by CYO Office Here

All parish youth groups are eligible to enter the fourth annual Ulster County CYO one act play contest which is scheduled for Thursday, May 14 at St. Peter's School.

There are three divisions of competition — elementary, for youngsters attending elementary schools; junior, for groups of boys and girls attending high schools; and senior, minimum age 12, unlimited maximum age.

A nominal entry fee must accompany the official entry to the Catholic Youth Office not later than April 25. The office is located at 23 West Pierpont Street.

Each group selects its own play, with care taken that nothing in the play is offensive to Catholic thought and ideals.

A copy of the play must be submitted to the County CYO office before March 10. The play must have at least four characters in the cast and be not less than 15 minutes nor more than 45 minutes. No duplication of plays will be permitted. Register the title and author of the play with CYO office as soon as selected.

Judging will be accomplished by a panel of three competent judges who will consider choice of play, acting (individual, ensemble, direction).

Winners will represent Ulster County in Archdiocesan finals in New York in June. Plaques will be awarded to the County winners in each division and medals will be presented to the outstanding male and female character of each division.

More detailed information may be obtained from the CYO office in Kingston.

WAS A STRANGER — NOW A FRIEND!

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 17— A few years ago, when Kingston was experiencing growing pains thru the coming of industry, we had the pleasure of meeting and serving many strangers. Today, these same women are still enjoying the fine beauty of our 7 hair stylists.

We relate this little story to illustrate a point: A stranger finds the atmosphere and quality of work conducive to forming a lasting friendship at Mickey's.

MICKEY'S BEAUTY SHOP, 50 N. Front St. Dial FE 8-3275. Open Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Closed Mondays.

What if . . .

Their efficiency does, when you have low HOUSEPOWER!

Appliances working without sufficient current, give you "shrunken service" . . . take longer to heat up . . . never reach the right temperature . . . lights aren't as bright, TV flips and shrinks. These are all symptoms of low HOUSEPOWER — not enough circuits, wires and outlets to give you the kind of service you need for today's electric living.

Don't be in one of the 4 out of 5 homes with low HOUSEPOWER. Make sure your appliances aren't giving you "shrunken service." Call your electrical contractor for a free estimate on providing full HOUSEPOWER for your home.

Food Prices

To adjust your food budget to rising prices, know how the prices for various foods behave, say Extension Specialists. The Retail Food Price Index prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics measures relative changes in food prices. The Index shows food prices now as 20 per cent higher than ten years ago. This means that the foods city families could buy for $1.00 ten years ago cost about $1.20 now. You may be willing to spend more for food at current prices, or you may wish to find ways to manage within the same food budget you used ten years ago.

While the Retail Food Price Index shows foods generally advanced in price during the past decade, it also shows some foods to vary more in price from month to month than others. By knowing what foods show the greatest seasonal price changes, you can economize by choosing them at their low price points. For example, fresh fruits and vegetables change more in price throughout the year than canned and frozen ones. Fresh tomatoes will likely continue at their high price point of the year for several months yet, but will dip in price during August and September. By knowing the seasonal pattern for fresh tomato prices, you can economize now by buying the canned version and shifting to the fresh type in late summer.

At the Markets

Apples remain the leading low-priced fruit selection. February is a good month to stock up on apples, as prices tend to advance in late February, March, or April. Hothouse rhubarb is a new addition to the low-priced fruits. Grapefruit continues as the most reasonably priced citrus fruit. Avocados and bananas are in good supply at reasonable prices.

Potatoes are very plentiful and remain an outstanding buy. The salad vegetables are also plentiful with the exception of lettuce. Escarole, Endive, Radishes, and Green Onions are moderately priced. Sweet Potatoes are reasonably priced.

Numerous species of fish are in good supply. Those from local waters include cod, flounder, pollock, scup and yellowtail. Species from southern waters are bluefish, Spanish mackerel, King mackerel and red snapper. Clams and scallops are plentiful shellfish items.

Pork and lamb production are up sharply from comparable weeks of a year ago. Retail prices for some cuts of pork and lamb declined in the past month, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

Kingston Day Unit

Mrs. Charles Schulenberg, chairman of the Kingston Day Unit presided at the regular monthly meeting held Thursday, Feb. 12 at 1:30 p. m. in the rooms at 408 Broadway. The meeting was well attended and an interesting program was presented.

Mrs. Beatrice Simmons, counselor for the New York State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation was not able to be present but Miss Hazel M. Steed RN, Executive Director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association attended and gave a brief talk on rehabilitation relative to daily living. She also showed a film entitled "Home Again."

Following the program, Mrs. Schulenberg conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Clifford Dumond reported that the class in advance enameling on copper had completed this project. Mrs Floyd Spencer was her co-worker.

The project on making skirts has been completed under the supervision of Mrs. Fred Fahnrick.

Mrs. Floyd Spencer and Mrs. Vernon Kelley reported progress on the project of Flower Gardening.

An auction will be featured at the March meeting. Members take note of this activity and come prepared.

A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles O'Banks, Mrs. Edward Simrany, Mrs. Rufus Whitney and Mrs. Seymour North. Mrs. Jacob Myers and Miss Ella Carter poured.

Port Ewen Unit

Port Ewen Home Demonstration Unit will hold an open meeting Tuesday 8 p. m. at the firehall. Those attending will bring unfinished projects. Mrs. Katherine Greiner will assist with hats and Mrs. Doris Elmendorf will assist with refinishing bowls.

Kerhonkson P-TA Adopts Proposals

The Kerhonkson Branch of the Rondout Valley Central School District P-TA held a successful meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 11, at which time several worthwhile motions were passed. Among them being one that changed the money presently in the checking account of the Student Loan Fund to the interest bearingg Scholarship Fund.

Saul Altholz was appointed chairman of the committee to raise money for the Scholarship Fund.

The by-laws of the Rondout Valley Parent-Teachers Association Council were adopted. Two noteworthy projects were presented to the meeting and met with approval. One called the Future Teachers' Group permits seniors to observe in the lower grades, another to conduct a seminar for juniors and seniors on evenings for one week in the spring to present different views on college work by guest speakers.

The Association also endorsed a summer session in Remedial Reading, science and mathematics which would enable students to repeat three subjects or let students accelerate their work. Throughout the meeting there was a feeling of friendliness and cooperation which made the evening most successful.

The April 8 meeting is to be Recognition Night at which outstanding students and teachers of long service will be honored. Arthur Chipp, president of the Kerhonkson P-TA and its executive committee, hope that this next meeting will be largely attended.

Ex-Columbia JP Must Pay $3,500 Tax Evasion Fine

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A former justice of the peace in Columbia County must pay a $3,500 fine for evasion of federal income taxes.

Burton G. Coons of Red Hook, a diner operator, also was placed on probation for a year when he pleaded guilty Monday to evasion of $3,604 in taxes for 1952.

The indictment originally contained four counts alleging evasion of more than $30,000 in taxes between 1952 and 1955. U. S. District Judge James T. Foley dismissed the three additional counts.

Another Pleads Innocent

In another income-tax case, Lester Krick of Whitesboro, general superintendent of highway maintenance in the State Public Works Department, pleaded innocent to a charge that he listed false charitable and medical deductions totaling $1,607 on his return for 1954, and filed a false claim for a refund.

Foley released Krick in custody of his attorney and gave the attorney 15 days in which to file motions.

Three Gloversville men and the owner of a Gloversville cigar store were fined a total of $2,000 for failing to pay federal gambling taxes.

A fine of $1,000 was levied on Ford W. Trask of Little Falls, who owns the cigar store. He had pleaded guilty to four counts of failing to pay a $250 tax on coin-operated gambling devices and one count of failing to purchase the $50 gambling tax stamp.

Two employes of Trask, Charles Begans and Ernest Shaffer, both of Gloversville, were fined $200 each for failure to buy tax stamps.

Alan C. Krouse, operator of a news store in Gloversville, was fined $600 for failure to buy the stamp.

Foley also ordered two years' probation for Clarence C. White of Rome, who pleaded guilty to sending lewd matter and writing through the mails; and two years probation for Joseph A. Doyle Jr. of Lisbon, a former turnkey at the St. Lawrence County Jail, who pleaded guilty to forging and cashing two social security checks issued to a prisoner.

3 Plead Guilty To Bogus Money

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Two men and a woman arrested last November have pleaded guilty to charges of counterfeiting. Some of the false money in the case was passed in Pennsylvania.

The three, John D'Angelo, 34, Mrs. Dorothy Collins, 40, and James Richway, 29, all from Buffalo, entered their pleas Monday in Federal District Court. Cases against two other men arrested with them are still pending.

D'Angelo and Mrs. Collins admitted passing counterfeit money last April in Erie and Pittsburgh, Pa. Richway pleaded guilty to passing off fake bills here last March.

All three had pleaded innocent earlier.

Federal authorities said the group had dealt in bogus $20 bills.

Judge Harold P. Burke set sentencing for March 10.

According to Donald Parson, in his new book "Fall of the Cards" declarer surveyel dummy with a sigh and lamented, "I'm afraid we did not bid enough."

The lament proved a prelude to disaster. Declarer won the opening trump lead in his own hand and led the ace of spades. If that held he could trump out his two losing spades with dummy's two remaining trumps and make seven.

Unfortunately West trumped the ace of spades and led his last trump. This left South with one trick gone, two losing spades and only one trump in dummy for them. Down he went.

A safety play would have made the hand. South could have led a low spade instead of the ace. He would have lost that trick but that would be all. West could lead a second trump or East could lead any other suit but six hearts would wheel in.

Japanese Folk Music Lecture

NEW PALTZ, Feb. 17—Friday, February 20, the distinguished Japanese musicologist, Masakata Kanazawa, will give a lecture on "Japanese Folk Music" in the College Union Lounge of the State University Teachers College at 7:30. The general public is invited to attend this lecture free of charge.

The lecture will be illustrated by many tapes which Mr. Kanazawa recorded in the field in East Japan, and several unusual pictures of Japanese musical instruments and dancers.

Mr. Kanazawa, while trained in music and theory, western style, is one of very few authorities in this country on the authentic, indigenous music of Japan. His knowledge extends also to the fields of drama and dance, which in Japan, as elsewhere, are closely allied with music.

This event has been announced jointly by Dr. Victor Landau, associate professor of music, and Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, professor of art history, who is acquainted with Mr. Kanazawa and with his contribution to Japanese scholarship.

Mr. Kanazawa has traveled extensively in his native country seeking examples of the ancient arts which have resisted the impact of Western culture. He has preserved, through recordings, a vast amount of songs and dances in the aristocratic classical tradition as well as those of a less sophisticated rural nature.

Four Men Indicted For Stag Holdup

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Four men, three of them from the New York City area, have been indicted on charges on a $1,450 holdup at a stag party in nearby Geneva.

They are accused of robbing 30 guests at a grill last Dec. 17. All four were arrested within a day after the holdup. Police recovered the money.

A few days later an investigation by the Ontario County Grand Jury into gambling in the area was announced.

Charged with first-degree grand larceny and first-degree robbery in the holdup are Robert T. Forbes, 24, of Long Beach; Louis Coluzzi, 29, of Queens; Sheldon Weisberg, 26, Long Beach; and Louis Simeone, 31, of Geneva.

The county grand jury returned the indictment Monday.

Forbes was arrested at the scene. Coluzzi was hit by a police bullet as he tried to flee. Simeone and Weisberg were arrested the next day.

Jamestown, Area May Lose Buses

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—This Chautauqua County city and four nearby villages may soon find themselves without any public bus service.

Mayor Carl F. Sanford disclosed Monday night that the Jamestown Motor Bus Transportation Co. has warned him it will end its operation unless the city pays the company an acceptable price on a lease basis.

He said that J. G. Champbell of Buffalo, owner of the bus company, told him last week the service would have to be stopped otherwise because patronage and revenues were dropping.

Sanford said Campbell had set no date but indicated he wanted to end the service soon because he had an offer from the Cuban government to buy the buses.

Sanford said he would meet with the mayors of the villages, Falconer, Lakewood, Celoron and Bemus Point, to study the problem.

The five communities have a total population of over 50,000.

Thick Ice

Recent measurements in Antarctica have shown the ice to be 9,750 feet deep, with the underlying land 5,000 feet below sea level.

Her Explanation

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Lottie L. Houle, 86, and her 34-year-old husband of two days are honeymooning in Oklahoma City after being married Sunday by a justice of the peace.

Mrs. Houle, whose first husband died in 1934, owns a rooming house in Oklahoma City. Her new husband, Edward, runs a cafe next door.

Asked about her romance, Mrs. Houle quipped:

Pays $33 After Trial

DETROIT (AP)—A $1 overtime parking ticket has cost retired antique dealer Fenton R. Mathews $33.

The suburban Birmingham man got the ticket last October. He refused to pay and asked for a jury trial. The jury found him guilty. The fine, delay and court costs came to $33.

Ex-Columbia JP Must Pay $3,500 Tax Evasion Fine

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A former justice of the peace in Columbia County must pay a $3,500 fine for evasion of federal income taxes.

Burton G. Coons of Red Hook, a diner operator, also was placed on probation for a year when he pleaded guilty Monday to evasion of $3,604 in taxes for 1952.

The indictment originally contained four counts alleging evasion of more than $30,000 in taxes between 1952 and 1955. U. S. District Judge James T. Foley dismissed the three additional counts.

Another Pleads Innocent

In another income-tax case, Lester Krick of Whitesboro, general superintendent of highway maintenance in the State Public Works Department, pleaded innocent to a charge that he listed false charitable and medical deductions totaling $1,607 on his return for 1954, and filed a false claim for a refund.

Foley released Krick in custody of his attorney and gave the attorney 15 days in which to file motions.

Three Gloversville men and the owner of a Gloversville cigar store were fined a total of $2,000 for failing to pay federal gambling taxes.

A fine of $1,000 was levied on Ford W. Trask of Little Falls, who owns the cigar store. He had pleaded guilty to four counts of failing to pay a $250 tax on coin-operated gambling devices and one count of failing to purchase the $50 gambling tax stamp.

Two employes of Trask, Charles Begans and Ernest Shaffer, both of Gloversville, were fined $200 each for failure to buy tax stamps.

Alan C. Krouse, operator of a news store in Gloversville, was fined $600 for failure to buy the stamp.

Foley also ordered two years' probation for Clarence C. White of Rome, who pleaded guilty to sending lewd matter and writing through the mails; and two years probation for Joseph A. Doyle Jr. of Lisbon, a former turnkey at the St. Lawrence County Jail, who pleaded guilty to forging and cashing two social security checks issued to a prisoner.

Mar. 1 Deadline Set for Catholic Youth Essay Test

The deadline for entries to the Catholic Youth Organization essay contest for Catholic boys and girls attending seventh and eighth grade elementary schools is March 1, it was announced today by the Ulster County Division of the CYO.

The topic of the contest is "The contributions of the Catholic Church to the history of New York State."

First and second place awards for boys and girls are silver and gold medals.

Winning papers will be sent to the Archdiocesan contest. Winners of that contest will receive trophies and the school of the winning student will be awarded a CYO plaque.

The essay must be at least 350 words but not more than 385.

Contest blanks are available at the CYO office, 23 West Pierpont Street, Kingston.

Kingston High Plays NFA Tonight Without Uhl in Lineup

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Monday's high riding hopes that sophomore star Joe Uhl would be able to play against Newburgh Academy tonight at Kate Walton field house were rudely jolted this morning.

Coach John Gilligan tried Uhl in a scrimmage session yesterday and didn't like what he saw.

"Uhl definitely is not ready to play," said Gilligan this morning. "He looked slow and it would be useless to start him against a club like Newburgh."

Uhl, one of the scoring sensations of the league, has missed the last three games because of an ankle injury. His absence from the lineup materially reduces the Maroon's chances against the NFA powerhouse.

The Kingston-Newburgh battle tops a heavy Tuesday slate of games. On the DUSO front, Port Jervis is at Middletown, Liberty at Poughkeepsie and Monticello at Ellenville. Beacon plays at Saugerties this afternoon in an important Dutchess County Scholastic league battle.

Arlington's invasion of Onteora will highlight the non-league card. Other contests feature Highland at Wappingers and Haldane at Marlboro.

Newburgh needs the game tonight in the worst way. The Hilly City crew has been struggling to hold a lead over three rivals. Liberty and Port Jervis are breathing hard, one game in the loss column behind the leaders. Kingston has four losses and baring collapse by the Goldbacks,is out of the pennant picture. However, the locals are struggling for a spot in the intersectionals and a win tonight will not only help the club, but will soothe some of the pains of a disappointing season.

'Hard Luck' Team

Kingston has to be given the "hard luck" tab this year. After a bright training period, the first blow was received just before the initial game when Walter "Red" Harder broke a bone in his ankle. He was counted on by Coach Gilligan to be the sixth player. Harder missed several games and only in recent weeks has his ankle improved enough for him to produce all out efforts.

The biggest blow, however, was the injury to Uhl. At the time he was hurt, Joe was leading the league in scoring and was chiefly responsible for his team's battle with Newburgh for the top spot. The locals have lost twice without Uhl and it can safely be said that both scores could have been reversed with the Blonde Bomber in the lineup. Then too, the first Newburgh-Kingston game was a close one until Uhl hurt his ankle in the fourth quarter. Without him, the Goldbacks pulled safely ahead to win.

Debut of Gaspard

Joe Gaspard, who has been handling the jayvee and varsity teams at Newburgh in recent weeks, will coach just the varsity starting tonight. John Pappalau will have charge of the jayvees. George "Lanky" Masterson has finished coaching at NFA, possibly for good. He is suffering from ulcers.

In other DUSO engagements, Liberty is favored at Poughkeepsie in what could be a close one, Port Jervis should have too much height for Middletown and Monticello is favored to turn back Ellenville.

Saugerties may have trouble with an improved Beacon club as the Sawyers try to keep in the battle for the DCSL crown. Onteora is hoping to avenge an early season loss against Arlington. Highland is an underdog at Wappingers and Marlboro should win against Haldane.

Allen Star In Church Loop Game

Bo Allen earned Jack Armstrong honors for Trinity Methodist Church last night, potting two crucial shot in the last 30 seconds to enable Trinty to edge Fair Street Reformed, 51-49, in the church basketball league.

In other games, Clinton Avenue Methodist thumped Salvation Army, 52-32; and First Dutch overwhelmed Immanuel Lutheran 84 to 38.

Boice Leads Scorers

Tar Heels No. 1 Team

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's Tar Heels have taken the lead in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll followed closely by Auburn and Kentucky.

Kentucky will attempt to break Auburn's 30-game winning streak on Saturday. The Wildcats take on Vanderbilt Wednesday night.

In the latest balloting, North Carolina was named first on 38 of 113 ballots cast. The Tar Heels received 871 points.

The top 10 teams, with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. North Carolina (38) 871
2. Auburn (20) 822
3. Kentucky (15) 779
4. Kansas State (14) 711
5. Mississippi State (12) 613

Unknown Leads ABC All-Events

ST LOUIS (AP) — A 29-year-old Detroit welder gained the lead in the all-event division and a virtually unknown Chicago bowler moved to the top in the singles of the American Bowling Congress Tournament Monday.

For a while, Pat Stone, the Detroit welder, led both divisions. Then, Fred Kolcz of Chicago rolled 197-216-268—681 and replaced Stone as the singles leader in the 56th annual tournament.

Stone gained the singles lead on the third day of the 72-day tourney with a 203-252-209—664 series. That score gave him 1,870 for the nine-game course and put him at the top of the all-events division.

Town Ulster LL Plans Six-Team Loop in 1959

Six teams will compete in the Town of Ulster Little league. At a recent meeting of the field committee, May 25, was designated as the date for the opening contest. The game will start at 6 p. m.

Tryouts will start May 3 and conclude May 9 at 6 p. m. Player auction will take place May 9 at 7 p. m. at the Ulster Hose firehouse. Managers will bid for players to fill up a 15 man roster. Saturday, May 23, has been designated by the committee as booster drive day for the franchise area. The six teams, plus managers and coaches will start soliciting at 1 p. m.

The league has expanded its program from four to six teams so that more boys will be in uniform and may be able to participate in Little League ball. The sponsors this year include:

..Yankees — Sponsored by the Ulster Kiwanis Club. Ernest Dousharm will manage the club and George Doll and Fred Wiswell will coach.

Indians — Last year's champions will be sponsored by the Ulster Albany Avenue Businessmen's association. Charles Lay will be manager and Les Caunitz and Frank Short coaches.

Dodger's—Sponsored by Van's Auto Express and managed by John Cook. Coaches will be B. Eccelston and Warner Miller.

Giants — Sponsored by Langer's Pharmacy. Pat Clause will be manager and Morris Corrigan and Rod DeVeaux will coach.

Tigers—Sponsored by Turco's Milk Transport. Managed by Frank Smith and coached by Bob Olson and Don Calkins.

Braves—Sponsored by Muffler Inc. Manager will be Al Benson and coaches will be Chet Hendrickson and Howard Hotaling.

CYO Foul Shooting Tourney Memorial to Former Director

The annual Ulster County CYO foul shooting contest will be staged as a memorial to the late William R. Miley, former Upstate and Regional director of the Catholic Youth Organization, it has been announced.

The boys competition is scheduled Monday, Feb. 23, at 10:30 a. m. in the MJM School. The girls tourney will be held Saturday, Feb. 28, at 10:30 a. m., in the municipal auditorium.

Competition for the boys will be in four classes: Elementary Tyro, junior varsity, varsity and juniors. For the girls: Elementary girls, juniors (girls under 17) and intermediates (girls under 10).

Rules Outlined

Each contestant will be entitled to 10 free throws and shall be eligible to try 15 additional shots, if successful with 5 of the first ten. In case of ties for class championships at the conclusion of the first 25 shots, each contestant tied will throw 10 more shots until a winner has been determined. Contestants must wear basketball sneakers to participate.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second and third place in each class.

In order to compete in the contest a boy must attend the 9 a. m. Mass and attend Holy Communion at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. Breakfast will be served following the Mass at St. Joseph's School. The girls must attend the 9 a. m. Mass at St. Mary's and receive Holy Communion. All boys and girls are asked to offer their prayers and Holy Communion in Mr. Miley's memory.

Bob Baker Says He Might Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, once the No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight championship, said today he was thinking of retiring.

After losing three of his four fights last year, Baker dropped a decisive 10-round decision to Billy Hunter of Detroit at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

He has threatened to retire before but always returned.

DUSO Scoring

Riley Leads With 301 Points, Davis, Uhl Trail NFA Star

LeRoy Riley is making shambles of the DUSO league individual scoring race. The Newburgh Free Academy star has rimmed 301 points in 12 games for a hefty average of 25.1 a start. Ben Davis of Ellenville has jumped to second with a 20.7 average. Big Ben has 247 markers in 12 games.

Joe Uhl of Kingston is still third with 237 points in 10 games for an average of 23.7 a start. There is no doubt that he would be battling Riley for the lead if the ankle injury hadn't forced him to miss three games and parts of two others.

Josh Gerow's 41 point show against Middletown placed him in a fourth place tie with Jack Coonan of Newburgh and gave him the high individual performance for the season. The only other player with more than 200 points in Dick DePew of Poughkeepsie with 209 in 11 games.

Riley has collected the most field goals (121) and Gerow paces the field in successful free throws with 67.

Kingston High Plays NFA Tonight Without Uhl in Lineup

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Monday's high riding hopes that sophomore star Joe Uhl would be able to play against Newburgh Academy tonight at Kate Walton field house were rudely jolted this morning.

Coach John Gilligan tried Uhl in a scrimmage session yesterday and didn't like what he saw.

"Uhl definitely is not ready to play," said Gilligan this morning. "He looked slow and it would be useless to start him against a club like Newburgh."

Uhl, one of the scoring sensations of the league, has missed the last three games because of an ankle injury. His absence from the lineup materially reduces the Maroon's chances against the NFA powerhouse.

The Kingston-Newburgh battle tops a heavy Tuesday slate of games. On the DUSO front, Port Jervis is at Middletown, Liberty at Poughkeepsie and Monticello at Ellenville. Beacon plays at Saugerties this afternoon in an important Dutchess County Scholastic league battle.

Arlington's invasion of Onteora will highlight the non-league card. Other contests feature Highland at Wappingers and Haldane at Marlboro.

Newburgh needs the game tonight in the worst way. The Hilly City crew has been struggling to hold a lead over three rivals. Liberty and Port Jervis are breathing hard, one game in the loss column behind the leaders. Kingston has four losses and baring collapse by the Goldbacks,is out of the pennant picture. However, the locals are struggling for a spot in the intersectionals and a win tonight will not only help the club, but will soothe some of the pains of a disappointing season.

'Hard Luck' Team

Kingston has to be given the "hard luck" tab this year. After a bright training period, the first blow was received just before the initial game when Walter "Red" Harder broke a bone in his ankle. He was counted on by Coach Gilligan to be the sixth player. Harder missed several games and only in recent weeks has his ankle improved enough for him to produce all out efforts.

The biggest blow, however, was the injury to Uhl. At the time he was hurt, Joe was leading the league in scoring and was chiefly responsible for his team's battle with Newburgh for the top spot. The locals have lost twice without Uhl and it can safely be said that both scores could have been reversed with the Blonde Bomber in the lineup. Then too, the first Newburgh-Kingston game was a close one until Uhl hurt his ankle in the fourth quarter. Without him, the Goldbacks pulled safely ahead to win.

Debut of Gaspard

Joe Gaspard, who has been handling the jayvee and varsity teams at Newburgh in recent weeks, will coach just the varsity starting tonight. John Pappalau will have charge of the jayvees. George "Lanky" Masterson has finished coaching at NFA, possibly for good. He is suffering from ulcers.

In other DUSO engagements, Liberty is favored at Poughkeepsie in what could be a close one, Port Jervis should have too much height for Middletown and Monticello is favored to turn back Ellenville.

Saugerties may have trouble with an improved Beacon club as the Sawyers try to keep in the battle for the DCSL crown. Onteora is hoping to avenge an early season loss against Arlington. Highland is an underdog at Wappingers and Marlboro should win against Haldane.

Allen Star In Church Loop Game

Bo Allen earned Jack Armstrong honors for Trinity Methodist Church last night, potting two crucial shot in the last 30 seconds to enable Trinty to edge Fair Street Reformed, 51-49, in the church basketball league.

Allen's driving layup at the 30-second mark tied the score at 49-49. With 12 seconds remaining, Allen stole the ball and hit from the key with the winning deuce.

In other games, Clinton Avenue Methodist thumped Salvation Army, 52-32; and First Dutch overwhelmed Immanuel Lutheran 84 to 38.

Boice Leads Scorers

Chick Boice was individual scoring leader with 29 points. Jay Neer and Bob Reardon canned 20 each and Bo Allen finished with 27, including the four payoff points.

Tar Heels No. 1 Team

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's Tar Heels have taken the lead in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll followed closely by Auburn and Kentucky.

But something's gotta give before the sports writers and broadcasters go to the polls again.

North Carolina, with 16 victories in 17 games, took over the top spot from Kentucky, upset by Mississippi State 66-58. Kentucky dropped to third place. Unbeaten Auburn moved into the runner-up position.

North Carolina goes up against tough North Carolina State Wednesday night and improving Maryland Saturday.

Kentucky will attempt to break Auburn's 30-game winning streak on Saturday. The Wildcats take on Vanderbilt Wednesday night.

In the latest balloting, North Carolina was named first on 38 of 113 ballots cast. The Tar Heels received 871 points.

The top 10 teams, with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. North Carolina (38) 871
2. Auburn (20) 822
3. Kentucky (15) 779

Unknown Leads ABC All-Events

ST LOUIS (AP) — A 29-year-old Detroit welder gained the lead in the all-event division and a virtually unknown Chicago bowler moved to the top in the singles of the American Bowling Congress Tournament Monday.

For a while, Pat Stone, the Detroit welder, led both divisions. Then, Fred Kolcz of Chicago rolled 197-216-268—681 and replaced Stone as the singles leader in the 56th annual tournament.

Stone gained the singles lead on the third day of the 72-day tourney with a 203-252-209—664 series. That score gave him 1,870 for the nine-game course and put him at the top of the all-events division.

Town Ulster LL Plans Six-Team Loop in 1959

Six teams will compete in the Town of Ulster Little league. At a recent meeting of the field committee, May 25, was designated as the date for the opening contest. The game will start at 6 p. m.

Tryouts will start May 3 and conclude May 9 at 6 p. m. Player auction will take place May 9 at 7 p. m. at the Ulster Hose firehouse. Managers will bid for players to fill up a 15 man roster. Saturday, May 23, has been designated by the committee as booster drive day for the franchise area. The six teams, plus managers and coaches will start soliciting at 1 p. m.

The league has expanded its program from four to six teams so that more boys will be in uniform and may be able to participate in Little League ball. The sponsors this year include:

..Yankees — Sponsored by the Ulster Kiwanis Club. Ernest Dousharm will manage the club and George Doll and Fred Wiswell will coach.

Indians — Last year's champions will be sponsored by the Ulster Albany Avenue Businessmen's association. Charles Lay will be manager and Les Caunitz and Frank Short coaches.

Dodger's—Sponsored by Van's Auto Express and managed by John Cook. Coaches will be B. Eccelston and Warner Miller.

Giants — Sponsored by Langer's Pharmacy. Pat Clause will be manager and Morris Corrigan and Rod DeVeaux will coach.

Tigers—Sponsored by Turco's Milk Transport. Managed by Frank Smith and coached by Bob Olson and Don Calkins.

Braves—Sponsored by Muffler Inc. Manager will be Al Benson and coaches will be Chet Hendrickson and Howard Hotaling.

CYO Foul Shooting Tourney Memorial to Former Director

The annual Ulster County CYO foul shooting contest will be staged as a memorial to the late William R. Miley, former Upstate and Regional director of the Catholic Youth Organization, it has been announced.

The boys competition is scheduled Monday, Feb. 23, at 10:30 a. m. in the MJM School. The girls tourney will be held Saturday, Feb. 28, at 10:30 a. m., in the municipal auditorium.

Competition for the boys will be in four classes: Elementary Tyro, junior varsity, varsity and juniors. For the girls: Elementary girls, juniors (girls under 17) and intermediates (girls under 10).

Rules Outlined

Each contestant will be entitled to 10 free throws and shall be eligible to try 15 additional shots, if successful with 5 of the first ten. In case of ties for class championships at the conclusion of the first 25 shots, each contestant tied will throw 10 more shots until a winner has been determined. Contestants must wear basketball sneakers to participate.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second and third place in each class.

In order to compete in the contest a boy must attend the 9 a. m. Mass and attend Holy Communion at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston. Breakfast will be served following the Mass at St. Joseph's School. The girls must attend the 9 a. m. Mass at St. Mary's and receive Holy Communion. All boys and girls are asked to offer their prayers and Holy Communion in Mr. Miley's memory.

Boys Club Forms Bowling League

Bob Baker Says He Might Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, once the No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight championship, said today he was thinking of retiring.

After losing three of his four fights last year, Baker dropped a decisive 10-round decision to Billy Hunter of Detroit at St. Nicholas Arena Mohday night.

"I can't see taking this kind of beating for a couple of hundred dollars," Baker said.

He has threatened to retire before but always returned.

Baker weighed 218 to 188¼ for Hunter, who was an 8-5 underdog.

DUSO Scoring

Riley Leads With 301 Points, Davis, Uhl Trail NFA Star

LeRoy Riley is making shambles of the DUSO league individual scoring race. The Newburgh Free Academy star has rimmed 301 points in 12 games for a hefty average of 25.1 a start. Ben Davis of Ellenville has jumped to second with a 20.7 average. Big Ben has 247 markers in 12 games.

Joe Uhl of Kingston is still third with 237 points in 10 games for an average of 23.7 a start. There is no doubt that he would be battling Riley for the lead if the ankle injury hadn't forced him to miss three games and parts of two others.

Josh Gerow's 41 point show against Middletown placed him in a fourth place tie with Jack Coonan of Newburgh and gave him the high individual performance for the season. The only other player with more than 200 points in Dick DePew of Poughkeepsie with 209 in 11 games.

Riley has collected the most field goals (121) and Gerow paces the field in successful free throws with 67.

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Howdy. Long time no see.

During the hiatus of this corner while the ancient glories of the original Colonials were being extolled, we were gratified by the number of letters we received and many persons who took time out to discuss the series with us.

Some of it was done by ear, since the faded boxscores were not too clear. We guessed on some of the first names but the boxscores themselves were accurate duplicates of those which appeared more than 30 years ago.

We asked dozens of old timers if they could recall the dates of two major league exhibitions—the first one with the Philadelphia Phillies, the other with the Boston Braves. There is a dim boyhood recollection that the contest against the Phillies was the first major league exhibition for Judge Harry Schirick's originals.

It took place on a dark, overcast day at the old Fair Grounds, with Huck Betts pitching for the Phillies and Rube Forsythe of Rhinebeck underhanding them for the Colonials. "Rube showed the Phillies some tricks they never saw in the National League," said Bud Culloton the other day. Big attraction that day of course was old Cy Williams, who was Babe Ruth's counterpart in the National League. Williams didn't hit a homer, retired early and the game was called after 10 innings a 2-2 tie.

RASKIN'S BIG DAY

Tubby Raskin, a Brooklyn College product, had a big day against the Boston Braves, rapping a triple and home run. Old Jack Warhop pitched for Kingston and Red Lucas got into the act for the Braves. Lucas, a reformed second baseman, was lured into a verbal joust with the late Red Henry of Saugerties, the No. 1 Colonial jockey of those days. History recalls that the acerbic Henry came off a poor second against Lucas, who went on to a measure of fame in the National League.

We promised one final installment on the Colonial series and didn't deliver. It was intended to deal with the all-time Colonial all-star squad, but we couldn't honestly determine the outfield selections. The pitchers were easy—Bud Culloton, Rube Forsythe and Art Smith. There was only one Jack Robbins and no catcher came close.

OUTFIELD TOUGH PICK

There was little hesitation on the infield quartet. On the basis of steady performance over the long haul we had to go with Tubby Raskin at first base; Matty Deegan, second; Johnny White at shortstop and Bernie McCue at third. Some might pick Howie Carter over McCue, but we think Bernie wielded the more potent bat. Maury McDermott was a great first baseman, a better than average pitcher and outfielder.

You run into deep trouble trying to pick the top three outfielders. The Colonials made constant changes in the outfield personnel, although Bill Schwab of Kingston rated as the perennial of the crop. There were many, but the stickouts seem to have been Schwab, Lefty Morgan, Leo Fitzgerald, Big Ed Phalen, Murray, Kelly Herbst, Ted Karis and Tex Kelly. Which three would you pick.

In final retrospect, the Kingston Colonials were truly a fabulous baseball dynasty. They played more than 500 games against the best independent opposition available in this part of the country. They played nine major league teams in exhibitions, with the major squads always at full strength. They played during an era in our history when the home town baseball team was something of a civic institution. The war and the erosions of radio and television changed all that.

There are those who dream of the return of such conditions. And some who insist it will happen when the world has become satiated with radio and TV. We suggest they not hold their breath until it happens.

Schoendienst Makes Excellent Recovery

ST. LOUIS (AP)—If an operation scheduled Thursday for Red Schoendienst, second baseman of the Milwaukee Braves, goes well, "we can measure Red's convalescence in weeks rather than months," his physician says.

The doctor said no surgery was originally anticipated but the operation might "accelerate recovery and Red may be better off for it in the long run."

He described Schoendiest's recovery thus far as being excellent.

Bailey Howell Gains on Big O

NEW YORK (AP) — Bailey Howell of Mississippi State is closing in on Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Leo Byrd of Marshall in the individual scoring race among major college basketball players.

Howell scored 33 points against Georgia Monday night to boost his season's average to 28.8. Robertson, who has 32.5, and Byrd, 29.6, were idle.

Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech moved up one notch to fourth place with a 37 - point output against George Washington. This increased his average to 28.6.

Tim Mara Dies at 71

NEW YORK (AP) — Tim Mara, who brought the National Football League's New York Giants into headlines, is dead from a heart attack.

The former president of the club died at his home Monday night. He was 71.

Mara retired as the club's president 10 years ago. It has since been handled by his sons, John and Wellington. John is the Giants president and Wellington is secretary.

Last season, the club won the Eastern Division title but lost in the championship game to the Baltimore Colts.

Mara invested $2,500, and with former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney's manager, Billy Gibson, activated the club in 1925. He later bought out Gibson.

The general irishman had a knack of getting football's most heralded stars on his payroll, among them Ken Strong, Mel Hein, Bennie Friedman and Duffy Leemans.

Nevers Scores

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — After 25 years of trying, Ernie Nevers scored a hole-in-one on the 122-yard eighth hole of the Olympic Club's Lake course. He is the former Stanford and professional fullback.

Mississippi State Wins Game and Fights

ATHENS Ga. (AP) — Mississippi State survived a fist fight Monday night to celebrate with another basketball victory its climb to fifth place in the Associated Press poll.

The Maroons whipped Georgia 76-56 but they knew they had been in a fight, in more ways than one.

Six minutes into the second half, fisticuffs broke out on the court and it took police and officials five minutes to restore order.

Leading 48-40, State was moving down court when Georgia's Sonny Poss blocked Bailey Howell, State's All - American candidate Howell headed for the free throw line but Poss and State's Jerry Ketton lingered at midcourt. Suddenly Poss popped Keeton and the brawl was on. Players leaped into action and spectators quickly crowded around.

The officials didn't throw any players out of the game but Poss was yanked and never returned.

Lumpe and Maris, Kids 'On Block' Sign Contracts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry Lumpe of the New York Yankees and Roger Maris of the Kansas City Athletics, both reported on the trading block, have signed their 1959 baseball contracts. The announcements were made by the respective teams Monday.

Lumpe, a third baseman who batted .254 last year, has been mentioned as part of a package that might go to Washington in exchange for either Pedro Ramos or Camillo Pascual, both pitchers. The transaction, according to reports, also may involve Johnny Kucks, a pitcher, and first baseman Marv Throneberry of New York.

Maris has been rumoed on his way to the Yanks or to Detroit. The young outfielder had 19 home runs and batted .248 in 1958.

Another American League club, the Chicago White Sox, reported three signings. Those coming to terms were pitchers Don Rudolph and Gerry Staley and infielder Billy Goodman.

Other signers included pitcher Mark Freeman of the Yankees, first baseman Jim Koranda and Norm Larker, pitcher Dan McDevitt, catcher Joe Pignatano and outfielder Don Demeter of Los Angeles and pitcher Jim Brosnan of St. Louis.

Bathgate Top Hockey Scorer

MONTREAL (AP)—To the surprise of everyone except the New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate, there is no doubt as to the National Hockey League's current top scorer.

Official league statistics released today credit him with 36 assists to go with his 29 goals for 65 points.

Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion and Ed Litzenberger of Chicago are tied for second with 64 points.

Geoffrion has 21 goals and 43 assists, the latter tops in the league. Litzenberger has 28 goals and 36 assists.

Montreal's Dickie Moore, fifth in scoring with 61 points, is the top goal-producer with 30. Gordie Howe of Detroit also has 61 points.

No Local Games In Playoffs

Intersectional basketball games between the top city schools of the DUSO league (Section Nine) and the top teams in the Albany circuit (Section Two) will be played this year at Newburgh and Troy, it was made known yesterday by G. Warren Kias.

The first place DUSO league city team, which figures to be Newburgh, will meet the second place team in the upstate circuit at the Hilly City gym on Friday, March 6. The second place DUSO circuit, which will probably be Kingston, will meet the first place team upstate at Troy on the same date.

The two winners will collide Saturday, March 14, at Newburgh, if one of the winning clubs is from the DUSO league. If both upstate quintets win, the final game will take place in Troy.

Nyack of the Rockland county league is also included in the sectional setup and Kias said something will have to be figured out to get Nyack to take part in the sectional eliminations.

Matthews Wants Title Contest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Len Matthews is hunting big game again after a sparkling second round TKO over Ray Lancaster, the man who first marred his ring record.

The Philadelphia lightweight was all fury Monday night as he rocked Lancaster with solid combinations to the head from shortly after the opening bell of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Matthews' manager, Tony Graziano, said later he would try to arrange a match with Carlos Ortiz, among the top-rated lightweights. Matthews, only 19 and already sniffing title aroma, said he, too, would like that bout.

Matthews, at 135, decided to box more and slug less against Lancaster, 138. But when a stiff left hook shook the 24-year-old Spartanburg, S. C., fighter in the first round, Matthews went back to his old slam-bang style.

"I figured it was time to look like myself again after those last two fights," he explained.

Predict Graham As New Coach at Coast Guard

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Former Cleveland Brown quarterback Otto Graham and the Coast Guard Academy officials gave one another a second look Monday. The "wanted" sign is apt to come out of the academy's window in a week.

Graham may then come permanently to New London where he would fill the vacant head football coaching post.

The 37-year-old football great was in Washington Monday to confer with Vice Adm. A. C. Richmond, commandant of the Coast Guard.

Graham said upon his return to Cleveland he would make up his mind in a week or so.

At New London the academy's athletic director, Capt. John Forney said. "Graham is by no means the only fellow we are considering. But he is our top prospect."

Howdy. Long time no see.

During the hiatus of this corner while the ancient glories of the original Colonials were being extolled, we were gratified by the number of letters we received and many persons who took time out to discuss the series with us.

Some of it was done by ear, since the faded boxscores were not too clear. We guessed on some of the first names but the boxscores themselves were accurate duplicates of those which appeared more than 30 years ago.

We asked dozens of old timers if they could recall the dates of two major league exhibitions—the first one with the Philadelphia Phillies, the other with the Boston Braves. There is a dim boyhood recollection that the contest against the Phillies was the first major league exhibition for Judge Harry Schirick's originals.

It took place on a dark, overcast day at the old Fair Grounds, with Huck Betts pitching for the Phillies and Rube Forsythe of Rhinebeck underhanding them for the Colonials. "Rube showed the Phillies some tricks they never saw in the National League," said Bud Culloton the other day. Big attraction that day of course was old Cy Williams, who was Babe Ruth's counterpart in the National League. Williams didn't hit a homer, retired early and the game was called after 10 innings a 2-2 tie.

RASKIN'S BIG DAY

Tubby Raskin, a Brooklyn College product, had a big day against the Boston Braves, rapping a triple and home run. Old Jack Warhop pitched for Kingston and Red Lucas got into the act for the Braves. Lucas, a reformed second baseman, was lured into a verbal joust with the late Red Henry of Saugerties, the No. 1 Colonial jockey of those days. History recalls that the acerbic Henry came off a poor second against Lucas, who went on to a measure of fame in the National League.

We promised one final installment on the Colonial series and didn't deliver. It was intended to deal with the all-time Colonial all-star squad, but we couldn't honestly determine the outfield selections. The pitchers were easy—Bud Culloton, Rube Forsythe and Art Smith. There was only one Jack Robbins and no catcher came close.

OUTFIELD TOUGH PICK

There was little hesitation on the infield quartet. On the basis of steady performance over the long haul we had to go with Tubby Raskin at first base; Matty Deegan, second; Johnny White at shortstop and Bernie McCue at third. Some might pick Howie Carter over McCue, but we think Bernie wielded the more potent bat. Maury McDermott was a great first baseman, a better than average pitcher and outfielder.

You run into deep trouble trying to pick the top three outfielders. The Colonials made constant changes in the outfield personnel, although Bill Schwab of Kingston rated as the perennial of the crop. There were many, but the stickouts seem to have been Schwab, Lefty Morgan, Leo Fitzgerald, Big Ed Phalen, Murray, Kelly Herbst, Ted Karis and Tex Kelly. Which three would you pick.

In final retrospect, the Kingston Colonials were truly a fabulous baseball dynasty. They played more than 500 games against the best independent opposition available in this part of the country. They played nine major league teams in exhibitions, with the major squads always at full strength. They played during an era in our history when the home town baseball team was something of a civic institution. The war and the erosions of radio and television changed all that.

There are those who dream of the return of such conditions. And some who insist it will happen when the world has become satiated with radio and TV. We suggest they not hold their breath until it happens.

Schoendienst Makes Excellent Recovery

ST. LOUIS (AP)—If an operation scheduled Thursday for Red Schoendienst, second baseman of the Milwaukee Braves, goes well, "we can measure Red's convalescence in weeks rather than months," his physician says.

Schoendienst is bedfast with tuberculosis in Mount St. Rose Hospital here where the operation will be performed.

The doctor said no surgery was originally anticipated but the operation might "accelerate recovery and Red may be better off for it in the long run."

It would "increase his chances of playing in 1960," the doctor said.

He described Schoendiest's recovery thus far as being excellent.

Bailey Howell Gains on Big O

NEW YORK (AP) — Bailey Howell of Mississippi State is closing in on Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Leo Byrd of Marshall in the individual scoring race among major college basketball players.

Howell scored 33 points against Georgia Monday night to boost his season's average to 28.8. Robertson, who has 32.5, and Byrd, 29.6, were idle.

Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech moved up one notch to fourth place with a 37 - point output against George Washington. This increased his average to 28.6.

Robertson s point total is 585, Byrd's is 563, Howell 633 and Ayersman 515.

Tim Mara Dies at 71

NEW YORK (AP) — Tim Mara, who brought the National Football League's New York Giants into headlines, is dead from a heart attack.

The former president of the club died at his home Monday night. He was 71.

Mara retired as the club's president 10 years ago. It has since been handled by his sons, John and Wellington. John is the Giants president and Wellington is secretary.

Last season, the club won the Eastern Division title but lost in the championship game to the Baltimore Colts.

Mara invested $2,500, and with former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney's manager, Billy Gibson, activated the club in 1925. He later bought out Gibson.

The general irishman had a knack of getting football's most heralded stars on his payroll, among them Ken Strong, Mel Hein, Bennie Friedman and Duffy Leemans.

The Giants won four world championships 1927, 1934, 1938 and 1956 — and eight conference titles.

Nevers Scores

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — After 25 years of trying, Ernie Nevers scored a hole-in-one on the 122-yard eighth hole of the Olympic Club's Lake course. He is the former Stanford and professional fullback.

Mississippi State Wins Game and Fights

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Mississippi State survived a fist fight Monday night to celebrate with another basketball victory its climb to fifth place in the Associated Press poll.

The Maroons whipped Georgia 76-56 but they knew they had been in a fight, in more ways than one.

Six minutes into the second half, fisticuffs broke out on the court and it took police and officials five minutes to restore order.

Leading 48-40, State was moving down court when Georgia's Sonny Poss blocked Bailey Howell, State's All - American candidate Howell headed for the free throw line but Poss and State's Jerry Ketton lingered at midcourt. Suddenly Poss popped Keeton and the brawl was on. Players leaped into action and spectators quickly crowded around.

The officials didn't throw any players out of the game but Poss was yanked and never returned.

Lumpe and Maris, Kids 'On Block' Sign Contracts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry Lumpe of the New York Yankees and Roger Maris of the Kansas City Athletics, both reported on the trading block, have signed their 1959 baseball contracts. The announcements were made by the respective teams Monday.

Lumpe, a third baseman who batted .254 last year, has been mentioned as part of a package that might go to Washington in exchange for either Pedro Ramos or Camillo Pascual, both pitchers. The transaction, according to reports, also may involve Johnny Kucks, a pitcher, and first baseman Marv Throneberry of New York.

Maris has been rumored on his way to the Yanks or to Detroit. The young outfielder had 19 home runs and batted .248 in 1958.

Another American League club, the Chicago White Sox, reported three signings. Those coming to terms were pitchers Don Rudolph and Gerry Staley and infielder Billy Goodman.

Other signers included pitcher Mark Freeman of the Yankees, first baseman Jim Koranda and Norm Larker, pitcher Dan McDevitt, catcher Joe Pignatano and outfielder Don Demeter of Los Angeles and pitcher Jim Brosnan of St. Louis.

Bathgate Top Hockey Scorer

MONTREAL (AP)—To the surprise of everyone except the New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate, there is no doubt as to the National Hockey League's current top scorer.

Official league statistics released today credit him with 36 assists to go with his 29 goals for 65 points.

Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion and Ed Litzenberger of Chicago are tied for second with 64 points.

Geoffrion has 21 goals and 43 assists, the latter tops in the league. Litzenberger has 28 goals and 36 assists.

Montreal's Dickie Moore, fifth in scoring with 61 points, is the top goal-producer with 30. Gordie Howe of Detroit also has 61 points.

No Local Games In Playoffs

Intersectional basketball games between the top city schools of the DUSO league (Section Nine) and the top teams in the Albany circuit (Section Two) will be played this year at Newburgh and Troy, it was made known yesterday by G. Warren Kias.

The first place DUSO league city team, which figures to be Newburgh, will meet the second place team in the upstate circuit at the Hilly City gym on Friday, March 6. The second place DUSO circuit, which will probably be Kingston, will meet the first place team upstate at Troy on the same date.

The two winners will collide Saturday, March 14, at Newburgh, if one of the winning clubs is from the DUSO league. If both upstate quintets win, the final game will take place in Troy.

Nyack of the Rockland county league is also included in the sectional setup and Kias said something will have to be figured out to get Nyack to take part in the sectional eliminations.

Matthews Wants Title Contest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Len Matthews is hunting big game again after a sparkling second round TKO over Ray Lancaster, the man who first marred his ring record.

The Philadelphia lightweight was all fury Monday night as he rocked Lancaster with solid combinations to the head from shortly after the opening bell of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Lancaster never went down, but was virtually out on his feet when Referee Joe Sweeney halted the action at 2:23 with Lancaster against the ropes.

Matthews' manager, Tony Graziano, said later he would try to arrange a match with Carlos Ortiz, among the top-rated lightweights. Matthews, only 19 and already sniffing title aroma, said he, too, would like that bout.

Matthews had won all 15 of his pro fights when Lancaster held him to a draw last December.

Matthews, at 135, decided to box more and slug less against Lancaster, 138. But when a stiff left hook shook the 24-year-old Spartanburg, S. C., fighter in the first round, Matthews went back to his old slam-bang style.

"I figured it was time to look like myself again after those last two fights," he explained.

Predict Graham As New Coach at Coast Guard

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Former Cleveland Brown quarterback Otto Graham and the Coast Guard Academy officials gave one another a second look Monday. The "wanted" sign is apt to come out of the academy's window in a week.

Graham may then come permanently to New London where he would fill the vacant head football coaching post.

The 37-year-old football great was in Washington Monday to confer with Vice Adm. A. C. Richmond, commandant of the Coast Guard.

Graham said upon his return to Cleveland he would make up his mind in a week or so.

At New London the academy's athletic director, Capt. John Forney said. "Graham is by no means the only fellow we are considering. But he is our top prospect."

Canadian Six Romps

JOENKOEPING, Sweden (AP) — Canada's amateur ice hockey team, the Belleville MacFarlands, smashed a provincial Swedish team 17-3 Monday night.

GREETING:
YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY CITED TO SHOW CAUSE at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster at the Surrgate's Office in the City of Kingston, N. Y., on the 16th day of March, 1959, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the account of proceedings of JOSEPH L. DEUTSCH of the Town of Woodstock, County of Ulster and State of New York, as Executor of said deceased, should not be judicially settled and allowed upon the petition of said Joseph L. Deutsch, and why the validity and effect of the election of Alfred Farrell, the surviving husband of the said Carla Farrell, deceased, to take an intestate share against the provisions of the Will of the said decedent under Section 18 of the Decedent Estate Law should not be determined.
IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed.
WITNESS, HON. CHARLES [L. S.] H. GAFFNEY, Surrogate of our said County of Ulster, at Kingston, N. Y., this 4th day of February, 1959.

Brenner Pleads Innocent

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Westchester County Judge George A. Brenner has pleaded innocent to charges of frauds involving $600,000.
He made his plea from a stretcher, because of serious injuries suffered in an auto accident prior to his indictment on charges of forgery, grand larceny and conspiracy.
Brenner, 55, appeared in court Monday, one day after his name was taken off the critical list at Misericordia Hospital in the Bronx.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT: ULSTER COUNTY.
CASE NO. 28409
FRANMA REALTY CORP., Plaintiff, against OTTO'S MOTEL & RESTAURANT, INC., ET AL., Defendants.
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale entered in the above entitled action bearing date the 27th day of December, 1958, and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 29th day of December, 1958, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House on Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 6th day of March, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the real property directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:
ALL THAT CERTAIN PLOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Town of Esopus, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:
BEGINNING at a stake driven in the ground on the easterly side of the public highway leading from Kingston to Newburgh, said point being about one hundred and ninety nine feet distant southwesterly from the southwest corner of the property of William Yesse and Mabel Yesse, his wife, from thence running along the easterly side of the said public highway on a course of south thirty one degrees forty four minutes west for a distance of one hundred feet to a point in the lands of the party of first part, Mollie Sullivan, thence on a course south sixty seven degrees east for a distance of two hundred and two and five tenths (202.5) feet more or less to the southeast corner of the lot hereby conveyed thence on a course of north twenty three degrees east for a distance of one hundred feet more or less to a stake driven in the ground, thence on a course of north sixty seven degrees west for a distance of one hundred and eighty-seven and five tenths (187.5) feet to the easterly side of the aforesaid public highway leading from Kingston to Newburgh, the point or place of beginning.
ALSO, all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the Town of Esopus, County of Ulster and State of New York, more particularly described as follows:
BEGINNING at the Northeasterly corner of the property conveyed by Gertrude Sullivan to Edmund Lutz, by deed dated May 27, 1931, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 551, at page 436, from thence running along the easterly bounds of the party of the second part on a bearing of North Twenty-three (23) Degrees forty-nine (49) minutes East for a distance of one hundred (100) feet; thence on a bearing of South sixty-six (66) Degrees eleven (11) minutes East for a distance of one hundred and thirty (130) feet to the stone wall; thence along the said stone wall on a bearing of South twenty-one (21) degrees thirty-five (35) minutes west for a distance of one hundred (100) feet; thence along the bounds of the property to be conveyed to Edmund Lutz, in a Northwesterly direction for a distance of one hundred thirty-three and ninety hundredths (133.90) feet to the point or place of beginning.
Both of the above described parcels being the same premises devised by Ernest Tarrock to Lillian Tarrock by his Last Will and Testament, admitted to probate in the Ulster County Surrogate's Court on the 2nd day of May, 1949.
Said real property will be sold subject to the lien of a prior mortgage held by Lillian Tarrock dated July 15, 1955 and recorded on the 15th day of July, 1955 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 732 of Mortgages at Page 282, upon which there remains unpaid the sum of Ten Thousand Eight Hundred Three and 72/100 ($10,803.72) Dollars and accrued interest thereon from the 15th day of November, 1958.

LEGAL NOTICE

Following the sale of said real property, if necessary, I will also sell, at the same time and place the following personal property and chattels directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:
1—25 cubic foot Philco Freezer No. V2545, 2—25 cubic foot stainless steel Universal Refrigerators, 1 gas range, 10 double beds, 10 inner springs, 45 chairs, 1 Wall booth, 11 booths, 10 oblong tables, 5 round tables, 3 service tray stands, 1 coffee urn and stand, 2 chromium and wrought iron hat and coat racks, 1 Wurlitzer spinet piano, 1 piano stool, 1 Universal Dishwasher and sterilizer with booster plus flush automatic cleaner, 1 sink with 2 holes, 1 full size steam table, 1 Vulcan 6 hole range broiler and grill, 2 double Deep Frys (gas) Star-Omatic, 1 kitchen service table with rack. LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT: ULSTER COUNTY.
CASE NO. 28409

FRANMA REALTY CORP., Plaintiff, against OTTO'S MOTEL & RESTAURANT, INC., ET AL., Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale entered in the above entitled action bearing date the 27th day of December, 1958, and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 29th day of December, 1958, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House on Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 6th day of March, 1959, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the real property directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN PLOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Town of Esopus, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake driven in the ground on the easterly side of the public highway leading from Kingston to Newburgh, said point being about one hundred and ninety nine feet distant southwesterly from the southwest corner of the property of William Yesse and Mabel Yesse, his wife, from thence running along the easterly side of the said public highway on a course of south thirty one degrees forty four minutes west for a distance of one hundred feet to a point in the lands of the party of first part, Mollie Sullivan, thence on a course south sixty seven degrees east for a distance of two hundred and two and five tenths (202.5) feet more or less to the southeast corner of the lot hereby conveyed thence on a course of north twenty three degrees east for a distance of one hundred feet more or less to a stake driven in the ground, thence on a course of north sixty seven degrees west for a distance of one hundred and eighty-seven and five tenths (187.5) feet to the easterly side of the aforesaid public highway leading from Kingston to Newburgh, the point or place of beginning.

ALSO, all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the Town of Esopus, County of Ulster and State of New York, more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at the Northeasterly corner of the property conveyed by Gertrude Sullivan to Edmund Lutz, by deed dated May 27, 1931, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 551, at page 436, from thence running along the easterly bounds of the party of the second part on a bearing of North Twenty-three (23) Degrees forty-nine (49) minutes East for a distance of one hundred (100) feet; thence on a bearing of South sixty-six (66) Degrees eleven (11) minutes East for a distance of one hundred and thirty (130) feet to the stone wall; thence along the said stone wall on a bearing of South twenty-one (21) degrees thirty-five (35) minutes west for a distance of one hundred (100) feet; thence along the bounds of the property to be conveyed to Edmund Lutz, in a Northwesterly direction for a distance of one hundred thirty-three and ninety hundredths (133.90) feet to the point or place of beginning.

Both of the above described parcels being the same premises devised by Ernest Tarrock to Lillian Tarrock by his Last Will and Testament, admitted to probate in the Ulster County Surrogate's Court on the 2nd day of May, 1949.

Said real property will be sold subject to the lien of a prior mortgage held by Lillian Tarrock dated July 15, 1955 and recorded on the 15th day of July, 1955 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 732 of Mortgages at Page 282, upon which there remains unpaid the sum of Ten Thousand Eight Hundred Three and 72/100 ($10,803.72) Dollars and accrued interest thereon from the 15th day of November, 1958.

Following the sale of said real property, if necessary, I will also sell, at the same time and place the following personal property and chattels directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

1—25 cubic foot Philco Freezer No. V2545. 2—25 cubic foot stainless steel Universal Refrigerators, 1 gas range, 10 double beds, 10 inner springs, 45 chairs, 1 Wall booth, 11 booths, 10 oblong tables, 5 round tables, 3 service tray stands, 1 coffee urn and stand, 2 chromium and wrought iron hat and coat racks, 1 Wurlitzer spinet piano, 1 piano stool, 1 Universal Dishwasher and sterilizer with booster plus flush automatic cleaner, 1 sink with 2 holes, 1 full size steam table, 1 Vulcan 6 hole range broiler and grill, 2 double Deep Frys (gas) Star-Omatic, 1 kitchen service table with rack. Dishes—shell pink china to serve 36 people. Silver serviceware to serve 30 people, 1 16 foot steel hood, 1 Electric fan over stove, 1 70 foot bar fully equipped, 1 back bar with 6 compartments, 1 beer cooler, 21 bar stools, 5 speaker Hi Fi, Deluxe, 3 microphones, 5½ ton cooling system, (Silvertone-Sears Roebuck), 1 Hi Fi Broadcasting system. Including and covering also all furniture, fixtures, floor covering, venetian blinds, draperies, refrigerators, electrical fixtures, lamps, mirrors, equipment, personal property and chattels of any kind and nature now or hereafter owned by the mortgagor herein, or in which the mortgagor may now or hereafter have any interest, to the extent of such interest, whether located at the premises of the mortgagor hereinabove described, and where the above mentioned chattels are located, or elsewhere, or which personal property, chattels, furniture, fixtures, floor covering, venetian blinds, draperies, refrigerators, electrical fixtures, lamps and mirrors, and equipment may now or at any time hereafter be used by the mortgagor in connection with the operation of its business.

Subject to the rights of all prior mortgages, conditional vendors and lienors and the right of the United States of America to redeem said property within one (1) year from the date of sale.

Dated: January 16th, 1959.

AFL-CIO Discuss March on Capital By U.S. Jobless

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders are considering a mass march of hundreds of thousands of jobless Americans on Washington to dramatize the unemployment problem.

The labor union chiefs holding their winter meeting in this sun-drenched Caribbean resort were reported planning a series of blockbuster declarations criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies and urging more government spending to reach full production and full employment.

Will Denounce Budget

Chairman Walter Reuther has been drafting a series of statements in closed sessions of the AFL-CIO Economic Committee.

An initial statement, due for Executive Council approval Wednesday, reportedly denounces Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget as inadequate for the nation's development to meet the Soviet Union's production threat.

Reuther is reported considering labor sponsorship of a mass influx, by train, auto and afoot, of thousands of idle workers on the capital to appeal to the President and Congress for economic legislative action.

Reuther first broached the idea of a jobless march before an AFL-CIO legislative conference in Lansing, Mich., Feb. 6. He said it would "shatter the complacency of the nation's leaders."

Totals 4,700,000

Reuther told newsmen here the nation's January jobless total of 4,700,000 would mount to around five million this month. He said that at least 1½ million additional jobless were too discouraged to seek work and don't show on the unemployed rolls. Millions of others are underemployed, working part time, he added.

"We have to use a little shock treatment to wake up our government to this dire situation," said Reuther, who heads the United Auto Workers as well as the industrial union division of the AFL-CIO.

Word reached here from Washington that negotiations had collapsed between court-named monitors and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to speed anti-corruption reforms in his union.

Dinner of Ulster GOP Is Thursday

The annual membership dinner of the Town of Ulster Republican Club is scheduled Thursday, and Judge John B. Sterley is to be the speaker.

Robert Stedge, president of the club, said that tonight is the deadline on reservations for the dinner to be served at Aiello's Restaurant on the Bypass at 6:30 p. m.

Reservations may be phoned to President Stedge at his home, 23 Columbia Street, or John Walker, Sawkill Road.

Judge Sterley, a former surrogate of Ulster County, is chairman of the Republican City Committee. He has been active in his party over a long period of years.

County Vols to Meet

The meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held today at 8 p. m. in the Common Council Chamber at City Hall. The Association will be guests of the Veteran Volunteer Firemens' Association.

Cold Weather Is Due For Next 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for mid-February to mid-March calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern third of the nation east of the Continental Divide.

The bureau added:

"Above normal temperatures are predicted over the southern third of the country and also for the entire area west of the divide. In areas not specified, near normal averages with large temperature fluctuations are in prospect.

"Precipitation over the eastern two-thirds of the nation is expected to be subnormal over the South and also over the northern tier of states. Amounts exceeding normal are expected in West Coast states. In unspecified areas, near normal precipitation is indicated."

CS Exams Set For Geologist, Patent Adviser

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced new examinations for the following positions:

Geologist, paying $6,285 to $12,770 a year, and patent adviser, paying $5,430 to $8,810 a year.

Geologist positions will be filled in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and throughout the country. To qualify for most positions, applicants must have had appropriate education and experience. However, for positions paying $6,285 and $7,510, education alone may be qualifying. Applications must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Geological Survey, Washington 25, D. C. Further information is contained in Announcement No. 184B.

Patent adviser positions may be filed in various Federal agencies in the Washington, D. C., area, but most of the positions are in the Department of the Navy. The Navy Patent Organization is responsible for advising engineering and scientific personnel on patent matters and in protecting the Government's rights in inventions made at Navy installations or under Navy contracts by private research laboratories. Patent advisers have exceptional opportunities for professional advancement. To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate education or experience. Applications must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Department of the Navy, Washington 25, D. C. Further information is contained in Announcement No. 185B.

Announcements and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner in charge, Central Post Office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice for both positions.

Beck Tax Evasion Case May Go to Jury Wednesday

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The income tax evasion trial of Dave Beck, 63, once one of the most powerful men in the U.S. labor movement, is expected to go to a federal jury of eight men and four women Wednesday.

The government spent 57 days, entered thousands of exhibits and put 115 witnesses on the stand in its effort to prove the former president of the Teamsters Union evaded $240,000 in income taxes for 1950-53. Total cost of the trial itself has been estimated at more than $203,000.

After the government led its witnesses through lengthy and involved testimony concerning Beck's intricate financial affairs, the defense dramatically closed its case with presentation of only one accountant.

Carl Houston, whose Seattle firm prepared many of Beck's tax returns and helped establish his bookkeeping system, took the stand Monday. He entered into evidence the books of the Beck-owned B & B Co. which handled most of the labor leader's financial transactions.

Government attorneys and Internal Revenue Service agents, who began investigating Beck's personal finances more than five years ago, had never seen the records which have been held by Beck's lawyers as privileged documents.

Brown to Talk For Fair Street Men Thursday

Ulster County Investigator Arthur H. Brown will speak at the meeting of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church on Thursday night, Feb. 19, at the church.

Drawing on his experience of 23 years with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Brown will discuss probable causes of juvenile delinquency and possible remedies. A question period will follow his talk, according to the announcement by Major Kenneth Weatherwax, president of the club.

Brown, who joined the sheriff's staff in 1936, has been county investigator since October, 1952. He has attended four of the annual Frederick A. Moran Memorial Institutes on delinquency and crime at St. Lawrence University, and will use some of the material gained at these institutes from the nation's outstanding authorities.

A roast beef supper will be served at 6:30 p. m., and the talk is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. This is the second meeting of the Men's Club, to which all men of the church and their male guests are invited. The first, held in December, was attended by more than 40 men.

Makarios May Block Speedy Cyprus Action

LONDON (AP) — A roundtable conference on the plan to give independence to Cyprus opened today amid indications that Archbishop Makarios might block speedy agreement.

Greek Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis hurriedly took a plane from Athens for London. Foreign Minister Evanghelos Averoff reportedly appealed by telephone to his chief to intercede with the Greek Orthodox archbishop who is the unchallenged leader of the 400,000 Greek Cypriots.

Averoff, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu agreed Monday night on the basic principles of the independence plan approved last week in Zurich by Karamanlis and Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes.

Fazil Kutchuk, leader of the 100,000 Turkish Cypriots, was believed certain to accept the plan. Menderes already was on his way to London by special plane to be on hand for the windup of the conference.

But Makarios apparently was balking at a promise that Britain, after granting freedom to a republic of Cyprus, would retain sovereignty over the military bases she has established during her 81-year rule of the island.

The archbishop also was believed objecting to the restriction that Cyprus must forever remain independent and could never unite with Greece. Makarios had led the Greek Cypriots' original demand for Enosis—union with Greece—which the Greek government finally abandoned in hopes of ending the nearly four years of bloodshed on the island.

Drawings, Water Colors Exhibited

NEW PALTZ, Feb. 17 — A group of drawings and water colors by Abraham Walkowitz is on exhibition in the main building at the State University Teachers College. This exhibition will remain on display until March 6. The general public is invited to visit the campus and see these varied and interesting works of art.

Some 24 of these drawings and water colors included in this display have been acquired by the college as part of its permanent collection. This was made possible through the generosity of the artist in cooperation with Herman Moore, who is director of the Whitney Museum of American Art.

Mr. Walkowitz was born in Siberia and came to this country as a child. He has become a contemporary artist who is a pioneer and leader of modern art. He is especially known for his studies of the dancer, Isadora Duncan, and is considered one of the earliest American experimenters in abstraction. He is represented in many of the important museums.

This 80-year-old man is now almost blind, and is known around art galleries as the "Mayor of 57th Street." He was recently honored with a one-man show of his works at the Zabriske Gallery, 32 East 65th Street ,New York City. He has entrusted the Whitney Museum the task of distributing the major portion of his work to public institutions, colleges and universities.

Also on display in the College Union Building, are some of the paintings of three of the art education students of the College. This painting exhibit will last through March 27th.

The three art pupils are Ronald Kline, Alan Levine and Miss Priscilla Waterman. Mr. Kline and Mr. Levine have studied under Robert Neuman, Paul Berlin and Ralph Wickiser, and Miss Waterman has studied under Mr. Neuman and Dr. Wickiser. This display will consist of sketches and oil paintings.

In the photography field, two photographs by A. E. Woolley, associate professor of photography at the State University Teachers College, have been purchased by the Museum of Modern Art, New York City.

These two pictures are from photojournalistic stories produced for national magazines and were made with a Lecia camera. The pictures are titled "Roping a Filly," and "Negro Family, Louisiana, 1955."

AFL-CIO Discuss March on Capital By U.S. Jobless

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders are considering a mass march of hundreds of thousands of jobless Americans on Washington to dramatize the unemployment problem.

The labor union chiefs holding their winter meeting in this sun-drenched Caribbean resort were reported planning a series of blockbuster declarations criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies and urging more government spending to reach full production and full employment.

Will Denounce Budget

Chairman Walter Reuther has been drafting a series of statements in closed sessions of the AFL-CIO Economic Committee.

An initial statement, due for Executive Council approval Wednesday, reportedly denounces Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget as inadequate for the nation's development to meet the Soviet Union's production threat.

Reuther is reported considering labor sponsorship of a mass influx, by train, auto and afoot, of thousands of idle workers on the capital to appeal to the President and Congress for economic legislative action.

Reuther first broached the idea of a jobless march before an AFL-CIO legislative conference in Lansing, Mich., Feb. 6. He said it would "shatter the complacency of the nation's leaders."

Totals 4,700,000

Reuther told newsmen here the nation's January jobless total of 4,700,000 would mount to around five million this month. He said that at least 1½ million additional jobless were too discouraged to seek work and don't show on the unemployed rolls. Millions of others are underemployed, working part time, he added.

"We have to use a little shock treatment to wake up our government to this dire situation," said Reuther, who heads the United Auto Workers as well as the industrial union division of the AFL-CIO.

Word reached here from Washington that negotiations had collapsed between court-named monitors and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to speed anti-corruption reforms in his union.

Cold Weather Is Due For Next 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for mid-February to mid-March calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern third of the nation east of the Continental Divide.

The bureau added:

"Above normal temperatures are predicted over the southern third of the country and also for the entire area west of the divide. In areas not specified, near normal averages with large temperature fluctuations are in prospect.

"Precipitation over the eastern two-thirds of the nation is expected to be subnormal over the South and also over the northern tier of states. Amounts exceeding normal are expected in West Coast states. In unspecified areas, near normal precipitation is indicated."

CS Exams Set For Geologist, Patent Adviser

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced new examinations for the following positions:

Geologist, paying $6,285 to $12,770 a year, and patent adviser, paying $5,430 to $8,810 a year.

Geologist positions will be filled in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and throughout the country. To qualify for most positions, applicants must have had appropriate education and experience. However, for positions paying $6,285 and $7,510, education alone may be qualifying. Applications must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Geological Survey, Washington 25, D. C. Further information is contained in Announcement No. 184B.

Patent adviser positions may be filed in various Federal agencies in the Washington, D. C., area, but most of the positions are in the Department of the Navy. The Navy Patent Organization is responsible for advising engineering and scientific personnel on patent matters and in protecting the Government's rights in inventions made at Navy installations or under Navy contracts by private research laboratories. Patent advisers have exceptional opportunities for professional advancement. To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate education or experience. Applications must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Department of the Navy, Washington 25, D. C. Further information is contained in Announcement No. 185B.

Announcements and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner in charge, Central Post Office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice for both positions.
